Nga Pikituroa O Ngai Tahu The Oral Traditions Of Ngai Tahu:

The Oral Traditions of Ngāi Tahu Te Maire Tau, 2003 The dominant tribal group of southern New Zealand is Ngai Tahu This book sets out to examine the nature and forms of Ngai Tahu oral traditions and to identify methodologies for analysing and interpreting them Illustrated with historical photographs this major study will appeal to anyone interested in oral traditions or reading around the idea of history A Concise History of New Zealand Philippa Mein Smith, 2012-02-06 New Zealand was the last major landmass other than Antarctica to be settled by humans The story of this rugged and dynamic land is beautifully narrated from its origins in Gondwana some 80 million years ago to the twenty first century Philippa Mein Smith highlights the effects of the country's smallness and isolation from its late settlement by Polynesian voyagers and colonisation by Europeans and the exchanges that made these people Maori and Pakeha to the dramatic struggles over land and recent efforts to manage global forces A Concise History of New Zealand places New Zealand in its global and regional context It unravels key moments the signing of the Treaty of Waitangi the Anzac landing at Gallipoli the sinking of the Rainbow Warrior showing their role as nation building myths and connecting them with the less dramatic forces economic and social that have shaped contemporary New Zealand A Decade of Disaster Experiences in Ōtautahi Christchurch Shinya Uekusa, Steve Matthewman, Bruce C. Glavovic, 2022-02-13 This book critically surveys a decade of disasters in tautahi Christchurch It brings together a diverse range of authors disciplinary approaches and topics to reckon with the events that commenced with the 2010 2011 Canterbury earthquake sequence Each contribution tackles its subject matter through the frame of Critical Disaster Studies CDS The events and the subsequent recovery provide a once in a lifetime opportunity to learn from a series of concatenating urban disasters in order to prepare us for our future on an urban planet facing unprecedented environmental pressures The book focuses on the production of vulnerability the human dimensions of disaster the Indigenous response to disasters and the practical lessons that can be drawn from them The Oxford History of Historical Writing Axel Schneider, Daniel Woolf, 2011-05-05 The fifth volume of The Oxford History of Historical Writing offers essays by leading scholars on the writing of history globally since 1945 Divided into two parts part one selects and surveys theoretical and interdisciplinary approaches to history and part two examines select national and regional historiographies throughout the world It aims at once to provide an authoritative survey of the field and to provoke cross cultural comparisons This is chronologically the last of five volumes in a series that explores representations of the past across the globe from the beginning of writing to the present day An Archaeology of Land Ownership Maria Relaki, Despina Catapoti, 2013-10-23 Within archaeological studies land tenure has been mainly studied from the viewpoint of ownership A host of studies has argued about land ownership on the basis of the simple co existence of artefacts on the landscape other studies have tended to extrapolate land ownership from more indirect means Particularly noteworthy is the tendency to portray land ownership as the driving force behind the emergence of social complexity a primordial ingredient in the processes that led to the political and economic expansion of prehistoric societies The association between people and land in all of these interpretive schemata is however less easy to detect analytically Although various rubrics have been employed to identify such a connection most notable among them the concepts of cultures regions or even households they take the links between land and people as a given and not as something that needs to be conceptually defined and empirically substantiated An Archaeology of Land Ownership demonstrates that the relationship between people and land in the past is first and foremost an analytical issue and one that calls for clarification not only at the level of definition but also methodological applicability Bringing together an international roster of specialists the essays in this volume call attention to the processes by which links to land are established the various forms that such links take and how they can change through time as well as their importance in helping to forge or dilute an understanding of community at various circumstances

Water, Cultural Diversity, and Global Environmental Change Barbara Rose Johnston, Lisa Hiwasaki, Irene J. Klaver, Ameyali Ramos Castillo, Veronica Strang, 2011-12-07 Co published with UNESCO A product of the UNESCO IHP project on Water and Cultural Diversity this book represents an effort to examine the complex role water plays as a force in sustaining maintaining and threatening the viability of culturally diverse peoples It is argued that water is a fundamental human need a human right and a core sustaining element in biodiversity and cultural diversity The core concepts utilized in this book draw upon a larger trend in sustainability science a recognition of the synergism and analytical potential in utilizing a coupled biological and social systems analysis as the functioning viability of nature is both sustained and threatened by humans The Discovery of Islands J. G. A. Pocock, 2005-09-08 The Discovery of Islands consists of a series of linked essays in British history written by one of the world's leading historians of political thought and published over the past three decades Its purpose is to present British history as that of several nations interacting with and sometimes seceding from an imperial state The commentary presents this history as that of an archipelago expanding across oceans to the Antipodes Both New Zealand history and the author's New Zealand heritage inform this vision presenting British history as oceanic and global complementing and occasionally criticising the presentation of that history as European Professor Pocock's interpretation of British history has been hugely influential in recent years making The Discovery of Islands a resource of immense value for historians of Britain and the world Reconciliation, Representation and Indigeneity Peter

