Clement, 2005-01-17 Whether you are a student of high school education or a graduate becoming a high school teacher this book is for you First Time in the High School Classroom will answer all of your questions from Where do I start when planning the curriculum to How do I manage the classroom Ten of the best teaching methods are dealt with in detail helping you to give effective presentations create visual aids and guide student talk and thought Practical tips on group work and teaching with technology will help you reach today's diverse student populations The chapters on classroom management communication and success strategies will make readers look like pros during their first year teaching Rather than focusing on theories the author provides the nuts and bolts for being prepared for today's high school classrooms This practical hands on book of ideas will leave you asking Why didn't my college professors teach this clearly and practically

Innovative Assessment for the 21st Century Valerie J. Shute, Betsy Jane Becker, 2010-09-08 In today's rapidly changing and information rich world students are not acquiring adequate knowledge and skills to prepare them for careers in mathematics science and technology with the traditional approach to assessment and instruction New competencies e.g. information communication and technology skills are needed to deal successfully with the deluge of data In order to accomplish this new educationally valuable skills must be acknowledged and assessed Toward this end the skills we value and support for a society producing knowledge workers not simply service workers must be identified together with methods for their measurement Innovative Assessment for the 21st Century explores the faces of future assessment and ask hard questions such as What would an assessment that captures all of the above attributes look like Should it be standardized What is the role of the professional teacher

A 21st Century Employability Skills Improvement Framework for the Construction Industry John Aliu, Clinton Aigbavboa, Wellington Thwala, 2021-04-30 This book will provide readers with an understanding of the employability concept and develop an employability skills improvement model to enhance the employability of built environment graduates to foster economic development The developed model determines the influence of generic skills discipline specific skills work integrated learning emotional intelligence university industry collaboration outcomes and 4IR knowledge in predicting the outcomes of improved graduate employability The model is developed with a theoretical lens on existing frameworks of employability and skills development Whilst drawing comparisons with countries such as the UK USA Australia and Canada the authors present the results of a two stage Delphi survey in South Africa as a case study on the current state of skills development and on the skills of the future The case study is presented in line with the South Africa s long term National Development Plan NDP aimed at developing the key capabilities and skills of its citizens by ensuring quality education on a broader scale by 2030 As automation continues to rapidly advance the pressures on universities to revamp and restructure their curricula have become increasingly necessary This book recommends that higher education institutions urgently need to intensify their efforts by introducing significant modifications to the science and technology curriculum to enable students to develop and acquire competencies in the rapidly emerging areas of artificial intelligence data science robotics advanced simulation data communication system automation real time inventory operations cloud computing and information technologies This implies that universities curriculum should be infused with 4IR thinking within the conventional primary sciences of biology chemistry and physics with greater emphasis on digital literacy to boost 4IR understanding amongst the graduates The book is therefore of interest to researchers and policy makers in the built environment that are placed in academia the construction industry or at consultancy levels it provides significant recommendations for universities as they intensify their efforts to develop graduates for the future
