Passions Persuasion:

, Bringing the Passions Back In Rebecca Kingston, Leonard Ferry, 2008-05-20 The rationalist ideal has been met with cynicism in progressive circles for undermining the role of emotion and passion in the public realm By exploring the social and political implications of the emotions in the history of ideas contributors examine new paradigms for liberalism and offer new appreciations of the potential for passion in political philosophy and practice Bringing the Passions Back In draws upon the history of political theory to shed light on the place of emotions in politics it illustrates how sophisticated thinking about the relationship between reason and passion can inform contemporary democratic political theory Sacred eloquence

Thomas Joseph Potter, 1866 Kleiser's Complete Guide to Public Speaking Grenville Kleiser, 1915 Sacred Eloquence Thomas J. Potter, 1866 The Methodical Memory Sharon Crowley, 2010-08-20 In this first sustained critique of current traditional rhetorical theory Sharon Crowley uses a postmodern deconstructive reading to reexamine the historical development of current traditional rhetoric She identifies it as well as the British new rhetoric from which it developed as a philosophy of language use that posits universal principles of mind and discourse Crowley argues that these philosophies are not appropriate bases for the construction of rhetorical theories much less guides for the teaching of composition She explains that current traditional rhetoric is not a rhetorical theory and she argues that its use as such has led to a misrepresentation of invention Crowley contends that current traditional rhetoric continues to prosper because a considerable number of college composition teachers graduate students part time instructors and teachers of literature are not involved in the development of the curricula they are asked to teach As a result their voices necessary to create any true representation of the composition teaching experience are denied access to the scholarly conversations evaluating the soundness of the institutionalized teaching methods derived from the current traditional approach Encyclopædia
