The Lost Lionesses Gail Emms, 2024-09-26 Inspiring. After reading this book I'm ready to run through a brick wall for these girls. Karen Bardsley ex Lioness. A captivating and moving account of the first England women's football team that took part in the 1971 World Cup, detailing the injustice faced by those who took part and its effect on the women's game as a whole. Told by the team themselves and written by the celebrity daughter of the main striker. Don't laugh, one day there may be a female Arsenal. One headline read amidst the ridicule following the First Women's World Cup in 1971. The spotlight was on the original lionesses, a diverse group of schoolgirls, bank clerks and telephonists primarily hailing from Chiltern Valley football club run by a 60-year-old multilingual bus driver called Harry. These amateur girls emerged as England's first women's football team at the 1971 World Cup in Mexico, only to face scorn once returned home. They were mocked by the press and their achievements were undermined. Players were banned for three months to two years if they tried to play with another team. The heroes had been punished. But the time has come to tell their truth. Narrated by the daughter of one of the team members, Janice Barton, with unprecedented access to the secrets and insights of the first ever women's team, this is a multi-generational story celebrating the power of a group of women who refused to accept the status quo, revealing how the events of 1971 shaped mother and daughter's lives both personally and professionally. 50 years later, Gail, her mother and the rest of the team are ready to tell their story and share the legacy of the lost lionesses.

Lost and Found Judith Masson, Christine Harrison, Annie Pavlovic, 2019-08-08 First published in 1999, this volume is a collection of essays focused on the theme of partnership with parents in social work practice with children and families. It covers issues relating to the quality of care and preparation for aftercare, particularly children's identity needs and preparation for life after care, which are highlighted in the Quality Protects programme. It developed from an action research project funded by the Joseph Rowntree Foundation and conducted by the editors at Warwick University between 1993 and 1996. Through teaching activities associated with the implementation of the Children Act 1989 the editors became aware that there were many parents who had lost contact with both their child and their child's social workers after their child had entered the care system. These were the lost parents of the study. Partnership with parents has become an integral part of social work with children and families living together or apart. Inevitably it concerns many other people involved in the care of children and providing advice to individuals. Partnership permeates all aspects of relationships between parents, children and those providing care in place of parents. Consequently the issues discussed in this book are of relevance to all those working directly or indirectly with children, parents and other relatives. Amongst these are social workers, family placement workers, carers and residential workers, team managers and policy makers in local authority social services departments, guardians ad litem, court welfare officers and lawyers acting for children or parents, children's rights officers and advisers working in voluntary agencies which support families and children.
