Nacho Sub as whose personal contribution to our knowledge of this geology was outstanding The Settlement of the Chonos Archipelago, Western Patagonia, Chile Omar Reyes, 2020-10-19 This book describes an archaeological investigation of human occupation in the northern area of the Patagonian archipelago in the far south of South America It is of global anthropological and archaeological interest dealing as it does with an archipelago characterised by a maze of islands fiords channels volcanoes and continental glaciers in an area which is still very sparsely inhabited with only scattered settlements It was one of the last parts of the continent to be populated by man with the arrival of marine hunter gatherer fishers The arrival of human beings in this area and their subsistence strategies in varied environments constitute a new example of man's ability to adapt over the course of his history It is also of interest to document how humans overcome some biogeographical barriers to occupy territories and how other kinds of barrier restrict movement and access to other regions leaving certain human groups isolated Two hunter gatherer traditions one marine and one pedestrian with very different cultural development processes coexisted in this part of Patagonia separated by less than 100 km of mountains volcanoes and glaciers There is no evidence of contact between them over their whole time sequence on the contrary the archaeological and bioanthropological evidence indicates two independent axes of movement one used by canoe groups along the Pacific coast and the other by pedestrian groups in the interior of the continent east of the Andes Patagonia Colin McEwan, Luis A. Borrero, Alfredo Prieto, 2014-07-14 Some fourteen to ten thousand years ago as ice caps shrank and glaciers retreated the first bands of hunter gatherers began to colonize the continental extremity of South America the uttermost end of the earth Their arrival marked the culmination of humankind's epic journey to people the globe Now they are extinct This book tells their story The book describes how these intrepid nomads confronted a hostile climate every bit as forbidding as ice age Europe as they penetrated and settled the wilds of Fuego Patagonia Much later sixteenth century European voyagers encountered their descendants the Aikenk southern Tehuelche Selk'nam Ona Ymana Yahgan and Kawashekar Alacaluf living as the Europeans saw it in a state of savagery The first contacts led to tales of a race of giants and ever since Patagonia has exerted a special hold on the European imagination Tragically by the mid twentieth century the last remnants of the indigenous way of life had disappeared for ever The essays in this volume trace a largely unwritten history of human adaptation survival and eventual extinction Accompanied by 110 striking photographs they are published to accompany a major exhibition on Fuego Patagonia at the Museum of Mankind London The contributors are Gillian Beer Luis Alberto Borrero Anne Chapman Chalmers M Clapperton Andrew P Curren Jean Paul Duviols Mateo Martinic B Robert D McCulloch Colin McEwan Francisco Mena L Alfredo Prieto Jorge Rabassa and Michael Taussig Originally published in 1998 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905
