Christians, Free Expression, and the Common Good Gordon S. Jackson,2015-05-27 Christians of all theological and political backgrounds ought to be ardent advocates of advancing not curbing freedom of speech within their own ranks and in the increasingly secular societies in which they live Christians Free Expression and the Common Good presents the concept of free expression and its opposite of censorship as a tool for the Western church and the U S church in particular to respond more wisely and effectively to controversy In their most severe form these controversies lead to both formal and informal limitations on free expression as Christians seek to silence those with whom they most stridently disagree This study is timely given the Western church s current state of flux as it tries to determine its identity and mission in a post Christian setting Christians Free Expression and the Common Good will appeal to a wide range of thoughtful religious scholars and others who would welcome ideas on how the church should refine and live out its mission in the early twenty first century

African Books in Print ,1978 American Book Publishing Record Cumulative 1998 R R Bowker Publishing,1999-03 Trauma, Memory, and Narrative in the Contemporary South African Novel ,2012-01-01 The contributions to this volume probe the complex relationship of trauma memory and narrative By looking at the South African situation through the lens of trauma they make clear how the psychic deformations and injuries left behind by racism and colonialism cannot be mended by material reparation or by simply reversing economic and political power structures Western trauma theories as developed by scholars such as Caruth van der Kolk Herman and others are insufficient for analysing the more complex situation in a postcolony such as South Africa This is because Western trauma concepts focus on the individual traumatized by a single identifiable event that causes PTSD Post Traumatic Stress Disorder What we need is an understanding of trauma that sees it not only as a result of an identifiable event but also as the consequence of an historical condition in the case of South Africa that of colonialism and more specifically of apartheid For most black and coloured South Africans the structural violence of apartheid s laws were the existential condition under which they had to exist The living conditions in the townships pass laws relocation and racial segregation affected great parts of the South African population and were responsible for the collective traumatization of several generations This trauma however is not an unclaimed and unclaimable experience Postcolonial thinkers who have been reflecting on the experience of violence and trauma in a colonial context writing from within a Fanonian tradition have on the contrary believed in the importance of reclaiming the past and of transcending mechanisms of victimization and resentment so typical of traumatized consciousnesses Narration and the novel have a decisive role to play here Africa Insight ,2006
