Life Values and Adolescent Mental Health Patricia Cohen,Jacob Cohen,2013-05-13 Arising from the Cohens work on the epidemiology of childhood psychopathology this book explores the two aspects of motivational structure ideas and values that underlie the development of maladaptive functioning and symptoms The first aspect is a measure of what children admire in their peers

this measure is seen as an operationalization of personal ideals The second is a measure of life goals seen as a representation of the contemporary structure of long term personal values Despite the considerable amount of attention given in the popular press and among social critics and politicians values have been relatively neglected as a topic of empirical research in this country To fill the void this work uses data from a large cohort of young people who have been studied longitudinally since early childhood to elucidate three aspects of life goals and values What are the demographic family peer school and intrapersonal influences that shape values and life goals of adolescents How do they change over the course of adolescence What impact do these values have on the lives of adolescents and young adults Decisions about what we find most admirable and which of the many apparently good things in life we will take on as our top priorities are consequential both for the contemporary and for the future emotional and behavioral well being of the individual Thus this book explores systematically the environmental origins of ideals and values using deprivation and attainment hypotheses to examine a variety of influences on the development of differences in values This book also examines the relationship between the measures of children s values and psychopathology examining both the Axis 1 diagnosis including disruptive behavior disorders depression and anxiety and the Axis 2 personality disorders Providing an extensive study of the life values of adolescents and the state of their mental health this monograph will be of interest to developmental psychologists specializing in adolescence child clinical psychologists and psychiatrists
