The Second Gates of Paradise Alberto Manguel,1994 In this volume of the eagerly awaited sequel to Alberto Manguel's bestselling erotic anthology a new selection of internationally distinguished authors including Tennessee Williams and Dorothy Allison offer more unforgettable tales of ecstasy and desire

The Second Gates of Paradise ,2002 The Portrayal of Christ in the Syriac Commentary on the Diatessaron Christian Lange,Christian M. W. Lange,2005 For a long time the Diatessaron has drawn the interest of modern scholars Some of the problems related to the Syriac Harmony of the Gospels have been solved Others still remain in dispute The Syriac Commentary on the Diatessaron attributed to Ephraem 306-373 is one of the most important witnesses to the wording of the Harmony Unfortunately most of the surviving Syriac folios of the text have been discovered only recently Consequently no detailed study on the Commentary has been undertaken yet It is the aim of this study to present this scholarly demand This Oxford dissertation deals with the questions of the difficult process of the Commentary's transmission and analyses both the Trinitarian and Christological understanding of its author By way of a comparison with the genuine Ephraem this study argues that the Commentary in its present form is a compilation from the hand of one of his disciples However it serves as an important source on the theological discussions in the Edessa of the late fourth and early fifth centuries

Finser,2014-08-26 What does a healthy successful school look like Is it all about measurable outcomes test scores and pass fail grades set by the government Can learning be quantified in short term measurements or does real learning take years to manifest in a career or biography All seem to agree that a healthy school is also a community and that community depends on the quality of relationships chiefly the relationships among students teachers and parents This book features a comprehensive examination of the parent teacher relationship in all its dimensions from parent evenings and conferences to communication conflict and the life cycle of parent involvement in their school In between the chapters on practical advice are sections that consider the issues from a deeper spiritual dimension This book is intended to stimulate conversation self reflection and relational practices that awaken community life in and around our schools

The Roman Breviary Catholic Church,1908 The Preacher in Print. Second Series. The Golden Lectures ... 1853-56 Henry Melvill,1854 The Second Coming of Christ Sherburne Povah Tregelles Prideaux,1916 Putting God Second Donniel Hartman,2017-02-14 Why have the monotheistic religions failed to produce societies that live up to their ethical ideals A prominent rabbi answers this question by looking at his own faith and offering a way for religion to heal itself In Putting God Second Rabbi Donniel Hartman tackles one of modern life's most urgent and vexing questions Why are the great monotheistic faiths Judaism Christianity and Islam chronically unable to fulfill their own self-professed goal of creating individuals infused with moral sensitivity and societies governed by the highest ethical standards To answer this question Hartman takes a sober look at the moral peaks and valleys of his own tradition Judaism and diagnoses it with clarity

creativity and erudition He rejects both the sweeping denouncements of those who view religion as an inherent impediment to moral progress and the apologetics of fundamentalists who proclaim religion's moral perfection against all evidence to the contrary Hartman identifies the primary source of religion's moral failure in what he terms its autoimmune disease or the way religions so often undermine their own deepest values While God obligates the good and calls us into its service Hartman argues God simultaneously and inadvertently makes us morally blind The nature of this self-defeating condition is that the human religious desire to live in relationship with God often distracts religious believers from their traditions' core moral truths The answer Hartman offers is this: put God second In order to fulfill religion's true vision for humanity, an uncompromising focus on the ethical treatment of others religious believers must hold their traditions accountable to the highest independent moral standards Decency toward one's neighbor must always take precedence over acts of religious devotion and ethical piety must trump ritual piety For as long as devotion to God comes first, responsibility to other people will trail far far behind In this book Judaism serves as a template for how the challenge might be addressed by those of other faiths whose sacred scriptures similarly evoke both the sublime heights of human aspiration and the depths of narcissistic moral blindness In Putting God Second Rabbi Hartman offers a lucid analysis of religion's flaws as well as a compelling resource and vision for its repair
