Blythe,2014-05-21 This study treats the Victorian Antipodes as a compelling site of romance and satire for middle class writers who went to New Zealand between 1840 and 1872 Blythe s research fits with the rising study of settler colonialism and highlights the intersection of late Victorian ideas and post colonial theories

Evolutionary Naturalism in Victorian Britain Bernard Lightman,2023-05-31 Scholars have tended to portray T H Huxley John Tyndall and their allies as the dominant cultural authority in the second half of the 19th century Defenders of Darwin and his theory of evolution these men of science are often seen as a potent force for the secularization of British intellectual and social life In this collection of essays Bernard Lightman argues that historians have exaggerated the power of scientific naturalism to undermine the role of religion in middle and late Victorian Britain The essays deal with the evolutionary naturalists especially the biologist Thomas Henry Huxley the physicist John Tyndall and the philosopher of evolution Herbert Spencer But they look also at those who criticized this influential group of elite intellectuals including aristocratic spokesman A J Balfour the novelist Samuel Butler and the popularizer of science Frank Buckland Focusing on the theme of the limitations of the cultural power of evolutionary naturalism the volume points to the enduring strength of religion in Britain in the latter half of the 19th century Convalescence in the Nineteenth-Century Novel Hosanna Krienke,2021-05-13 This interdisciplinary study examines how holistic aftercare became a crucial supplement to scientific medicine in nineteenth century Britain Gaither's Dictionary of Scientific Quotations Carl C. New Contexts for Eighteenth-Century British Fiction Christopher D. Johnson,2011-04-18 New Contexts for

Eighteenth Century British Fiction is a collection of thirteen essays honoring Professor Jerry C Beasley who retired from the University of Delaware in 2005 The essays written by friends collaborators and former students reflect the scholarly interests that defined Professor Beasley s career and point to new directions of critical inquiry The initial essays which discuss Tobias Smollett Elizabeth Singer Rowe and Samuel Richardson suggest new directions in biographical writing including the intriguing discourse of life writing explored by Paula Backscheider Subsequent essays enrich understandings of eighteenth century fiction by examining lesser known works by Jane Barker Eliza Haywood and Charlotte Lennox Many of the essays especially those that focus on Smollett use political pamphlets material artifacts and urban legends to place familiar novels in new contexts The collection s final essay demonstrates the vital importance of bibliographic study Fatherhood, Authority, and British Reading Culture, 1831-1907 Melissa Shields Jenkins, 2016-04-15 During a period when the idea of fatherhood was in flux and individual fathers sought to regain a cohesive collective identity debates related to a father s authority were negotiated and resolved through competing documents Melissa Shields Jenkins analyzes the evolution of patriarchal authority in nineteenth century culture drawing from extra literary and non narrative source material as well as from novels Arguing that Victorian novelists reinvent patriarchy by recourse to conduct books biography religious manuals political speeches and professional writing in the fields of history and science Jenkins offers interdisciplinary case studies of Elizabeth Gaskell George Meredith William Makepeace Thackeray George Eliot Samuel Butler and Thomas Hardy Jenkins s book contributes to our understanding of the part played by fathers in the Victorian cultural imagination and sheds new light on the structures underlying the Victorian novel The Literary 1880s Penny Fielding, Andrew Taylor, 2019-10-17 Explores the diverse forces that shaped developments in literature in the 1880s an often overlooked literary decade Catalogue of Additions to the Manuscripts in the British Museum in the Years ... British Museum. Department of Manuscripts, 1967

Science Serialized Geoffrey Cantor, Sally Shuttleworth, 2004-03-12 Essays examining the ways in which the Victorian periodical press presented the scientific developments of the time to general and specialized audiences Nineteenth century Britain saw an explosion of periodical literature with the publication of over 100 000 different magazines and newspapers for a growing market of eager readers The Victorian periodical press became an important medium for the dissemination of scientific ideas Every major scientific advance in the nineteenth century was trumpeted and analyzed in periodicals ranging from intellectual quarterlies such as the Edinburgh Review to popular weeklies like the Mirror of Literature from religious periodicals such as the Evangelical Magazine to the atheistic Oracle of Reason Scientific articles appeared side by side with the latest fiction or political reporting while articles on nonscientific topics and serialized novels invoked scientific theories or used analogies drawn from science The essays collected in Science Serialized examine the variety of ways in which the nineteenth century periodical press represented science to both general and specialized readerships They explore the role of scientific controversy in the press and the cultural politics of publication Subject range from the presentation of botany in women's magazines to the highly public dispute between Darwin and Samuel Butler and from discussions of the mind/body problem to those of energy/physics. Contributors include leading scholars in the fields of history of science and literature: Ann B. Shteir, Jonathan Topham, Frank A. J. L. James, Roger Smith, Graeme Gooday, Crosbie Smith, Ian Higginson, Gillian Beer, Bernard Lightman, Helen Small, Gowan Dawson, Jonathan Smith, James G. Paradis, and Harriet Ritvo. Osip Senkovsky's The Fantastic Journeys of Baron Brambeus Осип Иванович Сенковский, 1993. Louis Pedrotti has undertaken the first English translation of the most popular and influential work of Osip Senkovsky, The Fantastic Journeys of Baron Brambeus. This translation is accompanied by extensive topical, historical, and literary commentary and is an excellent example of Russian popular fiction of the 1830s and 40s. First appearing in 1833, these stories form a cornerstone of early Russian science fiction. They anticipate by more than 30 years similar stories by Jules Verne. Like their author, they have languished under a cloud of neglect and official disapproval since they first appeared. In 1989, they were reprinted in Russia for the first time since 1859. This translation should appeal not only to science fiction fans but also to those interested in the literary, social, political, and cultural scenes in Russia during the first half of the 19th century. English Literature in Transition, 1880-1920, 1985.

Victorian Popularizers of Science Bernard Lightman, 2009-10-15. The ideas of Charles Darwin and his fellow Victorian scientists have had an abiding effect on the modern world. But at the time The Origin of Species was published in 1859, the British public looked not to practicing scientists but to a growing group of professional writers and journalists to interpret the larger meaning of scientific theories in terms they could understand and in ways they could appreciate. Victorian Popularizers of Science focuses on this important group of men and women who wrote about science for a general audience in the second half of the nineteenth century. Bernard Lightman examines more than thirty of the most prolific, influential, and interesting popularizers of the day, investigating the dramatic lecturing techniques, vivid illustrations, and accessible literary styles they used to communicate with their audience. By focusing on a forgotten coterie of science writers, their publishers, and their public, Lightman offers new insights into the role of women in scientific inquiry, the market for scientific knowledge, tensions between religion and science, and the complexities of scientific authority in nineteenth-century Britain. AEB, Analytical & Enumerative Bibliography, 1984. Vol. for Oct. 1977 contains Index to reviews of bibliographical publications. 1976. A Victorian Colonial Romance Helen Lucy Blythe, 1998.
