Garrow Duncan 1923-1925 Garth Gilmour, 2024-07-31 Final Report of Excavations on the Hill of the Ophel by R A S Macalister and J Garrow Duncan 1923 1925 contains the publication of the finds from this excavation a century ago that have been curated and stored in the archives of the Palestine Exploration Fund in London This volume includes a history of the excavation and detailed descriptions and illustrations of finds ranging from the Chalcolithic through to the Ottoman periods These include pottery metal bone and glass objects seal impressions figurines clay tobacco pipes and other items many of which have never been published before Among the more significant finds from the excavation both the subject of special studies are an incised pottery sherd with images of two deity figurines interpreted as representing Yahweh and Asherah and two incense burners that contribute to our understanding of the trade in incense in the Near East in the second and first millennia BCE This volume will be of interest to students and researchers of ancient near eastern archaeology and particularly those engaged in research in the southern Levant The report complements the publications of the many subsequent excavations in the same area of Jerusalem a location that is still today the focus of much attention for historical religious and political not to mention archaeological reasons

The Roman Pottery Manufacturing Site in Highgate Wood: Excavations 1966-78 A. E. Brown, H. L. Sheldon, 2018-08-13 Excavations at Highgate Wood London over a period of eight years uncovered at least ten pottery kilns waster heaps ditches and pits but only a few definite structures This volume provides a very detailed analysis of the forms and fabrics of the pottery finds Roman Ribchester, being the report of excavations made on the site during 1898 John Garstang, 1898 Excavation of the Iron Age, Roman and Medieval settlement at Gorhambury, St Albans David S Neal, Angela Wardle, Jonathan Hunn, 2012-01-15 Gorhambury just north of Verulamium was the site of a substantial Roman villa complex which was excavated between 1972 and 1982 as part of a programme designed to test the interrelationships between villa sites in the Verulamium area and to examine trends in their growth decline and prosperity The villa was found to have grown out of a settlement belonging to the late Iron Age A series of ditches of this phase enclosed an aisled barn a nine post granary and a circular house these were the beginnings of a sequence of structures on the same spot which show increasing signs of Roman influence all of which lay within the limits of the farmstead established at this early period Timber buildings of the first half of the first century were followed around AD100 by a small but luxurious villa rebuilt in the late second century and thereafter in a gradual decline until its apparent abandonment around AD 350 Work on virtually the whole of the farmstead area has enabled a full sequence of plans of the main houses and all the ancillary structures including barns subsidiary housing and bath houses to be presented in the report The catalogue of finds is an attempt to show the full range of material recovered from this working farmstead

Excavations Along Hadrian's Wall 2019-2021 Rob Collins, Jane Harrison, 2024-04-30 This study focuses on the fabric construction and preservation of stretches of Hadrian's Wall in its more remote locations providing significant insights into the places between the mile castles and important forts and associated settlements The Hadrian's Wall Community Archaeology Project WallCAP conducted a series of fieldwork projects along the Hadrian's Wall corridor between 2019 and 2021 The work focused on sites that were poorly understood or under particular threat and aimed to improve understanding of them so they could be better managed in future At several sites excavation was followed by conservation and consolidation work This volume brings together the final reports of these excavations at six Roman sites in the Wall corridor As the sites were spread along the length of the Wall the character and afterlife of the Wall in very different landscape locations could be compared An assessment of the Vallum at Heddon on the Wall identified how earthwork archaeology survived in a sloped heavily ploughed landscape Three excavations investigated the condition of the stone Wall curtain at Port Carlisle Walltown Crags and Steel Rigg and Cats Stairs At each site the Wall builders had responded to the demands of the local terrain and made use of local resources At each site the Wall had a different post Roman history Excavations at the bridging point of the Cam Beck revealed for the first time how the Wall was carried over a minor watercourse and discovered traces of the Turf Wall Small buildings were also identified just south of the Wall as it approached the bridge At Corbridge Roman town excavations on the northern periphery of the settlement demonstrated that from early in its history the most northerly town in Europe was of considerable extent The area investigated showed that even at the edge of town shops lined the roads alongside well appointed houses with bustling yards Later on in the Roman period the town contracted behind walls and cremation burials were inserted by the road Each site is reported on independently presenting the primary data for each investigation The volume concludes with a synthetic analysis of what the results of these excavations together reveal about Hadrian s Wall considering amongst other things construction details and the decay and destruction of the monument in the centuries following Roman occupation

