Lost Illusions David A. Cook, 2002-03-15 This volume examines the development of film and the film industry during the 1970s and the political and economic background that influenced it American Disaster Movies of the 1970s Scott Freer, 2023-10-19 American Disaster Movies of the 1970s is the first scholarly book dedicated to the disaster cycle that dominated American cinema and television in the 1970s Through examining films such as Airport 1970 The Poseidon Adventure 1972 Two Minute Warning 1976 and The Swarm 1978 alongside their historical contexts and American contemporaneous trends the disaster cycle is treated as a time bound phenomenon This book further contextualises the cycle by drawing on the longer cultural history of modernist reactions to modern anxieties including the widespread dependence on technology and corporate power Each chapter considers cinematic precursors such as the ark movie and contemporaneous trends such as New Hollywood vigilante and blaxploitation films as well as the immediate American context the end of the civil rights and countercultural era the Watergate crisis and the defeat in Vietnam As Scott Freer argues the disaster movie is a modern demotic form of tragedy that satisfies a taste for the macabre It is also an aesthetic means for processing painful truths and many of the dramatized themes anticipate present day monstrosities of modernity

Atari Age Michael Z. Newman, 2017-02-03 The cultural contradictions of early video games a medium for family fun but mainly for middle class boys an improvement over pinball and television but possibly harmful Beginning with the release of the Magnavox Odyssey and Pong in 1972 video games whether played in arcades and taverns or in family rec rooms became part of popular culture like television In fact video games were sometimes seen as an improvement on television because they spurred participation rather than passivity These space age pinball machines gave coin operated games a high tech and more respectable profile In Atari Age Michael Newman charts the emergence of video games in America from ball and paddle games to hits like Space Invaders and Pac Man describing their relationship to other amusements and technologies and showing how they came to be identified with the middle class youth and masculinity Newman shows that the new media of video games were understood in varied even contradictory ways They were family fun but mainly for boys better than television but possibly harmful and educational but a waste of computer time Drawing on a range of sources including the games and their packaging coverage in the popular trade and fan press social science research of the time advertising and store catalogs and representations in movies and television Newman describes the series of cultural contradictions through which the identity of the emerging medium worked itself out Would video games embody middle class respectability or suffer from the arcade's unsavory reputation Would they foster family togetherness or allow boys to escape from domesticity Would they make the new home computer a tool for education or just a glorified toy Then as now many worried about the impact of video games on players while others celebrated video games for familiarizing kids with technology essential for the information age

Transnational Horror Cinema Sophia Siddique,Raphael Raphael,2017-02-24 This book broadens the frameworks by which horror is generally addressed Rather than being constrained by psychoanalytical models of repression and castration the volume embraces M M Bakhtin s theory of the grotesque body For Bakhtin the grotesque body is always a political body one that exceeds the boundaries and borders that seek to contain it to make it behave and conform This vital theoretical intervention allows Transnational Horror Cinema to widen its scope to the social and cultural work of these global bodies of excess and the economy of their grotesque exchanges With this in mind the authors consider these bodies potentials to explore and perhaps to explode rigid cultural scripts of embodiment including gender race and ability
