Photography in Africa Richard Vokes, 2012 Gives an ethnographic account of the complexities of the use of photography in Africa both historically and in contemporary practice This collection of studies in African photography examines through a series of empirically rich historical and ethnographic cases the variety of ways in which photographs are produced circulated and engaged across a range of social contexts In so doing it elucidates the distinctive characteristics of African photographic practices and cultures vis vis those of other forms of vernacular photography worldwide In addition these studies develop a reflexive turn examining the history of academic engagement with these African photographic cultures and reflecting on the distinctive qualities of the ethnographic method as a means for studying such phenomena The volume critically engages current debates in African photography and visual anthropology First it extends our understanding of the variety of ways in which both colonial and post colonial states in Africa have used photography as a means for establishing and projecting their authority Second it moves discussion of African photography away from an exclusive focus on the role of the studio and looks at the circulations through which the studio's products the photographs themselves later pass as artefacts of material culture Last it makes an important contribution to our understanding of the relationship between photography and ethnographic research methods as these have been employed in Africa RICHARD VOKES is Senior Lecturer in Anthropology and Development Studies at the University of Adelaide Australia and author of Ghosts of Kanungu

The Framed World David Picard, Mike Robinson, 2016-12-05 Photographs create visual narratives of experiences places peoples and objects that collectively and individually comprise the tourist gaze Photography is acknowledged as having an important role in the determining of places and spaces the construction and re construction of identities and the invention and re invention of histories So why do tourists take photos of certain things and not of others Why do tourists take photos at all How do photos build places how do they change and shape lives An interdisciplinary team of contributors from across the globe explore such questions as they examine the relationships between photography and tourism and tourists African Thresholds: Borders and Places of Passage in Africa, c.1450 to Present, 2025-06-19 The Open Access publication of this book has been made possible by the Swiss National Science Foundation What is a border and why does it exist Reappraising a key idea from Arnold van Gennep's Les rites de passage this book argues that a border is a threshold a limen made to be crossed African Thresholds studies places of passage spanning from the riverine networks of Senegambia to border making in colonial Gold Coast and Côte d'Ivoire from the desert roads of central southern Africa to river heartlands in colonial Togo from flows of cowrie shells across the Volta River to insurgent borderities in the Lake Chad In a time when state borders are increasingly shut this book aims to show us that a border is made by those who cross it as much as by those who stand by it Contributors are Ettore Morelli Fernando Mouta Pierluigi Valsecchi Mar a Jos Pont Ch fer Giulia Casentini and Aim Raoul

Sumo Tayo The Market Photo Workshop in South Africa and the 'Born Free' Generation Julie Bonzon, 2023-09-15 This study presents the history of the Market Photo Workshop MPW in Johannesburg and works produced by its new generation of photography students Founded in 1989 by internationally renowned documentary photographer David Goldblatt the MPW has reflected upon South African political struggles and sociocultural changes since its creation Its foundation parallels a moment in time when photography was considered a truth telling genre and an essential source of documents deployed against the apartheid regime This book reflects on the evolution of the MPW in the post apartheid era and explores how its new generation of students engages the photographic tradition of this institution and the revolutionary times that accompanied its creation to question their present moment The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history visual studies photography African studies cultural studies and post colonial studies Black Imagination and the Middle Passage Maria Diedrich, Henry Louis Gates (Jr.), Carl Pedersen, 1999 This volume of essays examines the forced dispossession of the Middle Passage through the texts religious rites economic exchanges dance and music it elicited both on the liminal transatlantic journey and on the continent and eventual return Passages Sam Okoth Opondo, Michael J. Shapiro, 2024-06-11 Passages On geo analysis and the aesthetics of precarity is a multi genre and transdisciplinary text addressing themes such as colonialism nuclear zones of abandonment migration control regimes transnational domestic work the biocolonial hostilities of the hospitality industry legal precarities behind the international criminal justice regime the shadow worlds of the African soccerscape and immunity regimes related to the COVID 19 pandemic This book invites inquiry into today s apocalyptic narratives humanitarian reason and international criminal justice regimes as well as the precarity generated by citizen time and consulate time The aesthetic breaks emerging from the book s image text montage draw attention to the ethics of encounter and passage that challenges colonial domestic and nation statist sovereignty regimes of inattention The Baha'i Faith in Africa Anthony Lee, 2011-10-28 In 1952 there were probably fewer than 200 Baha is in all of Africa Today the Baha i community claims one million followers on the continent Yet the Baha i presence in Africa has been all but ignored in academic studies up to now This is the first monograph that addresses the establishment of this New Religious Movement in Africa Discovering an African presence at the genesis of the religion in Iran this study seeks to explain why the movement found an appeal in colonial Africa during the 1950s and early 1960 It also explores how the Baha i faith was influenced and Africanized by its new converts Finally the book seeks to make sense of the diverse and contradictory American Iranian British and African elements that established a new religion in Africa Women and Photography in Apartheid South Africa Marie Meyerding, 2025-04-29 Tracing the lives and works of five women in four case studies author Marie Meyerding examines the representation of women in the field of photography in South Africa in the second half of the twentieth century All of them are critically understudied with no existing scholarship dedicated exclusively to their photographic contributions Focusing on the representation of women on two different levels as agents behind the camera and as subjects in photographs it showcases women photographers portraying their female contemporaries and analyses to what extent they adhered to or subverted common forms of gender representation In recuperating their forgotten archives the book argues that none of these women are marginal figures but rather that each of them played a leading role in the field of photography in their own time The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history history of photography gender studies intersectionality and African studies

Dreams of Africa in Alabama Sylviane A. Diouf, 2009-02-18 In the summer of 1860 more than fifty years after the United States legally abolished the international slave trade 110 men women and children from Benin and Nigeria were brought ashore in Alabama under cover of night They were the last recorded group of Africans deported to the United States as slaves Timothy Meaher an established Mobile businessman sent the slave ship the Clotilda to Africa on a bet that he could bring a shipful of niggers right into Mobile Bay under the officers noses He won the bet This book reconstructs the lives of the people in West Africa recounts their capture and passage in the slave pen in Ouidah and describes their experience of slavery alongside American born enslaved men and women After emancipation the group reunited from various plantations bought land and founded their own settlement known as African Town They ruled it according to customary African laws spoke their own regional language and when giving interviews insisted that writers use their African names so that their families would know that they were still alive The last survivor of the Clotilda died in 1935 but African Town is still home to a community of Clotilda descendants The publication of Dreams of Africa in Alabama marks the 200th anniversary of the abolition of the transatlantic slave trade Winner of the Wesley Logan Prize of the American Historical Association 2007
