Shades Of Green Business Regulation And Environment:

Shades of Green Neil Gunningham, Robert A. Kagan, Dorothy Thornton, 2003 This in depth study of fourteen pulp manufacturing mills in the United States Canada Australia and New Zealand provides the most extensive and systematic empirical examination to date of the reasons firms achieve the levels of environmental performance that they do Green Ethics and Philosophy Julie Newman, 2011-06-28 Covers the moral relationship between humans and their natural environment specifically targeting the contemporary green movement Encyclopedia of Law and Society David S. Clark, 2007-07-10 This work will be very valuable for academic and public libraries supporting prelaw law social and cultural studies Summing Up Highly recommended Upper level undergraduates through professionals practitioners general readers CHOICE There are two aspects of scholarship about the legal systems of our day that are especially salient one being for the first time there is a fair amount of genuine research on legal systems and two that this research is increasingly global As soon as you cross a jurisdictional line even if it separates countries that are very similar you enter a different legal system It cannot be assumed that any particular rule doctrine or practice is the same in any two jurisdictions regardless of how close these jurisdictions are in terms of history and tradition The Encyclopedia of Law and Society is the largest comprehensive and international treatment of the law and society field With an Advisory Board of 62 members from 20 countries and six continents the three volumes of this state of the art resource represent interdisciplinary perspectives on law from sociology criminology cultural anthropology political science social psychology and economics By globalizing the Encyclopedia s coverage American and international law and society will be better understood within its historical and comparative context Key Features Includes more than 700 biographical entries that are historical comparative topical thematic and methodological Presents the rich diversity of European Latin American Asian African and Australasian developments for the first time in one place to reveal the truly holistic interdisciplinary virtues of law and society Examines how and why legal systems grow and change how and why they respond or fail to respond to their environment how and why they impact the life of society and how and why the life of society impacts in turn these legal systems With borders more porous than ever before this Encyclopedia reflects the paradoxical reality of modern life including legal life This valuable resource aims to present research along with the theories on which it is grounded fairly and comprehensively and is a must have for all academic libraries Law and Corporate Behaviour Christopher Hodges, 2015-10-22 This book examines the theories and practice of how to control corporate behaviour through legal techniques The principal theories examined are deterrence economic rational acting responsive regulation and the findings of behavioural psychology Leading examples of the various approaches are given in order to illustrate the models private enforcement of law through litigation in the USA public enforcement of competition law by the European Commission and the recent reform of policies on public enforcement of regulatory law in the United Kingdom Noting that behavioural psychology has as yet had only limited application in legal and regulatory theory

the book then analyses various European regulatory structures where behavioural techniques can be seen or could be applied. Sectors examined include financial services, civil aviation, pharmaceuticals and workplace health safety. Key findings are that enforcement has to focus on identifying the causes of non compliance so as to be able to support improved performance rather than be based on fear motivating complete compliance. Systems in which reporting is essential for safety only function with a no blame culture. The book concludes by proposing an holistic model for maximising compliance within large organisations combining public regulatory and criminal controls with internal corporate systems and external influences by stakeholders held together by a unified core of ethical principles. Hence the book proposes a new theory of ethical regulation. This title is included in Bloomsbury Professional's International Arbitration online service. The Cambridge Handbook of Compliance Benjamin van Rooij, D. Daniel Sokol, 2021-05-20. Compliance has become key to our contemporary markets, societies and modes of governance across a variety of public and private domains. While this has stimulated a rich body of empirical and practical expertise on compliance, thus far there has been no comprehensive understanding of what compliance is or how it influences various fields and sectors. The academic knowledge of compliance has remained siloed along different disciplinary domains: regulatory and legal spheres and mechanisms and interventions. This handbook bridges these divides to provide the first one stop overview of what compliance is, how we can best study it and the core mechanisms that shape it. Written by leading experts, chapters offer perspectives from across law, regulatory studies, management science, criminology, economics, sociology and psychology. This volume is the definitive and comprehensive account of compliance. Green-lite G. Bruce Doern, Graeme Auld, Christopher Stoney, 2015-11-01. Anchored in the core literature on natural resources, energy production and environmental analysis, Green lite is a critical examination of Canadian environmental policy, governance and politics, drawing out key policy and governance patterns to show that the Canadian story is one of complexity and often weak performance. Making a compelling argument for deeper historical analysis of environmental policy and situating environmental concerns within political and fiscal agendas, the authors provide extended discussions on three relatively new features of environmental policy: the federal cities and urban sustainability regime, the federal municipal infrastructure regime and the regime of agreements with NGOs and businesses that often relegate governments to observing participants rather than being policy leaders. They probe the Harper era's muzzling of environmental science and scientists, Canada's oil sands energy and resource economy and the government's core Alberta and Western Canadian political base. The first book to provide an integrated historical and conceptual examination of Canadian environmental policy over many decades, Green lite captures complex notions of what environmental policy and green agendas seek to achieve in a business dominated economy of diverse energy producing technologies and their pollution harms and risks. Achieving Regulatory Excellence Cary Coglianese, 2016-12-20. Whether striving to protect citizens from financial risks, climate change, inadequate health care or the uncertainties of the emerging sharing economy, regulators must routinely make difficult judgment calls in an effort to meet the conflicting demands that society places on them. Operating within a political climate of competing demands, regulators need a lodestar to help them define and evaluate success. Achieving Regulatory Excellence provides that direction by offering new insights from law, public administration, political science, sociology, and policy sciences on what regulators need to do to improve their performance. Achieving Regulatory Excellence offers guidance from leading international experts about how regulators can set appropriate priorities and make sound evidence-based decisions through processes that are transparent and participatory. With increasing demands for smarter but leaner government, the need for sound regulatory capacity for regulatory excellence has never been stronger. In addition to chapters by editor Cary Coglianese and a foreword by Jim Ellis, president and chief executive officer of the Alberta Energy Regulator, contributors include Robert Baldwin (London School of Economics and Political Science), John Braithwaite (Australian National University), Angus Corbett (University of Pennsylvania), Daniel Esty (Yale University), Adam Finkel (University of Pennsylvania and University of Michigan), Ted Gayer (Brookings Institution), John Graham (Indiana University), Neil Gunningham (Australian National University), Kathryn Harrison (University of British Columbia), Bridget Hutter (London School of Economics and Political Science), Howard Kunreuther (Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania), David Levi-Faur (Hebrew University of Jerusalem), Shelley H. Metzenbaum (Volcker Alliance), Donald P. Moynihan (University of Wisconsin-Madison), Paul R. Noe (American Forest and Paper Association), Gaurav Vasisht (Volcker Alliance), David Vogel (University of California, Berkeley), and Wendy Wagner (University of Texas School of Law).

