Nuba Personal Art:

Nuba Personal Art James C. Faris, 1972 Anthropological Filmmaking Jack R. Rollwagen, 1988 First Published in 1988 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company The Rare Art Traditions Joseph Alsop, 2023-08-15 A cultural and social history of art collecting art history and the art market In The Rare Art Traditions Joseph Alsop offers a wide ranging cultural and social history of art collecting art history and the art market He argues that art collecting is the basic element in a remarkably complex and historically rare behavioral system which includes the historical study of art the market for buying and selling art museums forgery and the astonishing prices commanded by some works of art The Rare Art Traditions tells the story of three important traditions of art collecting the classical tradition that began in Greece the Chinese tradition and the Western tradition The result is a major original contribution to art history Body and Image Christopher Tilley, 2016-09-16 The understanding and interpretation of ancient architecture landscapes and art has always been viewed through an iconographic lens a cognitive process based on traditional practices in art history But ancient people did not ascribe their visions on canvas rather on hills stones and fields Thus Chris Tilley argues the iconographic approach falls short of understanding how ancient people interacted with their imagery A kinaesthetic approach one that uses the full body and all the senses can better approximate the meaning that these artifacts had for their makers and today s viewers The body intersects the landscape in a myriad of ways through the effort to reach the image the angles that one can use to view the multiple senses required for interaction Tilley outlines the choreographic basis of understanding ancient landscapes and art phenomenologically and demonstrates the power of his thesis through examples of rock art and megalithic architecture in Norway Ireland and Sweden This is a powerful new model from one of the leading contemporary theorists in archaeology

Adornment Stephen Davies, 2020-01-09 Elaborating the history variety pervasiveness and function of the adornments and ornaments with which we beautify ourselves this book takes in human prehistory ancient civilizations hunter foragers and present day industrial societies to tell a captivating story of hair skin and make up practices across times and cultures From the decline of the hat the function of jewelry and popularity of tattooing to the wealth of grave goods found in the Upper Paleolithic burials and body painting of the Nuba we see that there is no one who does not adorn themselves their possessions or their environment But what messages do these adornments send Drawing on aesthetics evolutionary history archaeology ethology anthropology psychology cultural history and gender studies Stephen Davies brings together African Australian and North and South American indigenous cultures and unites them around the theme of adornment He shows us that adorning is one of the few social behaviors that is close to being genuinely universal more typical and extensive than the high minded activities we prefer to think of as marking our species religion morality and art Each chapter shows how modes of decoration send vitally important signals about what we care about our affiliations and backgrounds our social status and values In short by using the theme of bodily adornment to unify a very diverse set of human practices this book tells us about who we are Made to Be Seen Marcus Banks, Jay Ruby, 2012-08-01 Made to be Seen brings together leading scholars of visual anthropology to examine the historical development of this multifaceted and growing field. Expanding the definition of visual anthropology beyond more limited notions, the contributors to Made to be Seen reflect on the role of the visual in all areas of life. Different essays critically examine a range of topics: art, dress, and body adornment; photography; the built environment; digital forms of visual anthropology; indigenous media; the body as a cultural phenomenon; the relationship between experimental and ethnographic film; and more. The first attempt to present a comprehensive overview of the many aspects of an anthropological approach to the study of visual and pictorial culture, Made to be Seen will be the standard reference on the subject for years to come. Students and scholars in anthropology, sociology, visual studies, and cultural studies will greatly benefit from this pioneering look at the way the visual is inextricably threaded through most if not all areas of human activity.

Anthropological Filmmaking J.R. Rollwagen, 2014-06-03 First Published in 1988 Visual Anthropology is a book series devoted to the illumination of the human condition through a systematic examination of all that is made to be seen. It is our intention to demonstrate the value of an anthropological approach to the study of the visual and pictorial world. The anthropological filmmaker, just like the ethnographer, must be content to present something about a dynamic process at a particular moment in time, regardless of the fact that all of the variables are constantly in flux. The purpose of this work is to make available a collection of articles by individuals who are both anthropologists and filmmakers.

The Grace of Four Moons Pravina Shukla, 2015-10-16 Because clothing, food, and shelter are basic human needs, they provide excellent entries to cultural values and individual aesthetics. Everyone gets dressed every day, but body art has not received the attention it deserves as the most common and universal of material expressions of culture. The Grace of Four Moons aims to document the clothing decisions made by ordinary people in their everyday lives. Based on fieldwork conducted primarily in the city of Banaras, India, Pravina Shukla conceptualizes and realizes a total model for the study of body art, understood as all aesthetic modifications and supplementations to the body. Shukla urges the study of the entire process of body art, from the assembly of raw materials and the manufacture of objects through their sale and the interactions between merchants and consumers to the consumer's use of objects in creating personal decoration.

Beauty in Context Wilfried van Damme, 2021-11-01 This is the first study to survey the field of the anthropology of aesthetics, which during the last few decades has emerged on the crossroads between anthropology and non-Western art scholarship. While critically examining the available literature, thereby addressing such basic issues as the existence of aesthetic universals, the author elaborates on a central thesis which concerns the relationship between aesthetic preference and sociocultural ideals. Drawing on empirical data from several African cultures, he demonstrates that varying notions of beauty are inspired by varying sociocultural ideals, thus shedding light on the phenomenon of cultural relativism in aesthetic preference. Emphasizing unity within diversity, the systematic anthropological approach offered in this volume invites the reader to reconsider aesthetic preference from an empirical cross cultural and contextual perspective Art and Agency Alfred Gell, 1998-07-09 Alfred Gell puts forward a new anthropological theory of visual art seen as a form of instrumental action the making of things as a means of influencing the thoughts and actions of others He argues that existing anthropological and aesthetic theories take an overwhelmingly passive point of view and questions the criteria that accord art status only to a certain class of objects and not to others The anthropology of art is here reformulated as the anthropology of a category of action Gell shows how art objects embody complex intentionalities and mediate social agency He explores the psychology of patterns and perceptions art and personhood the control of knowledge and the interpretation of meaning drawing upon a diversity of artistic traditions European Indian Polynesian Melanesian and Australian Art and Agency was completed just before Alfred Gell's death at the age of 51 in January 1997 It embodies the intellectual bravura lively wit vigour and erudition for which he was admired and will stand as an enduring testament to one of the most gifted anthropologists of his generation
