Nounmodifying Constructions In Japanese A Framesemantic Approach Studies In Language Companion Series:

Noun-modifying Constructions in Japanese Yoshiko Matsumoto, 1997-01-01 This study examines the clausal noun modifying construction NMC in Japanese a much discussed construction that embraces what have usually been called relative clause and noun complement constructions Drawing upon a broad range of naturally occurring NMCs including types that fall outside the domains of relative clause and noun complement constructions Yoshiko Matsumoto argues for an analysis of NMCs that gives an important role to semantics and pragmatics The framework in which this approach is presented draws from and further refines concepts of frame semantics By using a frame semantic definition of semantic integration the author reveals the commonality of diverse types of NMCs in Japanese and posits a tripartite classification of NMCs which is both more comprehensive and more revealing than the traditional dichotomy between relative clause and noun complement constructions As the first comprehensive and systematic study in English of Japanese NMCs with diverse lexical heads this work is further notable for its detailed discussion of the dependence of NMCs on both linguistic and extra linguistic context Noun-Modifying Clause Constructions in Languages of Eurasia Yoshiko Matsumoto, Bernard

Comrie, Peter Sells, 2017-02-28 This volume presents a cross linguistic investigation of clausal noun modifying constructions in genetically varied languages of Eurasia Contrary to a common premise that in any language adnominal clauses that share some features of relative clauses constitute a structurally distinct construction some languages of Eurasia exhibit a General Noun Modifying Clause Construction GNMCC a single construction covering a wide range of semantic relations between the head noun and the clause Through in depth examination of naturally occurring and elicited data from Ainu languages of the Caucasus e g Ingush Georgian Bezhta Hinuq Japanese Korean Marathi Nenets Sino Tibetan languages e g Cantonese Mandarin Rawang and Turkic languages e g Turkish Sakha the chapters discuss whether or not the language in question exhibits a GNMCC and the range of noun modification covered by such a construction The findings afford us new facts new theoretical perspectives and the first step toward a more global assessment of the possibilities for GNMCCs Topics in Theoretical Asian Linguistics Kunio Nishiyama, Hideki Kishimoto, Edith Aldridge, 2018-12-15 Dedicated to John B Whitman this collection of seventeen articles provides a forum for cutting edge theoretical research on a wide range of linguistic phenomena in a wide variety of Asian languages including Japanese Korean Chinese Austronesian Indo Aryan and Thai Ranging from syntax and morphology to semantics acquisition processing and phonology from synchronic and or diachronic perspectives this collection reflects the breadth of the honoree s research interests which span multiple research subfields in numerous Asian languages The Acquisition of Relative Clauses Evan Kidd, 2011-11-23 Explaining the acquisition and processing of relative clauses has long challenged psycholinguistics researchers The current volume presents a collection of chapters that consider the acquisition of relative clauses with a particular focus on function typology and language processing A diverse range of theoretical approaches and languages are brought to bear on the acquisition of this construction type making the volume unique in its coverage The volume will appeal to students and scholars whose interest lies in the acquisition and processing of syntax with a particular focus on complex sentences in crosslinguistic and functionalist perspective

Typical and Atypical Language Development in Cultural and Linguistic Diversity

Weifeng Han,Chris Brebner,2023-09-29 Typical and Atypical Language Development in Cultural and Linguistic Diversity brings together state of the art studies in both typical and atypical language development Placing the topic in the context of cultural and linguistic diversity CALD the book offers readers serious theoretical consideration of the topic and provides implications for multilingual educational and clinical practices The content covers a wide range of topics related to multilingual language development in CALD typical and atypical language development in CALD and the interface between both the relationship between multilingual competence and academic performance in CALD providing unbiased speech and language measures in CALD and heritage and minority languages education in CALD Each chapter outlines the core theoretical and practical issues and explores both theoretical and pedagogical clinical implications in the area and possible future developments This volume is an essential resource for all those who study research or are interested in multilingual development educational linguistics and clinical linguistics in the CALD context

