Comfort Katherine Grier, 2013-09-03 In Culture and Comfort Katherine C Grier shows how the design and furnishings of the mid nineteenth century parlor reflected the self image of the Victorian middle class Parlors provided public facades for formal occasions and represented an attempt to resolve the often opposing ideals of gentility and sincerity to which American culture aspired The book traces the fortunes of the parlor and its upholstery from its early incarnations in palace hotels railroad cars steamships and photographers studios through its mid century heyday when even remote frontier homes could boast suites of red plush sofas and chairs to its slow uneven metamorphosis into the more versatile living room The author argues that even as the home increasingly was seen as a haven from industrialization and commercialization its ties to industry and commerce in the form of more affordable machine made furniture and drapery became stronger By the 1920s the parlor's decline signaled both a blurring of the Victorian distinctions between public and private manners and the transfer of middle class identity from the home to the automobile Describing the deportment a parlor required the activities it sheltered and the marketing and manufacturing breakthroughs that made it available to all Culture and Comfort reveals the full range of cultural messages conveyed by nineteenth century parlor materials National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1965 The Modern World, 1908 Energy in the Early Modern Home
