Pastoral Counseling In A Global Church Voices From The Field:

Pastoral Counseling in a Global Church Robert J. Wicks, Barry K. Estadt, 2005-12-28 Pastoral counseling is one of the fastest growing ministry specialties in the emerging world church Pastoral Counseling in a Global Church vividly presents the experiences of people involved in ministry in different cultures in Asia Africa and Latin America as well as Europe and Australia Its practical narrative style approach complements more theoretical treatments of cross cultural counseling In our increasingly global and multicultural world sensitivity to the ways in which families and cultures are central to growth in Christian life is essential for pastoral counselors This is especially true since in many cultures the pastoral ministry is the first one people turn to for help before mental health or other professionals Those who can apply culturally relevant and sensitive pastoral skills can provide real help to those in need whether in a multicultural parish in North America or anywhere in the world

Counseling and Pastoral Care in African and Other

Cross-Cultural Contexts Tapiwa N. Mucherera, 2017-11-03 The coming of Colonization and Christianity to Africa and other indigenous cross cultural contexts was a mixed bag of pros and cons The impact of the advent of the two has had a lasting effect being felt even today It created issues of bi culturalism and bi religiousness in personal and religious identities that counselors and the church need to address when working with people from these contexts There is the existence of deep cultural trauma including psychological and spiritual scars needing healing for those living in most of these post colonial contexts The Western counseling approaches and Christian rituals need contextualization A counselor or pastoral caregiver with an integrative consciousness is required to address the psychological and religious identity conflicts existing in African and other indigenous cross cultural contexts

Christian Theology in Practice Bonnie J. Miller-McLemore, 2012-02-02

For the past fifty years scholars in both pastoral and practical theology have attempted to recapture human religious experience and practice as essential sites for theological engagement redefining in the process what theology is how it is done and who does it In this book Bonnie J Miller McLemore shows how this trend in scholarship has led to an expanded subject matter alternative ways of knowing and richer terms for analysis in doing Christian theology Tracing more than two decades of her own search for a more inclusive discipline one that truly grapples with theology in the midst of life Christian Theology in Practice shows not only where Miller McLemore herself has traveled in the field but also how pastoral and practical theology has developed during this time Looking forward Miller McLemore calls on the academy and Christian congregations to disrupt conventional theological boundaries and to acknowledge the multiplicity of shapes and places in which the wisdom of God appears

Integral Pastoral Care in Ghana

Dr. Gabriel Amoateng - Boahen, 2015-08-31 What is Pastoral Care Pastoral Care is differently defined by many authorities Encyclopedia defines it as the ministry of care and counseling provided by pastors chaplains and other religious leaders to members of their church or congregation to anyone within institutional settings with a focus on healing reconciling guiding and sustaining Kate Lombardi in her article titled Chaplains as Comforters in the New York Times of July 20 2003 says While doctors and nurses at the Westchester Medical Center here work on the bodies of patients there is another group of people the hospital chaplains who work with their spirits She lists some of the many services provided by the Pastoral Care Giver in a hospital setting as enumerated in my book and concludes on the note that Chaplains see human emotions at their most raw They work with people whose bodies are ravaged These chaplains say that to see a medical crisis brings on a spiritual crisis I have identified a human need of Pastoral Care among the Asante people and Ghanaians as a whole As a starting point this book seeks to highlight the problem and create communal awareness among community and religious leaders From here I plan to train leaders volunteers in basic skills in chaplaincy for visitation to some selected clinics and hospitals in Kumasi Phase 1 Under Phase II of my vision I hope to establish an Ecumenical Pastoral Counseling Center in Kumasi for which reason I have started looking for partners and sponsors in the US and elsewhere for support The Phase III long term dream is to establish a Clinical Pastoral Education CPE Program in Kumasi Please see Introduction for more understanding of CPE Readers who are interested in supporting the Royal Diadem Pastoral Center project through sponsorship or donation are to contact me at gabriel ghanarodi com gabriel ab925 yahoo com gabrielabm1913 gmail com Tel 773 968 1983 773 363 7889

