Smyth, 2012-01-17 How do Hollywood filmmakers construct and interpret American history Is film's visual historical language inherently different from the traditions of written history. This definitive collection of essays by leading scholars probes the theoretical and historical contexts of films made about the American past from the silent era to the present Exploring issues deeply connected with historical filmmaking from historiography to censorship to race gender and sexuality the book discusses a wide range of films and genres including classics such as The Virginian Gone with the Wind and Citizen Kane This collection is essential reading for anyone interested in studying or researching American history and film Includes essays by Susan Courtney David Culbert Nicholas J Cull Vera Dika David Eldridge Vittorio H sle Marcia Landy Mark W Roche Robert Rosenstone Ian Scott Robert Sklar J E Smyth and Warren I Susman Hollywood and the Military Bureaucracy Bob Herzberg, 2021-04-30 Through a century of movies the U S military held sway over war and service oriented films Influenced by the armed forces and their public relations units Hollywood presented moviegoers with images of a faultless American fighting machine led by heroic commanders This book examines this cooperation with detailed narratives of military blunders and unfit officers that were whitewashed to be presented in a more favorable light Drawing on production files correspondence between bureaucrats and filmmakers and contemporary critical reviews the author reveals the behind the scenes political maneuvers that led to the rewriting of history on screen Hollywood's South Seas and the Pacific War S. Brawley, C. Dixon, 2012-08-06 This book explores the expectations experiences and reactions of Allied servicemen and women who served in the wartime Pacific and viewed the South Pacific through the lens of Hollywood s South Seas Based on extensive archival research it explores the intersections between military experiences and cultural history The naval war film Jonathan Rayner, 2013-07-19 This book undertakes a unique coherent and comprehensive consideration of the depiction of naval warfare in the cinema The films under discussion encompass all areas of naval operations in war and highlight varying institutional and aesthetic responses to navies and the sea in popular culture The examination of these films centres on their similarities to and differences from the conventions of the war genre and seeks to determine whether the distinctive characteristics of naval film narratives justify their categorisation as a separate genre or sub genre in popular cinema The explicit factual bases and drama documentary style of many key naval films such as In Which We Serve They Were Expendable and Das Boot also requires the consideration of these films as texts for popular historical transmission Their frequent reinforcement of establishment views of the past which derives from their conservative ideological position towards national and naval culture makes these films key texts for the consideration of national cinemas as purveyors of contemporary history as popularly conceived by filmmakers and received by audiences Naval Aviation
