Caring

Enough to Confront David Augsburger, 2009-02-16 Conflict simply is Believing that we can somehow avoid it can only damage our relationships but when we learn to integrate our needs and wants with those of others it can be a catalyst in our relationships for deeper loving care Dr David Augsburger's Caring Enough to Confront is a classic in Christian peacemaking It teaches the reader how to build trust cope with blame and prejudice and be honest about anger and frustration Dr Augsburger challenges readers to keep in mind that the important issue is not what the conflict is about but instead how the conflict is handled He offers a biblically based model for dealing with conflict to teach Christians how to confront with compassion and resolve issues in a healthy and healing way Whether in family church or work relationships Caring Enough to Confront gives readers the tools to make the most of every conflict

Saying Our Stories Ronald H. Sunderland, 2024-07-17

SOS is the culmination of my work since 1966 when my wife Noel and I moved from Melbourne Australia to Houston Texas My initial goal was to begin a four year clinical pastoral education program CPE at the Institute of Religion in the Texas Medical Center The long term dream was to develop a parish based lay pastoral education program to equip laypeople to serve with their ordained pastors in the pastoral ministry of the parish Until the midnineteenth century pastoral care was the province of parish clergy for which few were adequately equipped I aimed to change that model by demonstrating that laypeople with the necessary training were integral to the church's ministry That would entail providing clergy with supervisory skills The founder organizations of the newly constituted Association for Clinical Pastoral Education ACPE had pioneered clergy pastoral care education in the 1920s The Equipping Laypeople for Ministry ELM program which I founded in 1979 proved effective in the dual tasks of lay pastoral care training and the preparation of clergy for their necessary function of oversight of lay pastors Saying Our Stories is the account of the pioneering effort to undertake those tasks and demonstrate the effectiveness of the new model of parish pastoral ministry It is a book of stories The text suggests that pastoral care at heart is knowing that when a troubled person casts round for someone to listen to her or his story they need a caring story listener Such listening is hard work but story listeners know that to listen is to care If they finish up thinking All I did was listen they know it is such a big all

God Loves Gay Women Reverend Bonnie Kelly, 2014-02-28 Honest faithful people are wondering if the Bible is really telling them to hate gay people This book is a reasoned response to that inquiry It deals with the Scriptures most often cited to justify homophobia and provides a more loving interpretation Six lesbians tell their story and how the Church has impacted their lives Families and clergy are given clear guidelines on how to offer support and kindness to this marginalized and maligned group of women This is an important book for our time Homophobia cruelty and denial of human dignity to all gay people at home and globally have re emerged much of it fueled by false and malicious biblical interpretation

Homosexuality and the Christian Mark A. Yarhouse, PsyD, 2010-09-01 Mark Yarhouse gives honest and accurate answers to parents and pastors who have questions about homosexuality Throughout the book the author uses a new framework for understanding the issue carefully separating the concept of same sex attraction from a gay identity In a clear and compassionate style he explains the research regarding what causes same sex attraction and whether or not it can be overcome He also discusses what Christians can do when someone they know opens up to them about their homosexual attractions
