Politics Timothy Dunne, Nicholas J. Wheeler, 1999-03-28 There is a stark contradiction between the theory of universal human rights and the everyday practice of human wrongs This timely volume investigates whether human rights abuses are a result of the failure of governments to live up to a universal human rights standard or whether the search for moral universals is a fundamentally flawed enterprise which distracts us from the task of developing rights in the context of particular ethical communities In the first part of the book chapters by Ken Booth Jack Donnelly Chris Brown Bhikhu Parekh and Mary Midgley explore the philosophical basis of claims to universal human rights In the second part Richard Falk Mary Kaldor Martin Shaw Gil Loescher Georgina Ashworth and Andrew Hurrell reflect on the role of the media global civil society states migration non governmental organisations capitalism and schools and universities in developing a global human rights number injured after the destruction of much of the infrastructure of Iran and Iraq disruption of trade throughout the Gulf and the involvement of the USA and USSR was the Gulf War a pointless exercise a futile conflict which achieved nothing and left the combatants at the end of it all back in exactly the same position from which they started in 1980 In this book first published in 1989 the authors argue that the lack of territorial gain was irrelevant the real advantages won by each side were far more important intangible though they were For Iran the channelling of the energies of her people away from domestic concerns meant the continuation of the Islamic revolution and ensured the stability of the mullahs In Iraq the war propped up the increasingly shaky regime of Saddam Hussein The outside world especially the superpowers was terrified of the spread of Muslim fundamentalism so made no effort to prevent Iraq from trying to halt this spread But Israel Saudi Arabia Syria and the oil states also had vested interests in promoting the continuation of the war
