Romanistisches Jahrbuch 2002:

A Companion to Anticlassicisms in the Cinquecento Marc Föcking, Susanne A. Friede, Florian Mehltritt, Angela Oster, 2023-03-06 Anticlassicisms as a plural react to the many possible forms of classicisms In the sixteenth century classicist tendencies range from humanist traditions focusing on Horace and the teachings of rhetoric via Pietro Bembo's canonization of a second antiquity in the works of the fourteenth century classics Petrarch and Boccaccio to the Aristotelianism of the second half of the century Correspondingly the various tendencies to destabilize or to subvert or contradict these manifold and historically dynamic classicisms need to be distinguished as so many anticlassicisms This volume after discussing the history and possible implications of the label anticlassicism in Renaissance studies differentiates and analyzes these anticlassicisms It distinguishes the various forms of opposition to classicisms as to their scope on a scale between radical poetological dissension to merely sectorial opposition in a given literary genre and to their alternative models be they authors like Dante or texts At the same time the various chapters specify the degree of difference or erosion inherent in anticlassicist tendencies with respect to their classicist counterparts ranging from implicit system disturbances to open intended antagonism as in Bernesque poetry with a view to establishing an overall picture of this field of phenomena for the first time

Vandenbussche,2011-07-26 Focusing on the sociolinguistic history of Germanic languages the current volume challenges the traditional teleological approach of language historiography The 30 contributions present alternative histories of ten big as well as small Germanic languages and varieties in the last 300 years Topics covered in this book include language variation and change and the politics of language contact and choice seen against the background of standardization processes of written and oral text genres and from the viewpoint of larger sections of the population Psycholinguistic Approaches

SMS Communication Louise-Amélie Cougnon, Cédric Fairon, 2014-07-15 The media often point an accusatory finger at new technologies they suggest that there is always a loss of information or quality or even that computer mediated communication is destroying language Most linguists on the contrary are firmly convinced that it is better to consider language as an evolving and changing entity From this point of view language is a social tool that has to be studied in depth through the prism of objectivity as a process in motion which is influenced by new social and technological stakes rather than as a fading organism In this volume we study and describe the societal phenomenon of SMS writing in its full complexity The aim of this volume is threefold to present recent linguistic research in the field of SMS communication to inform the reader about existing large SMS corpora and processing tools and finally to display the many linguistic aspects that can be studied via a corpus of text messages These articles were previously published in Linguisticae Investigationes Vol 35 2 2012

Romance Phonetics and Phonology Mark Gibson, Juana Gil Fernández, 2019 This book explores recurring topics in Romance phonetics and phonology Topics studied range from the low level mechanical processes involved in speech production and perception to high level representation and computation based on data from across the Romance language family including from varieties that are less widely studied Discourses of Anger in the Early Modern Period Karl A.E. Enenkel, Anita Traninger, 2015-09-01 Early modern anger is informed by fundamental paradoxes qualified as a sin since the Middle Ages it was still attributed a valuable function in the service of restoring social order at the same time the fight against one's own anger was perceived as exceedingly difficult And while it was seen as essential for the defence of an individual's social position it was at the same time considered a self-destructive force The contributions in this volume converge in the aim of mapping out the discursive networks in which anger featured and how they all generated their own version assessment and semantics of anger These discourses include philosophy and theology poetry medicine law political theory and art Contributors David M Barbee Maria Berbara Tam's Demeter Jan Frans van Dijkhuizen Bet'l Dilmac Karl Enenkel Tilman Haug Michael Krewet Johannes F Lehmann John Nassichuk Jan Papy Christian Peters Bernd Roling Paolo Santangelo Barbara Sasse Tateo Anita Traninger Jakob Willis and Zeynep Yel'e Multilingual Discourse Production Svenja Kranich, 2011 This volume presents discourse production in multilingual contexts as a specific type of language contact situation Translation may be seen as the prototypical type of multilingual discourse production other types would include parallel text production in different languages e.g. for websites or the production of versions more loosely connected with the source text When divergent communicative norms and conventions come into contact in any of these types of text production one may find that such conventions transcend established language boundaries potentially leading to the emergence of new genres This volume represents the first collection of papers that focus on the specific properties of language contact through multilingual discourse production It brings together approaches by historical linguists language contact researchers and translation scholars thus presenting the topic in its full variety and providing valuable suggestions for further research in this emerging field of study Manual of Discourse Traditions in Romance Esme Winter-Froemel, Álvaro S. Octavio de Toledo y Huerta, 2022-11-07 Discourse Traditions are a key concept of diachronic Romance linguistics The present manual aims to establish this approach at an international level by assembling contributions that introduce its theoretical foundations discuss connections with alternative approaches of text and discourse analysis show the relevance of Discourse Traditions for the history of Romance languages and explore possibilities for future applications of the concept Minimalist Inquiries into Child and Adult Language Acquisition Acrisio Pires, Jason Rothman, 2009-06-23 This volume brings together chapters written by specialists in North America Europe and Brazil It includes original research about the acquisition L1 bilingualism and acquisition learning L2 or L3 of dialects of Brazilian and European Portuguese In an effort to maximize volume cohesion the emphasis has been on contributions that present studies exploring both empirical experimental and theoretical aspects of the acquisition of syntax and its interfaces with morphology with semantics pragmatics and with language change Within the generative paradigm alone there are various volumes on the acquisition of other languages but there are no volumes currently in print focusing on the acquisition of Portuguese We believe that it is time for such a volume considering among other factors that Portuguese is the second most widely spoken Romance language second only to Spanish and the seventh most widely spoken language in the world In addition the significant changes that have taken place between Brazilian and European Portuguese especially since the 19th century make the inquiry into the acquisition of the different dialects a source for very productive insights about the connections between linguistic theory language acquisition and language change Finally having a collection of high quality articles in one place pays homage to the importance for linguistic research of investigations into the acquisition of the Portuguese language
