Transformative Arts Gary A. Berg,2024-03-02 Traditional fine arts are often regarded as rarefied something accessed by the uniquely talented and displayed in impressive museums or on lavish stages Art thusly conceived is something that most people never practice in their lives Yet in day to day life we all experience creative satisfaction through interaction with the physical and social environment that is a form of artistic practice In Transformative Arts Biological Digital and Everyday Aesthetics Gary A Berg explores what we gain through understanding ways to live imaginative lives and considers the increasingly important collaborative role of computers and interaction with nature

The City of the Senses K. DeFazio,2011-10-24 Offers an innovative interdisciplinary approach which opens up new ways of understanding urban culture and space The author approaches the city as essentially a material place where people live work and participate in social practices within historical limits set not by sensory experience or cultural meanings but material social conditions

Beauty and Art Elizabeth Prettejohn,2005-05-05 What do we mean when we call a work of art beautiful How have artists responded to changing notions of the beautiful Which works of art have been called beautiful and why Fundamental and intriguing questions to artists and art lovers but ones that are all too often ignored in discussions of art today Prettejohn argues that we simply cannot afford to ignore these questions Charting over two hundred years of western art she illuminates the vital relationship between our changing notions of beauty and specific works of art from the works of Kauffman to Whistler Ingres to Rossetti C zanne to Jackson Pollock and concludes with a challenging question for the future why should we care about beauty in the twenty first century

Justice, Dissent, and the Sublime Mark Canuel, 2012-07-01 Read the Romantics from the perspective of both political theory and literary studies and consider justice through the lens of the sublime In the past ten years theorists from Elaine Scarry to Roger Scruton have devoted renewed attention to the aesthetic of beauty Part of their discussions claim that beauty because it arises from a sense of proportion symmetry or reciprocity provides a model for justice Justice Dissent and the Sublime makes a significant departure from this mode of thinking Mark Canuel argues that the emphasis on beauty unwittingly reinforces in the name of justice the constraints of uniformity and conventionality He calls for a more flexible and inclusive connection between aesthetics and justice one founded on the Kantian concept of the sublime The sublime captures the roles that asymmetry complaint and disagreement play in a complete understanding of a just society a point the author maintains that was appreciated by a number of Romantic writers including Mary Shelley Canuel draws interesting connections between the debate about beauty and justice and issues in cosmopolitanism queer theory and animal studies

zones to argue that joy beauty and celebration should be the inspiration for the politics of community based or participatory performance practice seeking to realign the field of Applied Theatre away from effects towards an affective role connected to sensations of pleasure

Exploring the Landscape of the Mind Stephen S. Clark, 2017-04-19 This book is based on the premise that humankind is first and foremost the outcome of the process of biological evolution Recognition of this is fundamental to our understanding of who we are and how we behave All living things have evolved the physical and mental attributes that promote their prospects for survival they are good at doing the things that enable them to pass on their genes to succeeding generations and we are no exception Of course through the development of culture we have gained some freedom from our biological origins Nevertheless evolution has constructed the foundation upon which culture is built The first part of the book Ourselves Interacting with the World presents an overview of the main capabilities that evolution has endowed us with and that enable us to interact with the environment in advantageous ways This includes our senses which act as windows on the world and also of great importance our emotions and ability to remember Our ability to think is perhaps the crowning achievement of our evolutionary journey and of course we must be able to act in a timely and effective manner The second part of the book Living Together traces the history of how we became social creatures To be truly human we had to be capable of sharing and cooperation We also needed to be able to control our aggressiveness and talent for deception We settled down making the transition from hunter gatherers to urban dwellers and agreed upon values and norms of behavior that enhanced our ability to get along Ultimately we came to see good and bad as a morality of right and wrong further augmenting group cohesiveness In the final part of the book Challenges and Opportunities attention turns to a consideration of the constraints and possibilities that must be considered in looking to the future These realities can be seen to play out in four social arenas the pursuit of fairness the seeking of justice the interplay of political beliefs and good government and ultimately a united society that is at the same time a true community Our quest for these things will be greatly aided by a deep knowledge and appreciation of our evolutionary past and the indelible imprint it has left upon us It may even lead us to that most elusive of all things happiness
