Poetry and the Anthropocene Sam Solnick, 2016-09-19 This book asks what it means to write poetry in and about the Anthropocene the name given to a geological epoch where humans have a global ecological impact Combining critical approaches such as ecocriticism and posthumanism with close reading and archival research it argues that the Anthropocene requires poetry and the humanities to find new ways of thinking about unfamiliar spatial and temporal scales about how we approach the metaphors and discourses of the sciences and about the role of those processes and materials that confound humans attempts to control or even conceptualise them Poetry and the Anthropocene draws on the work of a series of poets from across the political and poetic spectrum analysing how understandings of technology shape literature about place evolution and the tradition of writing about what still gets called Nature The book explores how writers understanding of sciences such as climatology or biochemistry might shape their poetry s form and how literature can respond to environmental crises without descending into agitprop self righteousness or apocalyptic cynicism In the face of the Anthropocene s radical challenges to ethics aesthetics and politics the book shows how poetry offers significant ways of interrogating and rendering the complex relationships between organisms and their environments in a world increasingly marked by technology

The Confucian Quest for Order Masayuki Sato,2021-10-01 Xun Zi one of the principal thinkers of the pre imperial period and as such still widely read ought to appear on any reading list on Chinese intellectual history Dr Sato s volume deals with the origin and formation of Xun Zi s political thought with close focus on the intellectual activity of the Jixia Academy and its impact on this synthesizer s theory on rituals and social norms The author convincingly deals with the problems of textual authenticity and biography The main part of the work treats the shift of intellectual inquiry from an argument of ethical matters to an analysis of the principle s of socio political mechanism thus showing Xun Zi as a formative synthesizer of the two main streams of early Chinese intellectual discourse

The Mourner's Song James Tatum,2018-10-30 No matter when or where they are fought all wars have one thing in common a relentless progression to monuments and memorials for the dead Likewise all art made from war begins and ends in mourning and remembrance In The Mourner s Song James Tatum offers incisive discussions of physical and literary memorials constructed in the wake of war from the Vietnam Veterans Memorial to the writings of Stephen Crane Edmund Wilson Tim O Brien and Robert Lowell Tatum s touchstone throughout is the Iliad not just one of the earliest war poems but also one of the most powerful examples of the way poetry can be a tribute to and consolation for what is lost in war Reading the Iliad alongside later works inspired by war Tatum reveals how the forms and processes of art convert mourning to memorial He examines the role of remembrance and the distance from war it requires the significance of landscape in memorialization the artifacts of war that fire the imagination the intimate relationship between war and love and its effects on the ferocity with which soldiers wage battle and finally the idea of memorialization itself Because all survivors suffer the losses of war Tatum's is a story of both victims and victors commanders and soldiers women and men Photographs of war memorials in Vietnam France and the United States beautifully augment his testimonials Eloquent and deeply moving The Mourner's Song will speak to anyone interested in the literature of war and the relevance of the classics to our most pressing contemporary needs

An Eschatological Imagination John M. Shields, 2008 In the twentieth century Christian eschatology the doctrine about the final reality became a storm center for Christian systematic theologians because of the rediscovery of the eschatological character of Jesus Christ In the twenty first century Christian theologians continue to wrestle with the claims of Christian eschatology because of a postmodern suspicion of eschatological certainty claims about a future that is after all objectively unavailable yet still of great human concern Human beings live on hope for the future An Eschatological Imagination recognizes the problem of the future for Christian eschatology Building on the major theological writings of David Tracy it offers a revised way of thinking and living eschatologically in the form of an eschatological imagination as a rhetoric of virtue an exhortation to live in Christian hope in a postmodern world and into an objectively unavailable and uncertain future Within such a rhetoric hope becomes action not mere sentiment that seeks to create a Christian eschatological future

The Making of American Liberal Theology Gary J. Dorrien, 2006-01-01 In this first of three volumes Dorrien identifies the indigenous roots of American liberal theology and demonstrates a wider longer running tradition than has been thought The tradition took shape in the nineteenth century motivated by a desire to map a modernist third way between orthodoxy and rationalistic deism atheism It is defined by its openness to modern intellectual inquiry its commitment to the authority of individual reason and experience its conception of Christianity as an ethical way of life and its commitment to make Christianity credible and socially relevant to modern people Dorrien takes a narrative approach and provides a biographical reading of important religious thinkers of the time including William E Channing Ralph Waldo Emerson Horace Bushnell Henry Ward Beecher Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Charles Briggs Dorrien notes that although liberal theology moved into elite academic institutions its conceptual foundations were laid in the pulpit rather than the classroom
