Secondary Education In Ireland 1870 1921:

Secondary Education in Ireland, 1870-1921 T. J. McElligott, 1981 Secondary Education in Ireland, 1870-1921 T. J. McElligott, 1981 Mass Education and the Limits of State Building, c.1870-1930 L. Brockliss, N. Sheldon, 2012-02-21 The first comparative study of the spread of mass education around the world in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries this unique new book uses a bottom up focus and demonstrates to an extent not appreciated hitherto the gulf between the intentions of the government and the reality on the ground Social change and everyday life in Ireland, 1850-1922 Caitriona Clear, 2013-07-19 Men and women who were born grew up and died in Ireland between 1850 and 1922 made decisions to train to emigrate to stay at home to marry to stay single to stay at school based on the knowledge and resources they had at the time This the first comprehensive social history of Ireland for the years 1850 1922 to appear since 1981 tries to understand that knowledge and to discuss those resources for men and women at all social levels on the island as a whole Original research particularly on extreme poverty and public health is supplemented by neglected published sources local history journals popular autobiography newspapers Folklore and Irish language sources are used extensively All recent scholarly books in Irish social history are of course referred to throughout the book but it is a lively read reproducing the voices of the people and the stories of individuals whenever it can questioning much of the accepted wisdom of Irish historiography over the past five decades Statistics are used from time to time for illustrative purposes but tables and graphs are consigned to the appendix at the back There are some illustrations An idea summary for the student loaded with prompts for future research this book is written in a non cliched jargon free style aimed at the general reader Church, State, and the Control of Schooling in Ireland 1900-1944 E. Brian Titley, 1983 New Turns in the History of Education in Ireland Deirdre Raftery, 2023-06-27 The chapters in this book offer a range of impressive new studies on the history of education in Ireland based on detailed research and drawing on important sources This book also serves to show the healthy state of the history of education in Ireland In particular the book also seeks to understand how both teachers and pupils in Ireland experienced education and how they received education policies and education change The lived reality of education is woven through the chapters in this book while the impact of policy on education practice is illuminated many times and with great clarity This book is a very important contribution not only to the history of education but also more widely to social history women s history church history and political history It was originally published as a special issue of the journal History of Education The Cambridge Social History of Modern Ireland Eugenio F. Biagini, Mary E. Daly, 2017-04-27 Covering three centuries of unprecedented demographic and economic changes this textbook is an authoritative and comprehensive view of the shaping of Irish society at home and abroad from the famine of 1740 to the present day The first major work on the history of modern Ireland to adopt a social history perspective it focuses on the experiences and agency of Irish men women and children Catholics and Protestants and in the North South and the diaspora An international team of leading scholars survey key changes in population the economy occupations property ownership class and migration and also consider the interaction of the individual and the state through welfare education crime and policing Drawing on a wide range of disciplinary approaches and consistently setting Irish developments in a wider European and global context this is an invaluable resource for courses on modern Irish history and Irish studies Irish Education Antonia

McManus,2014-07-07 In this important new work the author analyses the contributions that our Ministers for Education made to the Irish education system between the years 1919 and 1999 Covering the social economic and political realities of the time and taking in the involvement of the OECD what emerges is a picture of how Irish education was shaped and moulded over the course of the twentieth century Growing Up in Nineteenth-Century Ireland Mary

Hatfield,2019-10-03 Why do we send children to school Who should take responsibility for children s health and education Should girls and boys be educated separately or together These questions provoke much contemporary debate but also have a longer often overlooked history Mary Hatfield explores these questions and more in this comprehensive cultural history of childhood in nineteenth century Ireland Many modern ideas about Irish childhood have their roots in the first three quarters of the nineteenth century when an emerging middle class took a disproportionate role in shaping the definition of a good childhood This study deconstructs several key changes in medical care educational provision and ideals of parental care It takes an innovative holistic approach to the middle class child s social world by synthesising a broad base of documentary visual and material sources including clothes books medical treatises religious tracts photographs illustrations and autobiographies It offers invaluable new insights into Irish boarding schools the material culture of childhood and the experience of boys and girls in education The humanities and the Irish university Michael O'Sullivan,2016-05-16 This is the first book length study of the humanities and the Irish university Ireland was a deeply religious country throughout the twentieth century but the colleges of its National University never established a religion or theology department The official first language of Ireland is Irish but the vast majority of teaching in the arts and humanities is in English These are two of the anomalies that long constrained humanities education in Ireland This book charts a history of responses to humanities education in the Irish context Reading the work of John Henry Newman Padraig Pearse Sean O Tuama Denis Donoghue Declan Kiberd Richard Kearney and others it looks for an Irish humanities ethos It compares humanities models in the US France and Asia with those in Ireland in light of work by Immanuel Kant Pierre Bourdieu and Jacques Derrida It should appeal to those interested in Irish education and history
