Wegenstein's groundbreaking formulation is one through which the act of looking at our bodies and those of others is already informed by the techniques, expectations, and strategies often surgical of bodily modification. It is, as Wegenstein says, also a moralizing gaze, a way of looking at bodies as awaiting both physical and spiritual improvement. In The Cosmetic Gaze, Wegenstein charts this synthesis of outer and inner transformation. Wegenstein shows how the cosmetic gaze underlies the rebirth celebrated in today's makeover culture and how it builds upon a body concept that has collapsed into its mediality. In today's beauty discourse on reality TV and Web sites that collect body parts for plastic surgery, we yearn to experience a bettered self that has been reborn from its own flesh and is now itself like a digitally remastered character in a classic Hollywood movie. Wegenstein traces the cosmetic gaze from eighteenth-century ideas about physiognomy through television makeover shows and facial recognition software to cinema, which like our other screens never ceases to show us our bodies as they could be. Drawing life from the very cosmetic gaze it transmits.

Viewfinding Cathy Jean Mullen, Janice Rahn, 2010. This is a collection of essays on the arts, new media, popular culture, and technologies as they influence practices of curriculum development and teaching. The authors, artists, educators, scholars, and researchers with both scholarly and practical expertise share their teaching practices and curriculum knowledge and reflect upon challenging issues in contemporary art, popular culture, new media, and technology. Each chapter proposes pedagogical structures and curriculum resources that can be adapted to diverse school contexts and technical resources. The perspectives gathered in this book reflect ideas drawn from several disciplines, including contemporary art, histories of the arts, culture, and technology, cultural studies, and media studies, as well as various approaches to the study of technologies. Authors also incorporate a range of educational theories and instructional practices, mainly from the visual and performing arts. At times explicit and at others implicit, these wide-ranging conceptual influences inform the varied curriculum and teaching practices described here. Together, these essays and their companion DVD, which illustrates many of these diverse perspectives, provide a comprehensive and thoughtful look at arts-based approaches to new media.

Melbourne scholar Frank Klepner provides a richly detailed history of Bergner's Australian years and provides well-researched and previously unpublished insights into the artist's principal themes. Bergner first exhibited with Arthur Boyd and Noel Counihan in Melbourne in 1939, and from then he developed an increasingly social realist approach to painting. Today he is one of Israel's leading painters, but he continues to visit and exhibit works in Australia.
