Saint Paul Returns To The Movies Triumph Over Shame:

Saint Paul Returns to the Movies Robert Jewett, 1999 After an illuminating chapter on the relation of honor shame and grace in Paul and in the modern cinema Jewett explores these themes as they are depicted in the films The Prince of Tides Babette's Feast Forrest Gump Mr Holland's Opus Groundhog Day Babe Edge of the City The Firm Unforgiven and Shawshank Redemption

Cinema, Black Suffering, and Theodicy Shayne Lee, 2022-01-26 This book explicates how many films intersect black suffering and God talk in ways that instantiate secular limitations to divine efficacy The book's concept of a modern God introduces a new method of analysis that reimagines theodical discourses as mechanisms of modern identities and filmmakers as skillful exegetes who recalibrate divine attributes to the sensemaking cadences of their contemporaries Shayne Lee demonstrates how cinematic theodicy navigates a happy medium between affirming divine benevolence and sidelining supernatural activity and that filmic characters like their real world counterparts are quite clever at triangulating rationality faith and tragedy In addition to positing synergistic links between theodicy and secularity Lee offers critical insights into cinema's relevance to the sociology of evil by specifying how films code and narrate malevolent actions and outcomes demarcate clear lines of distinction between victims and perpetrators clarify societal dynamics driving inequality and oppression and transform individual episodes of suffering into collective and memorialized identities of trauma This book illuminates how filmic treatments of theodicy construct evil and suffering in calculated ways that connect specific acts effects and institutions to greater structures of meaning

About Face Christopher L. Flanders, 2011-03-07 For Thais face is a fact writes Flanders However whether in theology evangelism or issues involving sin salvation or atonement Thai Christians and missionaries alike seem either uninterested in or possibly incapable of addressing issues related to face This glaring incongruity between the value of face for Thais and the lack of intentional engagement within the Thai Christian community is deeply troubling Surely such a lack of careful attention to face is a dangerous posture Uncritical views of face furtively attaching to the theology of the Thai church are potentially detrimental for its life and mission Such seems to be an unavoidable situation without proper attention to face Additionally to ignore face is to run the risk of missing valuable cultural resources implicit in the Thai experience of face for the critical task of authentic Thai theological reflection This lack of engagement with face raises critical issues with which we must wrestle How is it that such a central sociocultural issue has not been a more significant part of the Thai Christian vocabulary or experience How pervasive are these negative attitudes regarding face What lies behind them Might this lack of self-conscious engagement with face have any relationship to the persistent Thai perception of Christianity as a foreign Western religion How should Christians understand this notion of face and how it relates to the ways we understand and proclaim the gospel

Watkins,2008-08-22 In a culture increasingly focused on visual media students have learned not only to embrace multimedia presentations in the classroom but to expect them Such expectations are perhaps more prevalent in a field as dynamic and cross disciplinary as religious studies but the practice nevertheless poses some difficult educational issues the use of movies in academic coursework has far outpaced the scholarship on teaching religion and film What does it mean to utilize film in religious studies and what are the best ways to do it In Teaching Religion and Film an interdisciplinary team of scholars thinks about the theoretical and pedagogical concerns involved with the intersection of film and religion in the classroom They examine the use of film to teach specific religious traditions religious theories and perspectives on fundamental human values Some instructors already teach some version of a film and religion course and many have integrated film as an ancillary to achieving central course goals This collection of essays helps them understand the field better and draws the sharp distinction between merely watching movies in the classroom and comprehending film in an informed and critical way

Now and Then James W. Aageson,2023-08-29 The essays excerpts homilies and personal reflections in this collection have all been published previously publicly presented or both These selections however are not merely being republished but rather recontextualized and resituated with the expectation that they will become more than the sum of their individual parts that they will be mutually informing In most cases a period of time has elapsed since they were first written or spoken and that has given time with the help of reflective memory to think about how these various selections might relate to each other and to the larger body of James W Aageson s professional work as a teacher and scholar These relationships and connections in most cases have only become apparent in retrospect as Aageson has been able to see the larger mosaic of his own work and thinking In some cases he has changed his mind In other cases Aageson s thinking has only been reinforced and expanded But are there conceptual threads that run through the selections in each of the book s three sections Indeed there are For these reasons Aageson is presenting them together here to a new set of readers Religion and Popular Culture in America Bruce David Forbes,Jeffrey H.
