Saga Companion:

Companion Species Mathilde van Dijk, 2024-11-28 This book explores the connection between saints and animals and how the power over animals has been a characteristic of saints from their beginnings in the Early Church The connection between saints and humans is examined with the saint as a human rising beyond humanity touching the divine and the non human animal as a creature which is connected to and yet removed from humanity and which may have a connection to the sacred itself This volume transcends traditional religious boundaries by including Christian saints as well as similar figures in Islam and Norse religions It operates on the cusp of two exciting and innovative fields hagiographic and animal studies It shows the complexities of human animal interaction and the sacred authorities clashing with experiential knowledge metaphorical animals as opposed to real animals ranging from helpers or opponents of saints disguises of demons or identity markers of a human community Companion Species will be of value to scholars and students interested in medieval history Europe and religion as well as social and cultural history

The Origins of Beowulf Richard North,2007-02-08 This book suggests that the Old English epic Beowulf was composed in the winter of 826 7 as a requiem for King Beornwulf of Mercia on behalf of Wiglaf the ealdorman who succeeded him The place of composition is given as the minster of Breedon on the Hill in Leicestershire now Derbyshire and the poet is named as the abbot Eanmund As well as pinpointing the poem s place and date of composition Richard North raises some old questions relating to the poet's influences from Vergil and from living Danes. Norse analogues are discussed in order to identify how the poet changed his heroic sources while four episodes from Beowulf are shown to be reworked from passages in Vergil's Aeneid. One chapter assesses how the poem's Latin sources might correspond with what is known of Beowulf's now lost library while another seeks to explain Danish mythology in Beowulf by arguing that Beowulf hosted a meeting with Danish Vikings in 809. This fascinating and challenging new study combines careful detective work with meticulous literary analysis to form a case that no future investigation will be able to ignore. Remembering England:

Cultural Memory in the Sagas of Icelanders Matthew Firth, 2025-03-18 This book provides an in-depth study of depictions of England in the Saga of Icelanders, examining their utility as sources for the history of Viking Age Anglo-Scandinavian cultural contact. The sagas present themselves as histories but they are difficult historical sources. Their setting is the Saga Age, a period that begins with the settlement of Iceland in the late ninth century and ends along with the Viking Age in the late eleventh century; however, the saga texts are disconnected from this setting, having first been written down in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries. This book traces the transmission and development of Icelandic cultural memory of Saga Age England across this distance of centuries. It offers case study analyses of how historical time, place, cultures, and events are adapted and conceptualised in the sagas and suggests methodological approaches to their study as historical literature. Remembering England is an interdisciplinary book that will appeal to scholars and students of the history of pre-Norman England, the Icelandic sagas, medieval literature, and cultural memory. The Vampire

Sections by topic list works covering various aspects, including general sources, folklore and history, vampires in literature, music, and art, metaphorical vampires, and the contemporary vampire community. Vampires from film and television from Bela Lugosi's Dracula to Buffy the Vampire Slayer, True Blood, and the Twilight Saga are well represented. The Dawn of Modern Geography Charles Raymond Beazley, 1906 A Companion to Byzantium and the West, 900-1204, 2021-12-06 The eighteen chapters of this book explore the complex history of exchange between Byzantium and the Latin West over a period of more than three hundred years, with a focus on the political, ecclesiastical, and cultural spheres. Besides outlining the history of competition and collaboration between two empires in medieval Europe, a range of regional approaches stretching from England to the Crusader kingdoms offer insights into the many aspects of Byzantine-Latin contact and exchange. Further sections explore patterns of mutual perception, linguistic and material dimensions of the contacts, as well as the role played by various groups of cultural brokers such as ambassadors, merchants, monks, and Jewish communities. Contributors are Axel Bayer, Saskia D. Nitz, Nicolas Drocourt, Leonie Exarchos, Daniel F. Ller, Christian Gastgeber, Hans Werner Goetz, Dominik Heher.
