Pasture Landscape And Nature Conservation:

Pasture Landscapes and Nature Conservation Bernd Redecker, Werner Härdtle, Peter Finck, Uwe Riecken, Eckhard Schröder, 2002-05-28 One of the main problems and aims of nature conservation in Europe is to protect semi open landscapes. The development during the past decades is characterized by an ongoing intensification of land use on the one hand and an increasing number of former meadows and pastures lying fallow caused by changing economic conditions on the other hand. In several countries the establishment of larger pasture landscapes with a mixed character of open grassland combined with shrubs and forests has been recognized as one solution to this problem. The book gives an overview of the European projects concerning this topic, nature conservation policy and strategies, scientific results and practical experiences creating large scale grazing systems.

Pasture Landscapes and Nature Conservation Bernd Redecker, Werner Härdtle, Peter Finck, Uwe Riecken, Eckhard Schröder, 2012-12-06 One of the main problems and aims of nature conservation in Europe is to protect semi open landscapes. The development during the past decades is characterized by an ongoing intensification of land use on the one hand and an increasing number of former meadows and pastures lying fallow caused by changing economic conditions on the other hand. In several countries the establishment of larger pasture landscapes with a mixed character of open grassland combined with shrubs and forests has been recognized as one solution to this problem. The book gives an overview of the European projects concerning this topic, nature conservation policy and strategies, scientific results and practical experiences creating large scale grazing systems.

Large-scale Livestock Grazing Harald Plachter, Ulrich Hampicke, 2010-02-02 One of the main objectives of nature conservation in Europe is to protect valuable cultural landscapes characterized by a mixture of open habitats and hedges, trees and patchy woodland. Semi open landscapes. The development of these landscapes during the past decades has been characterized by an ongoing intensification of land use on the one hand and an increasing number of former meadows and pastures becoming fallow as a result of changing economic conditions on the other hand. Since species adapted to open and semi open landscapes contribute to biodiversity in Europe in a major way this development is of great concern to nature conservation. In several countries large scale nature adapted pastoral systems have been recognized as one solution to this problem. These systems could offer an alternative to industrial livestock raising and keep a high biodiversity on the landscape level. Against the background of livestock diseases such as BSE and Foot and Mouth Disease and the efforts to reform the Common Agricultural Policy in the EU by changing the criteria for agricultural subsidies these concepts gain particular significance. They could also represent an alternative to the established costly habitat management tools.

Grasslands in Europe Peter Veen, Richard Jefferson, Jacques de Smidt, Jan van der Straaten, 2014-04-14 Grasslands are an important element of European nature. About half of Europe's endemic species depend on grasslands whether in mountains, lowlands, river plains or coastal areas. Many grasslands originate in traditional agricultural landscapes. Modern intensification however brings many of these ecosystems under threat. Grasslands in Europe is a tribute to these important ecosystems It was written by an international team of grassland experts who describe twenty four case studies from countries in all of Europe ranging from the grasslands of Gotland and land Sweden to the Spanish Dehesa and from the hay meadows of the British Pennine Dales to the steppes of Turkish Anatolia Together these case studies provide a fascinating glimpse into the various European grasslands their value for nature culture and agriculture and the threats they are facing today The accessible text as well as the rich illustrations will appeal to a wide audience

Grasslands in Europe contains a large number of stunning full colour photographs of grassland landscapes species and cultural history It also contains many maps and infographics Thematic chapters provide essential background information on topics such as grassland fauna the history of agriculture grassland communities and the connection between grasslands and climate The book also analyses the opportunities and risks of EU policy to conserve these grasslands It offers a farmer centred outlook to manage and to maintain the European grasslands of high nature value

Invertebrate Conservation and Agricultural Ecosystems T. R. New, 2005-03-31 Invertebrate Conservation and Agricultural Ecosystems explores the diverse interests of invertebrate conservation and agricultural production It is both an introduction to invertebrate conservation biology for agriculturists and an introduction to crop protection for conservation biologists demonstrating how these two disparate fields may draw on each other for greater collective benefit It draws on recent literature to show how invertebrate conservation in highly altered landscapes may be promoted and enhanced The book deals with problems of and approaches to invertebrate conservation in highly managed agricultural ecosystems and how biodiversity may be promoted without compromising agricultural production It draws attention to the importance of invertebrates in agricultural systems and their role in ecosystem functions

