Professional Journal of the United States Army ,1981 Military Review ,1981 Quarterly Review of Military Literature ,1981 The Galleon Peter Kirsch,1990 Small United States and United Nations Warships in the Korean War Paul M. Edwards,2015-01-28 From rubber landing boats to picket boats to minesweepers smaller support vessels did much of the work of the Korean War and endured many of the dangers and hardships Rarely mentioned in histories of the war they served functions essential to keeping the United States Navy and the United Nations partners in active duty This volume delivers an overview of the various kinds of vessels involved the difficulties of mobilizing the aging American fleet at a time when a significant downsizing had been expected and the design and specification considerations of the support vessels needed for the new war effort It lists the individual support vessels and details the degree of their involvement often providing photographs as well as comments from men who served aboard the ships On the Ocean Sir Barry Cunliffe,2017-12-15 For humans the sea is and always has been an alien environment Ever moving and ever changing in mood it is a place without time in contrast to the land which is fixed and scarred by human activity giving it a visible history While the land is familiar even reassuring the sea is unknown and threatening By taking to the sea humans put themselves at its mercy It has often been perceived to be an alien power teasing and cajoling The sea may give but it takes Why then did humans become seafarers Part of the answer is that we are conditioned by our genetics to be acquisitive animals we like to acquire rare materials and we are eager for esoteric knowledge and society rewards us well for both Looking out to sea most will be curious as to what is out there a mysterious island perhaps but what lies beyond Our innate inquisitiveness drives us to explore Barry Cunliffe looks at the development of seafaring on the Mediterranean and the Atlantic two contrasting seas the Mediterranean without a significant tide enclosed and soon to become familiar the Atlantic with its frightening tidal ranges an ocean without end We begin with the Middle Palaeolithic hunter gatherers in the eastern Mediterranean building simple vessels to make their remarkable crossing to Crete and we end in the early years of the sixteenth century with sailors from Spain Portugal and England establishing the limits of the ocean from Labrador to Patagonia The message is that the contest between humans and the sea has been a driving force perhaps the driving force in human history On the Ocean Barry W. Cunliffe,2017 The story of the contest between humans and the sea played out in the Mediterranean and the Atlantic from early prehistory until AD 1500 Dictionary of American Naval Fighting Ships: Historical sketches ,1963

Sea Breezes, 1927 Late Medieval Ipswich Nicholas R. Amor, 2011 A detailed study of Ipswich at a time of great growth and prosperity highlighting the activities of its industries merchants and craftsmen Ipswich in the late Middle Ages was a flourishing town A wide range of commodities passed through its port to and from far flung markets bought and sold by merchants from diverse backgrounds and carried in ships whose design evolved during the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries Its trading partners both domestic and overseas changed in response to developments in the international national and local economy as did the occupations of its craftsmen with textile leather and metal industries were of particular importance However despite its importance and the richness of its medieval archives the story of Ipswich at the time has been sadly neglected This is a gap which the author here aims to remedy His careful study allows a detailed picture of urban life to emerge shedding new light not only on the borough itself but on towns more generally at a crucial point in their development at a period of growing affluence when ordinary people enjoyed an unprecedented rise in standards of living and the benefits of what might be termed our first consumer revolution Nicholas Amor gained his doctorate from the University of East Anglia Dictionary of American Naval Fighting Ships ,1991
