The Chinese of Indonesia and Their Search for Identity Aimee Dawis, 2009 This book examines how the Indonesian Chinese who were born after 1966 negotiate meanings about their culture and identity through their collective memory of growing up in a restrictive media environment that specifically curtailed Chinese language and culture The restrictive media environment was the result of a series of policies administered during the Suharto era 1965-1998 According to the regulations the Indonesian government closed all Chinese language schools and prohibited the use of Chinese characters in public places the import of Chinese language publications and all public forms and expressions of Chinese culture In the past century and particularly in the past decade much attention has been given to China and its rising status as a world economic power Scholarship on overseas Chinese has also shed light on their relationship with their mythic homeland China In their work scholars discovered that the Chinese of Southeast Asia have created a prominent economic political and cultural presence in countries such as Indonesia Malaysia and Singapore In the 1960s scholars such as George Kahin Ruth McVey and Benedict Anderson were drawn to the political upheavals in Indonesia and the various roles that the Chinese of Indonesia have played in the economic political and cultural arenas of their country In later years Charles Coppel and Leo Suryadinata have published extensively on various aspects of the Chinese in Indonesia such as their religious affiliations and education Despite the considerable attention given to the Chinese of Indonesia scholars have not specifically studied through the lens of the media how a certain group of Chinese Indonesians grew up in a restrictive media and cultural environment during the 33 years when Indonesia was ruled by Suharto This book takes the first step in examining this generation's collective memory of growing up in a state controlled environment that has had a significant impact on their identity formation maintenance and the re negotiation of Chineseness in their everyday lives This book will appeal especially to media cultural studies and Southeast Asian studies scholars researchers and students

Something Untoward Cyndiann Lewis Walcott, 2016-11-29 The Heart Sees is about a woman June Mitchel waking up in what she thinks is a utopic dream This dream turns out to be the bed of stranger who is apparently not that much of a stranger It takes a while for her to realize that she met this stranger Alrick Samson the evening before Alrick Samson is someone she should not have been with that night and someone she definitely cannot be with in the future because of her many other relationships However the morning after is not the end of their affair and neither was the evening before the beginning of their acquaintance The only trouble is that she does not know it and Alrick delights in the act of torturing her about what role he played in her life thus far For the most part she does not believe him but Alrick finds ways to make her swing back and forth between submission and defiance She is on this teeter totter because she can t remember anything about the evening how she seduced him or vise versa or why her heart seem to intent on having him to herself especially when he seemed so determined to love someone else Did her heart see something that only time would tell The story helps sort out this conundrum The Swan-song of "Who's Looney Now?". John Armstrong Chalonier,1914