Pesticide Law and Compliance Decision Making Huiqi Yan, 2017-08-10. This book investigates pesticide compliance in China in order to provide a more comprehensive understanding of compliance and offers some feasible and adaptable suggestions for enhancing the effectiveness of this compliance. It discusses the weak implementation of Chinese laws and rules and emphasizes the necessity and importance of a compliance perspective in China that focuses on why laws are obeyed or broken. It examines how vegetable farmers' perceptions of amoral calculation affect their pesticide compliance behavior and analyzes how the legitimacy of law is related to compliance to better explain how all the variables interact to shape compliance. It discusses both qualitative and quantitative methods and uses a large N qualitative approach which allows for systematic analysis and in-depth exploration. This book will help readers to understand compliance in developing China by adopting and developing compliance theories which are broadly developed in the West.

Hazardous Waste and Pollution Tanya Wyatt, 2015-10-12. This volume examines crimes that violate environmental regulations as part of an emerging area of criminology known as green criminology. The contributions to this book examine criminal justice concerns related to regulating and enforcing environmental laws as well as the consequences for families and communities impacted by hazardous waste and pollution. It also describes possible strategies for deterring and preventing organized crime related to environmental regulations, including black market sales of ozone-depleting substances. This innovative volume provides a criminological framework for understanding environmental harms Examining cases from the US Europe and Australia this volume compares and contrasts international approaches for regulating hazardous substances and enforcing those regulations This work will be of interest to researchers in criminology and criminal justice particularly interested in green criminology or environmental law as well as researchers in environmental sciences white collar and corporate crime and policymakers

Reflexive Governance for Global Public Goods Eric Brousseau, Tom Dedeurwaerdere, Bernd Siebenhüner, 2012 Global public goods GPGs the economic term for a broad range of goods and services that benefit everyone including stable climate public health and economic security pose notable governance challenges At the national level public goods are often provided by government but at the global level there is no established state like entity to take charge of their provision The complex nature of many GPGs poses additional problems of coordination knowledge generation and the formation of citizen preferences This book considers traditional public economy theory of public goods provision as oversimplified because it is state centered and fiscally focused It develops a multidisciplinary look at the challenges of understanding and designing appropriate governance regimes for different types of goods in such areas as the environment food security and development assistance The chapter authors all leading scholars in the field explore the misalignment between existing GPG policies and actors incentives and understandings They analyze the complex impact of incentives the involvement of stakeholders in collective decision making and the specific coordination needed for the generation of knowledge The book shows that governance of GPGs must be democratic reflexive emphasizing collective learning processes and knowledge based in order to be effective

The Art and Craft of International Environmental Law Daniel Bodansky, Harro van Asselt, 2024 In countless ways we are affected by international environmental norms some social others legal some quite general others very specific For example the norms limiting the refrigerants used in air conditioners have been agreed upon in legal form internationally and are mandated and enforced by national governments The sustainable fishery and forestry standards used by Carrefour and Ikea were developed more informally by environmental groups and businesses and are applied to producers through supply chain contracts without any government involvement The reluctance to eat tuna fish or own elephant ivory reflects more general social norms disseminated through education and culture How and why do these norms arise In what ways do they affect behavior Do they change what states and individuals actually do and if so why How effective are they in solving international environmental problems In the second edition of The Art and Craft of International Environmental Law Daniel Bodansky and Harro van Asselt explore these and other questions Revisions cover the numerous developments spanning the 13 years since the first edition was published New chapters address the growing role of environmental NGOs and the increasingly complex architecture of environmental law involving multiple institutions levels of governance and actors Recent research has been incorporated on treaty design and policy implementation and effectiveness and greater attention has been given to the role of the judiciary in standard setting implementation and enforcement A sophisticated yet highly readable introduction to how international environmental law works and sometimes doesn't work this book is essential reading for a wide audience

Green Crimes and Dirty Money Toine Spapens, Rob White, Daan van Uhm, Wim Huisman, 2018-05-30 Environmental crimes are primarily driven by financial motives The combined financial value of illicit trade in protected wildlife illegal logging and waste trafficking is estimated to come directly after counterfeiting the narcotic drugs trade and illegal gambling Logically the proceeds of these crimes must also be laundered Goods however are not the only money maker for environmental criminals Corporations may also try to save costs by not complying with environmental regulations and thus commit crimes of omission rather than commission From an enforcement and compliance perspective focusing on the proceeds of crime may therefore be an effective strategy This book brings together different perspectives on the financial aspects of environmental crime and harm from a green criminological viewpoint It addresses the role of economic systems the value of environmental performance for corporations money laundering in the context of environmental crime financial investigation and questions of regulation and penalties Discussing these topics from the view of green criminology sociology and governance this book will be of great interest to all those concerned about the financial dimensions of crime and the environment
