Feminist Research Peta Tancred-Sheriff, 1988-10-01 The six parts of Feminist Research Prospect and Retrospect parallel the female life cycle highlighting themes such as the increasing power of medical definitions of female experience including conception pregnancy childbirth and the nature of depression in women New perspectives are offered on the specificity of the female approach to both learning and teaching and are emphasized in considering problems such as dealing with alcohol abuse and wife battering For example Margaret Eichler opens the initial section Reproduction and Maternity with an analysis of the new reproductive technologies Making use of interviews and quantitative material Ann Qu nairt and Jane Gordon take up the theme of the medicalization of reproduction suggesting that it has encouraged women to see the foetus as taking priority over the needs of the mother during pregnancy This section is completed by Martin

Thomas interesting approach to gender distribution Feminist Research Prospect and Retrospect offers a thorough look at the problems of women today suggesting that society is encountering a period of strong reaction to the feminist movement of the late sixties and early seventies Marguerite Anderson argues that only the dynamite of research will allow construction of a positive route forward This collection includes essays in both English and French

Agencies in Feminist Translator Studies Elena Castellano-Ortolà,2024-04-16 This book sets out a new framework for a feminist history of translators drawing on the legacy of Canadian scholar Barbara Godard and her work in establishing the Canadian literary landscape as a means of exploring agency in feminist translation studies and its implications for cross disciplinary debates The volume is organised in three sections establishing feminist translator studies as its own approach examining these dynamics at work in a comprehensive portrait of Barbara Godard s scholarly and literary history and looking ahead to future directions In situating the discussion on Godard and Canadian literary history Elena Castellano calls attention to a geographic context in which translation and its practice has been at the heart of debates around national identity and intersected with the rise of feminism and feminist literary scholarship The book demonstrates how an in depth exploration of the agency of an individual stakeholder whose activities spanned diverse communities and oft conflicting interests can engage in key questions at the intersection of nation making translation and feminism paving the way for future research and the further development of feminist translator studies as methodological framework This book will be of interest to scholars in translation studies feminist literature cultural history and Canadian literature
