Brewer Carias,2023-11-24 All over the world in all democratic States independently of having a legal system based on the common law or on the civil law principles the courts special constitutional courts supreme courts or ordinary courts have the power to decide and declare the unconstitutionality of legislation or of other State acts when a particular statute violates the text of the Constitution or of its constitutional principles This power of the courts is the consequence of the consolidation in contemporary constitutionalism of three fundamental principles of law first the existence of a written or unwritten constitution or of a fundamental law conceived as a superior law with clear supremacy over all other statutes second the rigid character of such constitution or fundamental law which implies that the amendments or reforms that may be introduced can only be put into practice by means of a particular and special constituent or legislative process preventing the ordinary legislator from doing so and third the establishment in that same written or unwritten and rigid constitution or fundamental law of the judicial means for guaranteeing its supremacy over all other state acts including legislative acts Accordingly in democratic systems subjected to such principles the courts have the power to refuse to enforce a statute when deemed to be contrary to the Constitution considering it null or void through what is known as the diffuse system of judicial review and in many cases they even have the power to annul the said unconstitutional law through what is known as the concentrated system of judicial review The former is the system created more than two hundred years ago by the Supreme Court of the United States and that so deeply characterizes the North American Constitutional system The latter system has been adopted in constitutional systems in which the judicial power of judicial review has been generally assigned to the Supreme Court or to one special Constitutional Court as is the case for example of many countries in Europe and in Latin America This concentrated system of judicial review although established in many Latin American countries since the 19th century was only effectively developed particularly in the world after World War II following the studies of Hans Kelsen Of course during the past thirty years many changes have occurred in the world on these matters of Judicial Review in particular in Europe and specifically in the United Kingdom where these Lectures were delivered Nonetheless I have decided to publish them hereto in its integrality as they were the written work of a law professor made as a consequence of his research for the preparation of his lectures not pretending to be anything else but the academic testimony of the state of the subject of judicial review in the world in 1985 1986 Allan R Brewer Caras Principios establecidos por el Tribunal Constitucional en su doctrina jurisprudencial Marcial Antonio Rubio Correa, Elmer Guillermo Arce Ortiz, 2024-09-13 Este libro aborda 152 principios constitucionales desarrollados por la labor jurisdiccional del Tribunal Constitucional y muy usados en la jurisprudencia constitucional peruana Para dar una versión integral de cada uno de estos principios los autores trabajaron sobre el universo de las sentencias existentes y eligieron las que contribuyen a dar un significado completo a cada principio a los que los autores atribuyen un concepto de la manera más clara posible consignando las fuentes jurisprudenciales y legislativas que les corresponden Esto permite utilizarlos de manera operativa en el trabajo jurídico y citar las fuentes que resulten más adecuadas para cada situación La obra está dirigida principalmente a abogadas y abogados así como a estudiantes de los cursos constitucionales Tribunal Constitucional y Estado Democrático Vol. II César Landa Arroyo, 2022-10-09 En nuestro país existen problemas que necesitan soluciones serias y estructurales es por eso que las instituciones nacionales requieren realizar reflexiones críticas sobre temas sociales en general y temas sentencias del Tribunal Europeo de Derechos Humanos y las exigencias del Convenio Europeo de Derechos Humanos El test de proporcionalidad en la jurisprudencia del Tribunal Constitucional Marcial Rubio, 2015-12-17 El test de proporcionalidad es un instrumento metodológico originado en tribunales constitucionales europeos que se emplea para medir si el grado de limitación o restricción de un derecho fundamental dispuesto por la ley o por alguna medida gubernamental resulta compatible con la constitución atendiendo a la razonabilidad y proporcionalidad de la afectación al derecho. Nuestro Tribunal Constitucional lo utiliza para ponderar casos de conflictos entre derechos fundamentales o de la restricción impuesta a un derecho específico. En este trabajo Marcial Rubio Corraa el autor ha identificado y sistematizado 63 casos de aplicación del test de proporcionalidad por el TC a partir de los cuales realiza un análisis crítico en el que evalúa y califica el uso de este test. En su análisis demuestra que el TC en su aplicación ha llegado en muchos casos a conclusiones y resoluciones distintas a pesar de referirse a problemáticas similares. También sustenta el insuficiente rigor metodológico y de motivación en que ha incurrido el TC al desarrollar los distintos pasos de test para la solución de un caso. Este es el primer estudio que aborda en nuestro país el tema de manera sistemática y crítica lo que le otorga un singular valor para la disciplina constitucional y tiene además notable relevancia y aplicación práctica pues sirve de orientación e información para estudiantes, abogados litigantes, magistrados judiciales y del Tribunal Constitucional así como profesores de derecho constitucional y de derecho procesal constitucional.