The Languages of Japan and Korea

Nicolas Tranter,2012-06-25 The Languages of Japan and Korea provides detailed descriptions of the major varieties of languages in the region both modern and pre modern within a common format producing a long needed introductory reference source Korean Japanese Ainu and representative members of the three main groupings of the Ryukyuan chain are discussed for the first time in a single work The volume is divided into language sketches the majority of which are broken down into sections on phonology orthography morphology syntax and lexicon Specific emphasis is placed on those aspects of syntactic interest such as speech levels honorifics and classifiers which are commonly underplayed in other descriptions of Modern Japanese and Korean Each language is represented in Roman based transcription although its own script where there is such an orthography and IPA transcriptions are used sparingly where appropriate The dialects of both the modern and oldest forms of the languages are given extensive treatment with a primary focus on the differences from the standard language These synchronic snapshots are complemented by a discussion of both the genetic and areal relationships between languages in the region

Nominalization in Asian Languages

Foong Ha Yap,Karen Grunow-Hårsta,Janick Wrona,2011-06-29 Research on nominalization a process that gives rise to referring expressions has always played a central role in linguistic investigations Over the years there has also been growing evidence that nominalization constructions often extend to non referential domains They participate in noun modifying expressions e g genitive and relative clauses subordinate clauses and topic constructions finite structures with the nominalizers reanalyzed as TAM markers and stance constructions with evaluative attitudinal evidential and epistemic overtones This volume brings together historical and crosslinguistic evidence from more than 20 different languages representing six different language families spanning the

Asian continent and the Pacific and Indian oceans to elucidate the strategies and grammaticalization pathways that give rise to both referential and non referential uses of nominalization constructions This collection highlights the diversity of strategies and at the same time the robust cyclical nature of change within and across languages The combined diachronic and typological analyses in this volume are particularly valuable for linguistic research on diachronic morphosyntax and linguistic universals and are also an important supplementary cross referencing tool for linguistic investigations of versatile and ubiquitous morphemes in under documented languages

A Grammar of Bunan Manuel Widmer, 2017-09-11 This book provides a comprehensive grammatical description of Bunan a Tibeto Burman languages that is spoken by approximately 4 000 people in the North Indian Himalayas The grammar offers a systematic analysis of a wide range of grammatical phenomena ranging from phonetics and phonology to complex syntactic constructions Moreover it contains a wealth of historical annotations annotated texts and a Bunan English glossary

The Mehweb language Michael Daniel, Nina Dobrushina , Dmitry Ganenkov , 2019-10-23 This book is an investigation into the grammar of Mehweb Dargwa East Caucasian also known as Nakh Daghestanian based on several years of team fieldwork Mehweb is spoken in one village community in Daghestan Russia with a population of some 800 people In many ways Mehweb is a typical East Caucasian language it has a rich inventory of consonants an extensive system of spatial forms in nouns and converbs and volitional forms in verbs pervasive gender number agreement and ergative alignment in case marking and in gender agreement It is also a typical language of the Dargwa branch with symmetrical verb inflection in the imperfective and perfective paradigm and extensive use of spatial encoding for experiencers Although Mehweb is clearly close to the northern varieties of Dargwa it has been long isolated from the main body of Dargwa varieties by speakers of Avar and Lak As a result of both independent internal evolution and contact with its neighbours Mehweb developed some deviant properties including accusatively aligned egophoric agreement a split in the feminine class and the typologically rare grammatical categories of verificative and apprehensive But most importantly Mehweb is where our friends live

Usage-based Approaches to Japanese Grammar Kaori Kabata, Tsuyoshi Ono, 2014-06-15 This volume brings together papers that take usage based approaches to study the nature of human language with a focus on the grammar of Japanese The 12 chapters provide a rich array of data and methodologies with topics ranging from phonology modality and grammatical morphemes to sentential construction and discourse level phenomena such as turn taking speech register and language change As a whole they demonstrate that usage based linguistics illuminates various phenomena in the language that could not have been well accounted for by resorting solely to a formal theory such as the Universal Grammar based approach Reflecting theoretical methodological and technological advancements made in and outside the field of cognitive functional linguistics in recent years the papers contained in this volume both individually and collectively have significant implications towards linguistics in general and Japanese linguistics in particular as we as Japanese language teaching
