Graybill, 2013-10-07 Winner of the Labriola Center American Indian National Book Award One of the American West's bloodiest and least known massacres is searingly re-created in this generation-spanning history of native-white intermarriage At dawn on January 23, 1870, four hundred men of the Second U.S. Cavalry attacked and butchered a Piegan camp near the Marias River in Montana in one of the worst slaughters of Indians by American military forces in U.S. history Coming to avenge the murder of their father, a former fur trader named Malcolm Clarke, who had been killed four months earlier by their Piegan mother's cousin, Clarke's own two sons joined the cavalry in a slaughter of many of their own relatives In this groundbreaking work of American history, Andrew R. Graybill places the Marias Massacre within a larger three-generation saga of the Clarke family, particularly illuminating the complex history of native-white intermarriage in the American Northwest

American West Karen R. Jones, 2009-03-21 The American West used to be a story of gunfights, glory, wagon trails, and linear progress Historians such as Frederick Jackson Turner and Hollywood movies such as Stagecoach (1939) and Shane (1953) cast the trans-Mississippi region as a frontier of epic proportions where savagery met civilization and boys became men During the late 1980s, this old way of seeing the West came under heavy fire Scholars such as Patricia Nelson Limerick and Richard White forged a fresh story of the region, a new vision of the West based around the conquest of peoples and landscapes This book explores the bipolar world of Turner's Old West and Limerick's New West and reveals the values and ambiguities associated with both historical traditions Sections on Lewis and Clark, the frontier, and the cowboy sit alongside work on Indian genocide and women's trail diaries Images of the region as seen through the arcade Western, Hollywood film, and Disney theme parks confirm the West as a symbolic and contested landscape Tapping into popular fascination with the Cowboy, Hollywood movies, the Indian Wars, and Custer's Last Stand, the authors show the reader how to deconstruct the imagery and reality surrounding Western history

Key Features: Uses popular subjects: the Cowboy, Hollywood westerns, the Indian Wars, and Custer's Last Stand to enliven the text Includes 13 b/w illustrations

Interdisciplinary approach: covers film, literature, art, and historical artefacts