Archaeological Excavations at Holme Hall Quarry, South Yorkshire Francis M. Morris, 2025-01-23 This volume documents the results from large scale archaeological investigations at Holme Hall Quarry on the Magnesian Limestone ridge South Yorkshire The main occupation of the site occurred during the Roman period when two rural farmsteads were constructed and a field system with associated droveways and enclosures imposed across the landscape

The Bir Messaouda Basilica Richard Miles, Simon Greenslade, 2019-12-31 This volume charts the radical transformation of an inner city neighbourhood in late antique Carthage which was excavated over a five year period by a team from the University of Cambridge Bordering the main thoroughfare leading from the Brysa Hill to the ports the neighbourhood remained primarily a residential one from the second century until 530s AD when a substantial basilica was constructed over the eastern half of the insula Further extensive modifications were made to the basilica half a century later when the structures on the western half of the insula were demolished and the basilica greatly enlarged with the addition of a new east west aisles a large monumental baptistery and a crypt By carefully reconstructing the complex architectural plan of this innovative building this study shows how the re modelled Bir Messaouda basilica was transformed into a major pilgrimage centre overturning established tradition that located such complexes outside the city walls The Bir Messaouda basilica provides important insights into the transition between Vandal and Byzantine control of the city the development of a new Christian inter mural urban landscape in the sixth century AD and the significance of the pilgrimage in reinforcing

Llangorse Crannog Alan Lane, Mark Redknap, 2020-02-28 The crannog on Llangorse Lake near Brecon in mid Wales was discovered in 1867 and first excavated in 1869 by two local antiquaries Edgar and Henry Dumbleton who published their findings over the next four years In 1988 dendrochronological dates from submerged palisade planks established its construction in the ninth century and a combined off and on shore investigation of the site was started as a joint project between Cardiff University and Amgueddfa Cymru National Museum Wales The subsequent surveys and excavation 1989 1994 2004 resulted in the recovery of a remarkable time capsule of life in the late ninth and tenth century on the only crannog yet identified in Wales This publication re examines the early investigations describes in detail the anatomy of the crannog mound and its construction and the material culture found The crannog s treasures include early medieval secular and religious metalwork evidence for manufacture the largest depository of early medieval carpentry in Wales and a remarkable richly embroidered silk and linen textile which is fully analysed and placed in context The crannog s place in Welsh history is explored as a royal llys court within the kingdom of Brycheiniog Historical record indicates the site was destroyed in 916 by Aethelflaed the Mercian queen in the course of the Viking wars of the early tenth century The subsequent significance of the crannog in local traditions and its post medieval occupation during a riotous dispute in the reign Elizabeth I are also discussed Two logboats from the vicinity of the crannog are analysed and a replica described The cultural affinities of the crannog and its material culture is assessed as are their relationship to origin myths for the kingdom and to probable links with early medieval Ireland The folk tales associated with the lake are explored in a book that brings together archaeology history myths and legends underwater and terrestrial archaeology The Archaeology of the Lower City and Adjacent Suburbs Jenny Mann, Alan Vince, Jane Young, 2016-04-30 This volume contains reports on excavations undertaken in the lower walled city at Lincoln which lies on sloping ground on the northern scarp of the Witham gap and its adjacent suburbs between 1972 and 1987 and forms a companion volume to LAS volumes 2 and 3 which cover other parts of the historic city The earliest features encountered were discovered both near to the line of Ermine Street and towards Broadgate Remains of timber storage buildings were found probably associated with the Roman legionary occupation in the later 1st century AD The earliest occupation of the hillside after the foundation of the colonia towards the end of the century consisted mainly of commercial premises modest residences and storage buildings It seems likely that the boundary of the lower enclosure was designated before it was fortified in the later 2nd century with the street pattern belonging to the earlier part of the century Larger aristocratic residences came to dominate the hillside with public facilities fronting on to the line of the zigzagging main route In the 4th century the fortifications were enlarged and two new gates inserted Examples of so called Dark Earth deposits were here dated to the very latest phases of Roman occupation Elements of some Roman structures survived to be reused in subsequent centuries There are hints of one focus in the Middle Saxon period in the area of St Peter s church but occupation of an urban nature did not recommence until the late 9th century with the first phases of Anglo Scandinavian occupation recorded here Sequences of increasingly intensive occupation from the 10th century were identified with plentiful evidence for industrial activity including pottery metalworking and other crafts as well as parish churches Markets were established in the 11th century and stone began to replace timber for residential structures from the mid 12th century with clear evidence of the quality of some of the houses With the decline in the city s fortunes from the late 13th century the fringe sites became depopulated and there was much rebuilding elsewhere including some fine new houses There was a further revival in the later post medieval period but much of the earlier fabric and surviving stretches of Roman city wall were swept away in the 19th century Roman Pottery in the Archaeological Record J. Theodore Peña, 2007-04-30 This book examines how Romans used their pottery and the implications of these practices on the archaeological record It is organized around a flow model for the life cycle of Roman pottery that includes a set of eight distinct practices manufacture distribution prime use reuse maintenance recycling discard reclamation J Theodore Pe a evaluates how these practices operated how they have shaped the archaeological record and the implications of these processes on archaeological research through the examination of a wide array of archaeological textual representational and comparative ethnographic evidence The result is a rich portrayal of the dynamic that shaped the archaeological record of the ancient Romans that will be of interest to archaeologists ceramicists and students of material culture

