It was ordained that Shibli Bagarag nephew to the renowned Baba Mustapha chief barber to the Court of Persia should shave Shagpat the son of Shimpoor the son of Shoolpi the son of Shullum and they had been clothiers for generations even to the time of Shagpat the illustrious Now the story of Shibli Bagarag and of the ball he followed and of the subterranean kingdom he came to and of the enchanted palace he entered and of the sleeping king he shaved and of the two princesses he released and of the Afrite held in subjection by the arts of one and bottled by her is it not known as twere written on the finger nails of men and traced in their corner robes As the poet says Ripe with oft telling and old is the tale But tis of the sort that can never grow stale Now things were in that condition with Shibli Bagarag that on a certain day he was hungry and abject and the city of Shagpat the clothier was before him so he made toward it deliberating as to how he should procure a meal for he had not a dirhem in his girdle and the remembrance of great dishes and savoury ingredients were to him as the illusion of rivers sheening on the sands to travellers gasping with thirst And he considered his case crying Surely this comes of wandering and tis the curse of the inquiring spirit for in Shiraz where my craft is in favour I should be sitting now with my uncle Baba Mustapha the loquacious one cross legged partaking of seasoned sweet dishes dipping my fingers in them rejoicing my soul with scandal of the Court Now he came to a knoll of sand under a palm from which the yellow domes and mosques of the city of Shagpat and its black cypresses and marble palace fronts and shining pillars and lofty carven arches that spanned half circles of the hot grey sky were plainly visible Then gazed he awhile despondingly on the city of Shagpat and groaned in contemplation of his evil plight as is said by the poet The curse of sorrow is comparison As the sun casteth shade night showeth star We measuring what we were by what we are Behold the depth to which we are undone Complete Short Works of George Meredith George Meredith, 2020-09-28

The devotion of these youths should give them a name in chivalry In her honour daily and nightly they earned among themselves black bruises and paraded discoloured countenances with the humble hope to find it pleasing in her sight The tender fanatics went in bands up and down Rhineland challenging wayfarers and the peasantry with staff and beaker to acknowledge the supremacy of their mistress Whoso of them journeyed into foreign parts wrote home boasting how many times his head had been broken on behalf of the fair Margarita and if this happened very often a spirit of envy was created which compelled him when he returned to verify his prowess on no less than a score of his rivals Not to possess a beauty scar as the wounds received in these endless combats were called became the sign of inferiority so that much voluntary maiming was conjectured to be going on and to obviate this piece of treachery minutes of fights were taken and attested setting forth that a certain glorious cut or crack was honourably won in fair field on what occasion and from whom every member of the White Rose Club keeping his particular scroll and on days of festival and holiday wearing it haughtily in his helm Strangers entering Cologne were astonished at the hideous appearance of the striplings and thought they never had observed so ugly a race but they were forced to admit the fine influence of beauty on commerce seeing that the consumption of beer increased almost hourly All Bavaria could not equal Cologne for quantity made away with The chief members of the White Rose Club were Berthold Schmidt the rich goldsmith s son Dietrich Schill son of the imperial saddler Heinrich Abt Franz Endermann and Ernst Geller sons of chief burghers each of whom carried a yard long scroll in his cap and was too disfigured in person for men to require an inspection of the document They were dangerous youths to meet for the oaths ceremonies and recantations they demanded from every wayfarer under the rank of baron were what few might satisfactorily perform if lovers of woman other than the fair Margarita or loyal husbands and what none save trained heads and stomachs could withstand however naturally manful The captain of the Club was he who could drink most beer without intermediate sighing and whose face reckoned the proudest number of slices and mixture of colours The captaincy was most in dispute between Dietrich Schill and Berthold Schmidt who in the heat and constancy of contention were gradually losing likeness to man Good coin they gloried to reflect needs no stamp The Novels of George Meredith and Some Notes on the English Novel : the English Association Presidential Address, 1947 (sir) o Sitwell,1947 The Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature Frederick Wilse Bateson,1940 The Cambridge bibliography of English literature. 3. 1800 - 1900 Frederick Wilse Bateson,1940 The United States Catalog ,1913 Library Notes North Carolina College for Women.
