Messengers Of The Gods:

Three Messengers for One God Roger Arnaldez, 1994 In this text Arnaldez approaches the three monotheisms from the vantage point of the believer and the necessary specificity of faith While such an approach inevitably produces irreducible dogmatic differences the traditions themselves suggest a point of convergence Arnaldez demonstrates that each tradition mandates in its own way and according to its own history that believers interiorize their faith They thereby proclaim that the faith of the authentic believer is rooted within what is called the heart Those Jews Christians and Muslims who have most radically pursued this inner life are the mystics and their writings reveal an understanding of the heart that transcends differences of dogma without abolishing these differences

Among the Host of Heaven Lowell K. Handy, 1994 During the past two generations there have been many studies on the structure organization and function of the gods of the Levantine and ancient Near Eastern worlds In this important study Lowell Handy provides new directions for thinking on this crucial topic arguing that the structure of the pantheon worshiped in Syria Palestine mirrored the social structure of the city states in that region While many recent studies have investigated the relations of the gods in both biblical and extra biblical texts from the area Handy shows that the pantheon functioned as a bureaucracy This perspective may well be the primary key for understanding hierarchy among the gods
