Observatory Mansions A Novel:

Observatory Mansions Edward Carey, 2012-10-09 Observatory Mansions was once the Orme family's ancestral home a magnificent residence with beautiful grounds Now it is a crumbling apartment block stranded on a roundabout and inhabited by eccentrics Francis Orme an odd little man who makes a living as a human statue in the centre of the decaying city lives in Observatory Mansions with his parents and the other equally maladjusted misfits all of them taking comfort in their solitude and curious harmony In the cellar is Francis treasured Exhibition Carefully catalogued are all the items he has ever stolen But the arrival of a new resident upsets the delicate balance of Observatory Mansions and Francis finds himself taking drastic measures to protect the secrets of his past and the sanctity of his collection

Observatory Mansions Edward Carey, 2002-02-05 Once the Orme family's magnificent ancestral estate Observatory Mansions is now a crumbling apartment complex home to an eccentric group of misfits One of them is Francis Orme who earns his livelihood as a living statue When not practicing inner and outer stillness Francis steals the cherished possessions of others to add to his private museum The other tenants are equally as odd his mother and father who haven't interacted in years a man who continually sweats and cries a recluse who prefers television to reality and a woman who behaves like a dog When Anna Tapp arrives among them she stirs their souls bringing long forgotten memories to the surface and arousing fears that this new resident intends to provoke a metamorphosis Reminiscent of Beckett Ionesco and Millhauser but startlingly original Observatory Mansions is also unexpectedly beguiling Upon its publication in England it was a literary sensation and John Fowles called it easily the most brilliant fiction I've seen this year

The Tears of Things Peter Schwenger, 2006 We surround ourselves with material things that are invested with memories but can only stand for what we have lost Physical objects such as one's own body situate and define us yet at the same time they are fundamentally indifferent to us The melancholy of this rift is a rich source of inspiration for artists Peter Schwenger deftly weaves together philosophical and psychoanalytical theory with artistic practice Concerned in part with the act of collecting The Tears of Things is itself a collection of exemplary art objects literary and cultural attempts to control and possess things including paintings by Georgia O'Keeffe and Ren Magritte sculpture by Louise Bourgeois and Marcel Duchamp Joseph Cornell's boxes Edward Gorey's graphic art fiction by Virginia Woolf Georges Perec and Louise Erdrich the hallucinatory encyclopedias of Jorge Luis Borges and Luigi Serafini and the corpse photographs of Joel Peter Witkin However these representations of objects perpetually fall short of our aspirations Schwenger examines what is left over debris and waste and asks what art can make of these What emerges is not an art that reassembles but one that questions what it means to assemble in the first place Contained in this catalog of waste is that ultimate still life the cadaver where the subject object dichotomy receives its final ironic reconciliation Peter Schwenger is professor of English at Mount St Vincent University in Halifax Nova Scotia He is the author of Fantasm and Fiction On Textual Envisioning Letter Bomb Nuclear Holocaust and the Exploding Word and Phallic Critiques Masculinity and Twentieth Century Literature

Realist Critiques of Visual Culture Edward Barnaby, 2018-05-10 Have industrial age technologies and visual discourses transformed us into spectators of the real and can realist fiction make that transformation visible to us This book brings Situationist Guy Debord's Society of the Spectacle and an array of cultural criticism into dialogue with novels by Hardy Forster Woolf Rushdie Carey and Barnes to foreground literary realism's critique of visual culture including Gothic architectural revival neoclassicism tourism historical pageantry postcolonial cinema and photography museums preservationism urbanism and artisanal neo folk movements Barnaby advances the concept of meta spectacle to distinguish realist fiction that engages ethically with visual discourses from realist fiction that reproduces the visible veneer of reality for aesthetic consumption He highlights the limitations of artistic critiques of spectacle considers their resilience toward a culture industry that continuously repackages iconoclasm as iconicity and reflects upon the process of reorienting the reader to comprehend realist gestures By heightening the capacity to recognize our own immersion within objectified representations of the real Realist Critiques of Visual Culture demonstrates how literary realism remains vital within a society that is so deeply invested in visually replicating and archiving lived experience A Menagerie Bradford

Morrow, Benjamin Hale, 2014-01-21 Russell Banks Temple Grandin and other renowned writers contemplate animals and the way our own species interacts with them Conjunctions 61 A Menagerie gathers essays fiction and poetry that imagine the world of our fellow beings animals Cultural mythologies and pantheons are populated with snakes monkeys cats jackals whales a cast of characters whose stories reveal how complex and wildly contradictory our species relationship with other animals is They're friends enemies tools food Descartes deliberated about whether animals have souls deciding they didn't Linnaeus cataloged them Darwin connected us to them Wild or tame sinless or soulless the animal is a chimera of shifting identities both mundane and mysterious Featuring interviews with William S Burroughs and Temple Grandin essays by animal experimenters Vint Virga and Dale Peterson fiction by Russell Banks and Joyce Carol Oates and work by many others this collection of imaginative new writing offers uncaged access to the lives of the nonhuman creatures that surround us

Miracle Enough William Gray, Peter Winnington, 2014-09-18 To mark the centenary of Mervyn Peake's birth the Sussex Centre for Folklore Fairy Tales and Fantasy University of Chichester organized an international conference in July 2011 entitled Mervyn Peake and the Fantasy Tradition Papers were presented by scholars artists and writers from all over the world and here we have a selection of them No other comparable collection of essays on Peake has ever been published The contributors take a wide variety of approaches to Peake's work The Mansion of Happiness Jill Lepore, 2013-03-26 Renowned Harvard scholar and New Yorker staff writer Jill Lepore has written a strikingly original ingeniously conceived and beautifully crafted history of American ideas about life and death from before the cradle to beyond the grave How does life begin What does it mean What happens when we die All anyone can do is ask Lepore writes That's why any history of ideas about life and death has to be like this book a history of curiosity Lepore starts that history with the story of a seventeenth century Englishman who had the idea that all life begins with an egg and ends it with an American who in the 1970s began freezing the dead In between life got longer the stages of life multiplied and matters of life and death moved from the library to the laboratory from the humanities to the sciences Lately debates about life and death have determined the course of American politics Each of these debates has a history Investigating the surprising origins of the stuff of everyday life from board games to breast pumps Lepore argues that the age of discovery Darwin and the Space Age turned ideas about life on earth topsy turvy New worlds were found she writes and old paradises were lost As much a meditation on the present as an excavation of the past The Mansion of Happiness is delightful learned and altogether beguiling A Lasting Impression
