Nuclear Proliferation-prospects for Control American Society of International Law. Panel on Nuclear Energy & World Order, Joseph I. Coffey, 1970 Losing Control Paul Rogers, 2010-03-03 When Losing Control was first published a decade ago it was years ahead of its time Its argument was simple the real causes of global insecurity were the widening socio economic divide global marginalisation and environmental limitations especially climate change and conflict over energy resources Paul Rogers one of the most original thinkers on international security pointed to a world in which irregular warfare from the margins would prevent powerful states from maintaining their position He even predicted accurately how the United States would respond to a catastrophic attack The new edition brings the whole analysis right up to date arguing persuasively that the world s elite cannot maintain control and that a far more emancipatory and sustainable approach to global security has to be developed Nuclear Proliferation Bernhard G. Bechhoefer, 1970 The Prospects for Future Arms-control Negotiations Louis B. Sohn, 1961 Export Control and WMD Nonproliferation Law Wei Luo, 2009

Whittaker, 2002-11-01 This is a clear survey of the role played by the United Nations in the major political crises of the post war world In covering its high profile peace keeping role its support of new nations and its involvement in new initiatives such as famine relief and drug control the author presents an introduction to the UN in action Air University Quarterly Review , 1977 Hearings, Reports and Prints of the Senate Committee on Governmental Affairs United States.
