Encyclopedia of Human Relationships Harry T. Reis,2009-03-25 This encyclopedia provides a structure to understand the essential rudiments of human behaviour and interpersonal relationships Affect and Social Behavior Bert S.

Moore, Alice M. Isen, 1990-03-30 Affect and Social Behavior first published in 1990 provides a comprehensive and integrative examination of research and theory into the role that emotion plays in influencing social behavior. The contributors investigate a number of important domains such as aggression, altruism, romantic attraction, and consumer behavior, and the role that affect plays in instigating and regulating these behaviors. The chapters were written by some of the most prominent researchers in the field, and they provide a review of research and theory in this important area of study. Exploring the Dimensions of Human Sexuality Jerrold Greenberg, Clint Bruess, Sarah Conklin, 2010-03-10 Exploring the Dimensions of Human Sexuality Fourth Edition addresses all aspects of sexuality: biological, spiritual, psychological, and sociocultural, and presents the information both factually and impartially. Throughout the text, students will find an emphasis on health and well-being based on the assumption that we are all sexual beings and that sexuality should be viewed in its totality. Students are encouraged to explore the varied dimensions of human sexuality and see how each affects their own personal sexuality, sexual health, and sexual responsibility. The Science of Romantic Relationships Theresa DiDonato, Brett Jakubiak, 2023-08-31 Following the lifecycle of romantic relationships, this textbook offers a fresh, diversity-infused introduction to relationship science. The Psychology of Passion Dr. Robert J. Vallerand, 2015-05-01 Winner of the 2017 APA William James Book Award. The concept of passion is one we regularly use to describe our interests, and yet there is no broad theory that can explain the development and consequences of passion for activities across people's lives. In The Psychology of Passion, Robert J. Vallerand presents the first such theory, providing a complete presentation of the Dualistic Model of Passion and the empirical evidence that supports it. Vallerand conceives of two types of passion: harmonious passion, which remains under the person's control, and obsessive passion, which controls the person. While the first typically leads to adaptive behaviors, the obsessive form of passion leads to less adaptive and, at times, maladaptive behaviors. Vallerand highlights the effects of these two types of passion on a number of psychological phenomena, such as cognition, emotions, performance, relationships, aggression, and violence. He also discusses the development of passion and reviews a range of literature on passion for activities. Anthropology and the German Enlightenment Katherine M. Faull, 1995 What was the role of anthropology in the German Enlightenment? Why did this discipline emerge as one of the most popular modes of inquiry in the eighteenth century, permeating fields as disparate as aesthetics, medicine, and law? As the essays in this volume show, the body of Enlightenment knowledge was by no means universal. During the German Enlightenment, the study of nature, humanity, and everything that humanity created was the topic of the day. But the period that defined moral reason as the sovereign human faculty also applied its scrutiny to the body that such a mind inhabited. What did it look like? Could moral superiority be deduced from physiognomy? In the massive effort to educate the German populace on what were seen to be the fundamental a priori differences, physical and moral, between the sexes and the races, the European bourgeois man was considered to embody all human virtues and talents and stem from the only race and sex capable of ruling itself democratically and rationally To examine the role of anthropology in this enterprise contributors to this volume were asked to investigate what constitutes the German Enlightenment's interaction between its self-proclaimed rationalism and the pervasive presence of the non-rational that is the corporeal