Render Unto God James Newton Poling,2012-03-01 What marks principles and values from our study of Jesus can guide our reflections about the church and its witness in a world of economic injustice What kinds of principles ought to be part of an ecclesiology in a world where family violence is epidemic So asks author James Poling in his exploration of the role of faith and religious practice as a resource for those who are economically vulnerable to domestic violence In this groundbreaking work Poling focuses his research on women and children in working class and poor communities of three cultures analyzing the forces that define and sustain economic vulnerability and detailing how such vulnerability affects the daily lives of people within these communities He looks at how the church can function as a source of healing and empowerment for persons who are trapped by domestic violence and economic vulnerability and develops models for prevention of violence and of practical ministry for pastoral care of the victims and perpetrators

Drinking from the Same Well Lydia F. Johnson,2011-05-09 Drinking from the Same Well is designed for those who seek a praxis oriented theological grounding in the exploration of cross cultural perspectives in the field of pastoral care and counseling It traverses the broad terrain of cultural analysis and also explores in depth a number of discrete cross cultural issues in pastoral counseling related to communication conflict empathy family dynamics suffering and healing Cultural analysis and theological reflection are situated alongside numerous case studies of persons and situations that en flesh the concepts being discussed and readers are invited to engage personally with the material through a variety of focus questions and reflective exercises This book can serve as a helpful textbook for seminarians and a useful guide for pastors and priests church study groups multicultural parishes and anyone engaged in helping ministries with persons from other cultures The goal is to develop culturally competent pastoral caregivers by providing a comprehensive and practical overview of the generative themes and challenges in cross cultural pastoral care Shared Wisdom Pamela Cooper-White, 2003-11-18 Understanding one's personal issues and emotional reactions one's countertransference has long been recognized as a core competency in ministry Now new understandings of intersubjectivity mutual influence shared wisdom both conscious and unconscious and multicultural dynamics in the caring relationship are bringing promising new possibilities and challenges to pastoral practice Employing these insights in this groundbreaking book Pamela Cooper White offers a new relational paradigm for pastoral assessment and theological reflection She uses the caregiver's own responses and feelings as a primary instrument for deepening discernment and better care She innovatively combines postmodern psychoanalytic and theological perspectives with illuminating case studies to illustrate this new use of the self in pastoral care counseling and psychotherapy

Pastoral Care from a Third World Perspective Tapiwa N. Mucherera, 2001 The advent and approach of colonization and Christianity condemned the African traditional religion and culture as paganistic and backward This created issues of biculturalism and bireligiousness in personal and religious identity that the church needs to address For those living in most post colonial countries there is the existence of deep psychological and spiritual scars that need healing The Western Christian rituals in use in most African mainline churches exclude any traditional religious rituals A new pastoral theology of care and psychodynamic understanding of integrative consciousness is needed in these contexts A pastoral care giver with integrative consciousness possessing an awareness of both the traditional and Western worldview and or integration thereof is required to address the psychological and religious identity conflict existing in post colonial contexts such as Zimbabwe

"Streetism" Isaac Ishmael Arthur, 2013-09-10 This book is a study that investigates the phenomenon of streetism the manner of life of homeless or unmonitored youth on the streets of Accra Ghana and other urban centers in a country where barrenness and childlessness are socially undesirable The study utilizes a qualitative ethnographic and critical theory based approach to present a socio culturally nuanced addition to the literature on street children The work engages in theological reflection on the basis of the experiences of poverty and marginalization of the youth on the streets and for their liberation This thesis also utilizes an intercultural methodology to examine the causes of streetism and liberation praxis for its eradication The findings of the study include how poverty dropping out of school breakdown of the extended family systems parental death urbanization adventure and earning of personal income influence the migration of youth to the streets The study also examines the effects of rape and the resilient and hopeful attitudes of the homeless youth The study proposes pastoral responses on three ecological levels At the macro level advocacy is proposed for addressing the problems embedded in social structures and government policies and ideologies At the meso level congregational and community response is offered to deal with issues emanating from local communities and institutions Dealing with the psychosocial effects at the micro level the study offers pastoral counseling for street youth and parents and individual group and narrative counseling
