The Pollinator Victory Garden Kim Eierman, 2020-01-07 The passion and urgency that inspired WWI and WWII Victory Gardens is needed today to meet another threat to our food supply and our environment the steep decline of pollinators The Pollinator Victory Garden offers practical solutions for winning the war against the demise of these essential animals Pollinators are critical to our food supply and responsible for the pollination of the vast majority of all flowering plants on our planet Pollinators include not just bees but many different types of animals including insects and mammals Beetles bats birds butterflies moths flies and wasps can be pollinators But many pollinators are in trouble and the reality is that most of our landscapes have little to offer them Our residential and commercial landscapes are filled with vast green pollinator deserts better known as lawns These monotonous green expanses are ecological wastelands for bees and other pollinators With The Pollinator Victory Garden you can give pollinators a fighting chance Learn how to transition your landscape into a pollinator haven by creating a habitat that includes pollinator nutrition larval host plants for butterflies and moths and areas for egg laying nesting sheltering overwintering resting and warming Find a wealth of information to support pollinators while improving the environment around you The importance of pollinators and the specific threats to their survival How to provide food for pollinators using native perennials trees and shrubs that bloom in succession Detailed profiles of the major pollinator types and how to attract and support each one Tips for creating and growing a Pollinator Victory Garden including site assessment planning and planting goals Project ideas like pollinator islands enriched landscape edges revamped foundation plantings meadowscapes and other pollinator friendly lawn alternatives The time is right for a new gardening movement Every yard community garden rooftop porch patio commercial and municipal landscape can help to win the war against pollinator decline with The Pollinator Victory Garden

Cultivating Sacred Space Elizabeth Murray, 1997 Linda Greenlaw hadn't been blue water fishing for ten years since the great events chronicled in The Perfect Storm and The Hungry Ocean when an old friend offered her the captaincy on his boat Seahawk for a season of swordfishing She took the bait of course and thus opened a new chapter in a life that had already seen enough adventure for three lifetimes The Seahawk turns out to be the rustiest of buckets with sprung busted and ancient equipment guaranteed to fail at any critical moment Life is never dull out on the Grand Banks and no one is better at capturing the flavor and details of the wild ride that is swordfishing from the technical complexities of longline fishing and the nuances of reading the weather and waves to the sheer beauty of the open water The trip is full of surprises a bit harder and saltier than I had hoped for but none more unexpected than when the boat's lines inadvertently drift across the Canadian border and she lands in jail Seaworthy is about nature human and other about learning what you can control and what you do when fate takes matters out of your control It's about how a middle aged woman who sets a high bar for herself copes with challenge and change and frustration about the struggle to succeed or fail on your own terms and above all about learning how to find your true self when you're caught between land and sea

,1993-10 Earth Repair Marcus Hall,2005 Just as the restoration of Michelangelo s Last Judgment sparked enormous controversy in the art world so are environmental restorationists intensely divided when it comes to finding ways to rehabilitate damaged ecosystems Although environmental restoration is quickly becoming a widespread pursuit debate over the methods and goals of this endeavor often halts progress The same question confronts artistic and environmental restorationists Which systems need restoring and to what states should they be restored In Earth Repair A Transatlantic History of Environmental Restoration Marcus Hall explores the answer to this question while offering an alternative to the usual narrative of humans disrupting and spoiling the earth Hall s purpose is not to deny that humans have done lasting damage but to show that those who believed in restoration did not always agree on what they wanted to restore or how or to what form With guidance from the pioneer conservationist George Perkins Marsh the reader travels between the United States and Italy to see that restoration has taken many forms over the past two hundred years from maintaining and repairing to gardening and naturalizing By contrasting land management in these two countries and elsewhere Earth Repair clarifies different meanings of restoration shows how such meanings have changed through time and place and suggests how restorationists can apply these insights to their own practices
