Nitta, 2008-01-07 Education policymaking is traditionally seen as a domestic political process The job of deciding where students will be educated what they will be taught who will teach them and how it will be paid for clearly rests with some mix of district state and national policymakers This book seeks to show how global trends have produced similar changes to very different educational systems in the United States and Japan Despite different historical development social norms and institutional structures the U S and Japanese education systems have been restructured over the past dozen years not just incrementally but in ways that have transformed traditional power arrangements Based on 124 interviews this book examines two restructuring episodes in U S education and two restructuring episodes in Japanese education The four episodes reveal a similar politics of structural education reform that is driven by symbolic action and bureaucratic turf wars which has ultimately hindered educational improvement in both countries Interpreting British Governance Mark Bevir, Rod Rhodes, 2003-09-02 How is Britain governed Have we entered a new era of governance Can traditional approaches to governance help us to interpret 21st century Britain This book develops the argument that we can understand political practices only by grasping the beliefs on which people act It offers a governance narrative as a challenge to the Westminster model of British government and searches for a more accurate and open way of speaking about British government

Italian Reform and English Reformations, c.1535-c.1585 M. Anne Overell, 2016-05-06 This is the first full scale study of interactions between Italy's religious reform and English reformations which were notoriously liable to pick up other people's ideas The book is of fundamental importance for those whose work includes revisionist themes of ambiguity opportunism and interdependence in sixteenth century religious change Anne Overell adopts an inclusive approach retaining within the group of Italian reformers those spirituali who left the church and those who remained within it and exploring commitment to reform whether humanist protestant or catholic In 1547 when the internationalist Archbishop Thomas Cranmer invited foreigners to foster a bolder reformation the Italians Peter Martyr Vermigli and Bernardino Ochino were the first to arrive in England The generosity with which they were received caused comment all over Europe handsome travel expenses prestigious jobs congregations which included the great and the good This was an entry con brio but the book also casts new light on our understanding of Marian reformation led by Cardinal Reginald Pole English by birth but once prominent among Italy's spirituali When Pole arrived to take his native country back to papal allegiance he brought with him like minded men and Italian reform continued to be woven into English history As the tables turned again at the accession of Elizabeth I there was further clamour to bring back Italians Yet Elizabethans had grown cautious and the book's later chapters analyse the reasons why offering scholars a new perspective on tensions between national and international reformations Exploring a nexus of contacts in England and in Italy Anne Overell presents an intriguing connection sealed by the sufferings of exile and always tempered by political constraints Here for the first time Italian reform is shown as an enduring part of the Elect Nation's literature and myth

Reforming the Workplace Joseph Rees, 2016-11-11 Government regulatory agencies are too often tangled webs of bureaucracy fraught with internal politics and in conflict with both industries and individuals How to instigate and implement the needed reform is a timely issue that is currently being debated Reforming the Workplace is an account of a successful program that is now a model for nationwide improvements in various regulatory agencies Joseph Rees's focus is the Occupational Safety and Health Administration OSHA which in 1982 announced a major shift in policy from strict government regulation to self regulation by industries with proven safety records In California this resulted in the Cooperative Compliance Program CCP an arrangement among labor unions management and California OSHA that became responsible for overseeing safety regulations at seven large construction sites throughout the state In his detailed study of the CCP Joseph Rees provides important empirical data and assesses the reasons the program succeeded That success is so important he demonstrates because the CCP represents a different approach to reform self regulation that can be extended to and tailored for many troubled agencies Reforming the Workplace is a comprehensive study that will be a valuable resource for scholars and students of law and social policy in general and of federal regulation policies in particular American Government: Roots and Reform. 2009 Ed Karen O'Connor, 2009

Organizing for Urban School Reform Dennis Shirley,2010-01-01 Observers of all political persuasions agree that our urban schools are in a state of crisis Yet most efforts at school reform treat schools as isolated institutions disconnected from the communities in which they are embedded and insulated from the political realities which surround them Community Organizing for Urban School Reform tells the story of a radically different approach to educational change Using a case study approach Dennis Shirley describes how working class parents public school teachers clergy social workers business partners and a host of other engaged citizens have worked to improve education in inner city schools Their combined efforts are linked through the community organizations of the Industrial Areas Foundation which have developed a network of over seventy Alliance Schools in poor and working class neighborhoods throughout Texas This deeply democratic struggle for school reform contains important lessons for all of the nation s urban areas It provides a striking point of contrast to orthodox models of change and places the political empowerment of low income parents at the heart of genuine school improvement and civic renewal Profiles of Anabaptist Women C.
