PAIRED NOVELS ASSIGNMENT 2

The Paired Novels assignments are intended to acquaint students with the styles and themes of specific periods in American literary history. Students must now write a research paper on their second novel, and make a presentation to the class as part of a group who read novels listed in the same category.

Research Paper

The first book of the pair, which students read Fall Semester, was usually written during the time period listed – Romanticism, Realism, Modernism, and Postmodernism. The second book, to be read over the next month, may have been written during the period listed; or may be a contemporary book reflecting the themes of the first book in the pair.

For the research and analysis of this second book, students should focus on the style and themes of the book, as representative of the period under which it is listed. They should also compare and contrast the second book with the first.

The American values presented in the two books may be the easiest starting point for a comparison paper. Discuss what is alike and what is different in terms of the values presented in each book. Refer to the other literary pieces that we read listed under the same period heading. Do your two books focus on some of the same ideas that we discussed in class? We will review the sequence of literary movements in American history to introduce those periods the class has yet to study.

In examining the themes of the books, you may start to notice structural similarities. How is the writing alike, or is it? Some of these paired novels are written at different times. Does the style enhance or substantiate the novel's themes; does it reflect the time when the second book was written; does it detract from the book's ideas? Consider point of view, sentence structure, format, the various elements of style. Write about those points that distinguish this work.

Use one scholarly article that focuses on the author or book, and use one that focuses on America society. Use these articles to support your interpretation of the book as representative of the values and style of writing associated with the period or movement listed.

So, to sum up the requirements for this research paper on your second novel:

- Compare and contrast the values and themes in your two books
- Discuss the style of the second book, relating it to the themes and period
- Integrate quotes from two scholarly sources – one on the author or novel; one on the specific literary period or social era – tying these to the theme or style; these should be quoted or specifically paraphrased in your paper
- Include at least five quotes from your novel.