Adds, Brigitte Bönisch-Brednich, Richard S. Hill, Graeme Whimp, 2016-07-22 Aotearoa New Zealand is frequently viewed as the most advanced country in the world when it comes to reconciliation processes between the state and its colonised Indigenous people The fact that this book's contributions are written by scholars who are all engaged in such processes is alone testament to this alone But despite all that has been achieved the processes need to be critically evaluated This book offers an up to date analysis of the reconciliation processes between Mōri and the Crown by leading and emerging scholars in the field It is the first attempt to grasp the link between contemporary politics the notion of activist research and historical and anthropological analysis The argument this collection is based on is that reconciliation processes are manifested in much more than government policies legal decisions and law making Both research and political efforts fully involve Indigenous scholars legal and historical academics communities tribes engaged Pkeh settlers and immigrants of European descent and national institutions Among other things such negotiation processes are tangibly represented by new rituals by open and media streamed debates and by public institutions such as the Waitangi Tribunal

Honour, Mana, and Agency in Polynesian-European Conflict Annette Wilkes, 2019-03-19 Focusing on the era of first encounters in Polynesia this book provides a fresh look at some of the early contacts between indigenous people and the captains and crew of European ships The case studies chosen enable comparison of New Zealand M ori European transactions with similar Pacific ones The book examines the conflict situations that arose and the reasons for physical violence highlighting the roles of honour mana and agency Drawing on a range of archival materials sailor and missionary journals as well as indigenous narratives Wilkes applies an analytical method typically used for examining much more recent conflict She compares different ways of seeing and knowing the world and reflects on the reasons for poor decision making amongst all the social actors involved The evidence presented in the book strongly suggests that preventing violence promoting and negotiating peace happens most effectively when mana and honour are acknowledged between parties

Sport and the New Zealanders Greg Ryan, Geoff Watson, 2018-08-09 A history of New Zealanders and the sports that we have made our own from the Maori world to today s professional athletes in the pubs during the furious session between 5pm and closing time an hour later the friend of a relative of a horse trainer is a veritable patriarch No matador in Madrid no tenor in Turin could be sure of such flattering attention As Brittenden suggested sport has played a central part in the social and cultural history of Aotearoa New Zealand throughout its history This book tells the story of sport in New Zealand for the first time from the Maori world to today s professional athletes Through rugby and netball bodybuilding and surf lifesaving the book introduces readers to the history of the codes the organisations and the players It takes us into the stands and on to the sidelines to examine the meaning of sport to its participants its followers and to the communities to which they belonged Why did rugby become much more important than soccer in New Zealand What role have Maori played in our sporting life Do we really punch above our weight in international sport Does sport still define our national identity Viewing New Zealand sport as activity and as imagination

Signs of the Time Chris Arnett, 2024-07-01 Rock art etched in blood red lines into granite cliffs boulders and caves appears as beguiling graffiti like abstraction What are these signs The petroglyphs and red ochre pictographs found across N e kepmx territory in present day British Columbia and Washington State are far more than ancient motifs Signs of the Time explores the historical and cultural reasons for making rock art Chris Arnett draws on extensive research and decades of work with N e kepmx people to document the variability and similarity of practices Through a blend of Western records and Indigenous oral histories and tradition rock art is revealed as communication between the spirit and physical worlds information for later generations and powerful protection against challenges to a people land and culture N e kepmx have used such cultural means to forestall threats to their lifeways from the sixteenth century through the twentieth As this important work attests rock art remains a signature of resilience Moving Subjects Tony Ballantyne,Antoinette M. Burton,2009 Investigating how intimacy is constructed across the restless world of empire British Review of New Zealand Studies ,2003 The Expansion of Sustainability Through New Economic Space Simon Lambert,2008 The return of Maori land to a productive role in the so called Knowledge Economy entails the innovation and diffusion of technologies relevant to the sustainable development of this land Sustainable development requires substantive changes to current land and resource use to mitigate environmental degradation and contribute to ecological and sociological resilience This book takes concerns for cultural resilience that have arisen as political economic strategies converge within the global New Economic Space and will show how the self determined participation of Maori growers in this space can paradoxically lead to an expansion of the Traditional Economic Space of Maori This expansion is directed by Maori cultural logics located in Maori territories but seeking innovations from an amorphous core The interface between a global economy and the localities of a Maori cultural economy is defined by the interrogation of innovations through the innovators A malleable collectivity of actants passes through this porous interrogation border enrolled by Maori as components of their resilience strategies and therefore the endurance of Maori culture Shifting Centres Katie Pickles,2002 Written by three graduate students and many academics and researchers this collection of accounts talks about women immigrants to New Zealand Covering the post date World War II period it considers the experiences of women from many backgrounds and countries including Germany China Samoa Ireland and Maori migration to urban centres The Welcome of Strangers Atholl Anderson,1998 Two hundred years ago Maori in the south of New Zealand had a lifestyle quite distinct from their northern cousins and different experiences of contact with Europeans This book provides an insight into those times covering the period 1650 1850 and focusing on Maori history from Marlborough to Stewart Island Atholl Anderson surveys the origins and migrations of Waitaha and Kati Mamoe and the subsequent arrival of Ngai Tahu and the establishment of their tribal authority and lifeways in the South Island Drawing on tribal knowledge as well as early written accounts he creates the fullest description yet of Maori in this period New Zealand Books in Print 2004 Thorpe-Bowker Staff,2004-06 Directory containing updated bibliographic information on all in print New Zealand books 33nd edition of an annual publication The 12 500 book entries are listed by title and there is an index to authors Also provided are details of 975 publishers and distributors and local agents of overseas publishers The book trade directory includes contacts for trade organisations booksellers public libraries and specialised suppliers NZ literary awards and past winners and sources of financial assistance for writers and publishers Forthcoming Books Rose Army,2003 Books in Print Supplement ,2002