Romano-British Settlement and Cemeteries at Mucking Sam Lucy, Christopher Evans, 2016-11-30 Excavations at Mucking Essex between 1965 and 1978 revealed extensive evidence for a multiphase rural Romano British settlement perhaps an estate center and five associated cemetery areas 170 burials with different burial areas reserved for different groups within the settlement The settlement demonstrated clear continuity from the preceding Iron Age occupation with unbroken sequences of artefacts and enclosures through the first century AD followed by rapid and extensive remodeling which included the laying out a Central Enclosure and an organized water supply with wells accompanied by the start of large scale pottery production After the mid second century AD the Central Enclosure was largely abandoned and settlement shifted its focus more to the Southern Enclosure system with a gradual decline though the 3rd and 4th centuries although continued burial pottery and artefactual deposition indicate that a form of settlement continued possibly with some low level pottery production Some of the latest Roman pottery was strongly associated with the earliest Anglo Saxon style pottery suggesting the existence of a terminal Roman settlement phase that essentially involved an Anglo Saxon community Given recent revisions of the chronology for the early Anglo Saxon period this casts an intriguing light on the transition with radical implications for understandings of this period Each of the cemetery areas was in use for a considerable length of time Taken as a whole Mucking was very much a component place complex it was its respective parts that fostered its many cemeteries whose diverse rites reflect the variability and roles of the settlement s evidently varied inhabitants

Housesteads Roman Fort - the Grandest Station Alan Rushworth, 2014-02-15 Housesteads is one of the most important forts on Hadrian s Wall Extensive excavations were carried out between 1874 and 1981 by Newcastle University Combining the results with those of excavations done between 1959 and 1961 by Durham University we now have a complete plan of the north east part of the fort These excavations uncovered principally Buildings XIII XIV and XV plus stretches of rampart between the north and east gates along with a multitude of features and stratigraphic evidence revealing not only the sequences but also large finds assemblages In addition to shedding much light on the material culture of the fort s occupants and the structural and chronological relationships between various parts of the fort limited reinvestigation of Building XIV and excavation of the east end of Building XV enabled significant reinterpretation of the original conclusions reached by the Durham investigators including some redating of structures These excavations uncover the full 300 year period during which the fort formed an integral part of the Roman military frontier for much if not all of that time the base of the cohort I Tungrorum milliaria peditat This report documents the excavations and gives full finds reports and the analysis of the evidence has enabled the authors to provide a full history of this part of the fort

Lets delve into the realm of top-selling books, exploring the fascinating narratives that have charmed audiences this year. The Must-Read : Colleen Hoover's "It Ends with Us" This touching tale of love, loss, and resilience has captivated readers with its raw and emotional exploration of domestic abuse. Hoover expertly weaves a story of hope and healing, reminding us that even in the darkest of times, the human spirit can succeed. Uncover the Best : Taylor Jenkins Reid's "The Seven Husbands of Evelyn Hugo" This intriguing historical fiction novel unravels the life of Evelyn Hugo, a Hollywood icon who defies expectations and societal norms to pursue her dreams. Reid's captivating storytelling and compelling characters transport readers to a bygone era, immersing them in a world of glamour, ambition, and self-discovery. Roman Pottery Report On The Excavation : Delia Owens' "Where the Crawdads Sing" This mesmerizing coming-of-age story follows Kya Clark, a young woman who grows up alone in the marshes of North Carolina. Owens weaves a tale of resilience, survival, and the transformative power of nature, captivating readers with its evocative prose and mesmerizing setting. These bestselling novels represent just a fraction of the literary treasures that have emerged in 2023. Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of engaging stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a exceptional and thrilling novel that will keep you guessing until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
