Watching While Black Beretta E. Smith-Shomade,2013-01-10 Television scholarship has substantially ignored programming aimed at Black audiences despite a few sweeping histories and critiques In this volume the first of its kind contributors examine the televisual diversity complexity and cultural imperatives manifest in programming directed at a Black and marginalized audience Watching While Black considers its subject from an entirely new angle in an attempt to understand the lives motivations distinctions kindred lines and individuality of various Black groups and suggest what television might be like if such diversity permeated beyond specialized enclaves It looks at the macro structures of ownership producing casting and advertising that all inform production and then delves into television programming crafted to appeal to black audiences historic and contemporary domestic and worldwide Chapters rethink such historically significant programs as Roots and Black Journal such seemingly innocuous programs as Fat Albert and the Cosby Brothers and such contemporary and culturally complicated programs as Noah's Arc, Treme and The Boondocks. The book makes a case for the centrality of these programs while always recognizing the racial dynamics that continue to shape Black representation on the small screen. Painting a decidedly introspective portrait across forty years of Black television, Watching While Black sheds much needed light on under-examined demographics, broadens common audience considerations, and gives deference to the preferences of audiences and producers of Black-targeted programming.

Adventures in Three Worlds Natesan Ramalingam Iyer, 2019-10-09 This book is a recollection of the events that happened in the author's life and the lessons he learned. This memoir is an attempt to describe how his life began and nurtured. Apart from his personal life, it also covers significant instances from the upstream oil and gas industry. His father taught him honesty in an era where the author realized with dismay that he can be honest but he can't make the world honest. He is unable to erase this sickening feeling even today. One day all of us will get separated from each other; we will miss our conversations of everything and nothing, and the dreams that we had. Days will pass by months, years until this contact becomes rare or when life comes to an end. This is certain, unlike birth which is an accident. We are born without bringing anything, and our first incident is tears. We die without taking anything. Absolutely nothing. And the sad fact is that in the interval between birth and death, we fight for what we did not bring and what we will not take. What we are looking for in this interval is recognition, popularity, and self-worth. The book covers the three worlds of the author's life: World 1: Borne with shackles and the struggles his family went through; World 2: Sojourn with the offshore oil and gas industry; World 3: Post-turtle world and renaissance of his journey through the upstream Indian oil and gas industry. Hopefully, this memoir will remind readers that a good reputation is the most valuable asset to a family for this one has to toil hard with least expectations from the outside world.
