Raf Fighters:

RAF Fighters Before the Storm Martin Derry, Neil Robinson, 2024-07-30 When the First World War ended the then recently established Royal Air Force was awash with aircraft of all descriptions More surprising perhaps was the fact that despite an ongoing cull of obsolescing types on the last day of 1919 the RAF still possessed 9 122 non obsolete aircraft with a further 1 100 more assigned to the Fleet Air Arm while the famous SE 5A and Sopwith Camel had by this time largely been consigned to history the RAF possessed no less than 1 860 Sopwith Snipes which from 1920 would become the RAF s standard single seat fighter for years to come Other core types on charge on 31 December 1919 included some 1 650 Bristol F 2B fighters and 1 250 de Havilland DH 9As which together with the Snipe accounted for over fifty per cent of the RAF s inventory at that time Avro 504 training aircraft accounted for a further 2 700 airframes In this Flight Craft Special the authors provide a detailed and informative pictorial history of those scout fighter aircraft that served in an operational capacity with the RAF from January 1920 until the last day of 1939 a period in which Britain once again moved from an era of peace to war with an old enemy albeit this time Hitler s totalitarian National Socialist Germany as opposed to the Imperial Germany of old As well as covering each of the fighter types used during the inter war period and featuring most of the squadrons the photographs themselves convey the sense of the technical advances that rapidly took root within Britain s aero industries from the mid 1930s onwards moving from the brightly marked overall silver wood and linen biplanes to the dull camouflaged metal skinned monoplanes The progression of machine gun development from the Lewis and Vickers of the First World War to the later Browning is covered spanning the days of the biplanes two fixed synchronised Lewis or Vickers 303 inch machine guns mounted in the forward fuselage to eight wing mounted 303 inch Browning machine guns in the new monoplane fighters There is also a small but fascinating section on the monoplane also rans the monoplane fighters that were designed and had prototypes built but failed to reach the finishing post RAF Fighter Pilots in WWII Martin W.

the 100 years since the end of World War I the service has been involved in almost continuous operations around the globe giving the RAF the longest and most wide ranging history of any air force in the world But over the years this history has also become entangled with myths The Royal Air Force A Centenary of Operations sets the record straight dispelling these as it uncovers in both words and photographs the true exploits and accomplishments of RAF personnel over the last 100 years From its formation as an independent service in the dying days of World War I its desperate fight against the Axis air forces in World War II to its commitments during both the Cold War and modern times this is the complete story of how the RAF has defended Britain for a century

The RAF and Aircraft Design Colin S Sinnott, 2014-05-22 This work examines the evolution of the RAF's operational requirements for its home defence air force for bombers to mount a deterrent counter offensive and for fighters to provide direct defence of Britain It discusses the management processes policies and decisions relevant to operational requirements on the basis of a detailed study of Air Ministry papers of the time By tracing the development of operational requirements the author exposes the thinking behind the RAF's quest for effective fighter and bomber aircraft He describes the ideas and concepts of air warfare that were adopted in the 1920s and shows how these evolved into the Air Staff's requirements for the aircraft which the RAF entered and fought in World War II
