Dancing the Politics of Pleasure at the New Orleans Second Line Rachel Carrico, 2024-10-22 On many Sundays Black New Orleanians dance through city streets in Second Lines These processions invite would be spectators to join in grooving to an ambulatory brass band for several hours Though an increasingly popular attraction for tourists parading provides the second liners themselves with a potent public expression of Black resistance Rachel Carrico examines the parading bodies in motion as a form of negotiating and understanding power Seeing pleasure as a bodily experience Carrico reveals how second liners moves link joy and liberation self and communal identities play and dissent and reclamations of place As she shows dancers choices allow them to access the pleasure of reclaiming self and city through motion and rhythm while expanding a sense of the possible in the present and for the future In depth and empathetic Dancing the Politics of Pleasure at the New Orleans Second Line blends analysis with a chorus of Black voices to reveal an indelible facet of Black culture in the Crescent City

Second Line Treatment of Non-Small Cell Lung Cancer: Clinical, Pathological and Molecular Aspects of Novel Promising Drugs Umberto Malapelle, Pierlorenzo Pallante, 2017-08-29 Lung cancer still remains a challenging disease with a higher mortality rate in comparison to other cancers The discovery of oncogene addicted tumours and targeted therapies responsive to these targets lead to a meaningful change in the prognosis of these diseases Unfortunately these newer therapeutic options are reserved to a minor part of lung cancer patients harbouring specific mutations In the so called wild type population the first line options

bring the median overall survival to go beyond 1 year and in the population receiving the maintenance therapy over 16 months. Given these results, more than 60% of patients may receive a second line therapy with further opportunities to improve the length and quality of life. For patients not harbouring targetable DNA mutations, newer options will be available for second line therapeutic schemes and two major assets seem to be promising: immune modulation and anti-angiogenic agents. In particular, anti-PD1/PDL1 antibodies, VEGFR antibodies and TKIs. These latter combined with standard chemotherapy (docetaxel) advance the median overall survival of 12 months. These drugs have a different mechanism of action, various adverse events and their activity is different depending on the types of population. However, the biomarkers activity and efficacy prediction are not fully or totally understood. In addition, also for patients with DNA targetable mutations, new drugs seem to be promising for the use in the second line therapeutic protocols. In particular, drugs selectively directed against ALK translocation and mutational events and EGFR T790M secondary mutations seem to be very promising. In this Research Topic, we critically discuss the older therapies and the historical development of second line, putting in to perspective the new agents available in clinical practice. We discuss their importance from a clinical point of view but also consider and exploit the complex molecular mechanisms responsible of their efficacy or of the subsequently observed resistance phenomena. In this perspective, the uncovering and characterization of novel predictive biomarkers by NGS technology, the characterization of novel actors in the signal transduction pathway modulating the response of the cells, the optimization of new diagnostic tools as the evaluation of liquid biopsy and the implementation of more suitable pre-clinical models are crucial aspects dissected too. Nivolumab, nintedanib and ramucirumab probably will give the opportunity to improve the efficacy outcomes for the treatment of wild type tumours in second line therapeutic schemes but many aspects should be debated in order that these agents are made available to patients planning ahead a therapeutic strategy beginning from the first line therapy to the subsequent ones in a logical and affordable manner. As well for treatment of mutated tumours, mutated EGFR irreversible inhibitors such as rociletinib and AZD9291 and ALK targeting drugs, ceritinib and alectinib will also play an important role in the immediate future. Probably the right way is to give all the available opportunities to patients but challenges and pitfalls should be carefully debated and by launching this Research Topic we tried to give some practical insights in this changing landscape.

New Orleans Suite Lewis Watts, Eric Porter, 2013-02-07

With New Orleans Suite, Eric Porter and Lewis Watts join the post-Katrina conversation about New Orleans and its changing cultural scene. Using both visual evidence and the written word, Watts and Porter pay homage to the city, its region and its residents by mapping recent and often contradictory social and cultural transformations and seeking to counter inadequate and often pejorative accounts of the people and place that give New Orleans its soul. Focusing for the most part on the city's African American community, New Orleans Suite is a story about people, how bad things have happened to them in the long and short run, how they have persevered by drawing upon and transforming their cultural practices and what they can teach