European Wood-pastures in Transition Tibor Hartel, Tobias Plieninger, 2014-06-27 Wood pastures are important elements of European cultural identity and have an exceptional ecological value yet they are in decline all over Europe The structure of wood pastures is strongly influenced by grazing and multiple other land uses and by local and regional environmental conditions This book examines the diverse expressions of wood pastures across Europe It provides a new perspective using a social ecological framework to explore social and ecological values governing institutions threats and conservation approaches It explores the major drivers of decline which are shown to be related to accelerated cultural institutional and developmental changes occurring across Europe over the past century Case studies are included from North Western Southern and Eastern Europe Written by renowned scholars and conservationists the book contributes to developing better locally adapted conservation policies and management approaches for wood pastures

Trees, Forested Landscapes and Grazing Animals Ian D. Rotherham, 2013-03-05 In this comprehensive book the critical components of the European landscape forest parkland and other grazed landscapes with trees are addressed The book considers the history of grazed treed landscapes of large grazing herbivores in Europe and the implications of the past in shaping our environment today and in the future Debates on the types of anciently grazed landscapes in Europe and what they tell us about past and present ecology have been especially topical and controversial recently This treatment brings the current discussions and the latest research to a much wider audience The book breaks new ground in broadening the scope of wood pasture and woodland research to address sites and ecologies that have previously been overlooked but which hold potential keys to understanding landscape dynamics Eminent contributors including Oliver Rackham and Frans Vera present a text which addresses the importance of history in understanding the past landscape and the relevance of historical ecology and landscape studies in providing a future vision Europe's Changing Woods and Forests Keith Kirby, Charles

Watkins, 2015-06-30 Our understanding of the ecological history of European forests has been transformed in the last twenty years Bringing together key findings from across the continent this book provides a comprehensive account of the relevance of historical studies to current conservation and management of forests It combines theory with a series of regional case studies to show how different aspects of forestry play out according to the landscape and historical context of the local area

Restoration of Multifunctional Cultural Landscapes Stefan Zerbe, 2022-06-27 This book offers perspectives on how to develop a sustainable global balance of urbanization land use intensification land abandonment and multifunctional cultural landscapes The focus is on the latter by describing the large variety of traditional cultural landscapes having evolved through centuries or even millennia by the use of the natural terrestrial and aquatic resources Those cultural landscapes encompass pasture agroforestry terraced irrigation coastal monastic and sacred landscapes as well as lake river and saltscapes The restoration of low input land use systems which often carry a high biodiversity on the species ecosystem and landscape level as well as agrobiodiversity and agrodiversity is outlined The restoration of multifunctional and diverse landscapes however is not only an ecological issue but encompasses many socio economic aspects such as e g the revitalization of villages eco tourism healthy food production infrastructure and rural urban partnerships Global environmental problems which are related to urbanization and the intensification of the use of land and water resources are comprehensively outlined Land abandonment which occurs on all continents is qualitatively and quantitatively assessed and the consequences for natural and cultural heritage loss is highlighted With the presentation of current rural development and landscape conservation strategies on the national as well as international level the topic reflects the high significance of environmental policy on the global scale The global implementation of natural and cultural heritage conservation is for example given by the UNESCO World Heritage Sites National Parks Biosphere Reserves Globally Important Agricultural Heritage Sites High Nature Value Farmland and the Satoyama initiative However also the every day landscapes can contribute to biodiversity and strong sustainability This comprehensive compendium based on about 4 000 references of scientific studies literature reviews project reports and environmental policy papers is thought for all students scholars and stakeholders from multifaceted disciplines interested in multifunctional cultural landscapes and how traditions and innovation on the landscape level can be merged for a sustainable future on our planet Case studies from all over the world are presented which can be used in

Higher Education or to demonstrate the numerous approaches of sustainable rural development The Long-Term Perspective of Human Impact on Landscape for Environmental Change and Sustainability Anna Maria Mercuri, Assunta Florenzano, 2019-11-19 The research studies included in this Special Issue highlight the fundamental contribution of the knowledge of environmental history to conscious and efficient environment conservation and management The long term perspective of the dynamics that govern the human climate ecosystem is becoming one of the main focuses of interest in biological and earth system sciences Multidisciplinary bio geo archaeo investigations into the underlying processes of human impact on the landscape are crucial to envisage possible future scenarios of biosphere responses to global warming and biodiversity losses This Special Issue seeks to engage an interdisciplinary dialog on the dynamic interactions between nature and society focusing on long term environmental data as an essential tool for better informed landscape management decisions to achieve an equilibrium between conservation and sustainable resource exploitation Cultural Severance and the Environment Ian D. Rotherham, 2013-05-09 This major book explores commons lands and rights of usage in common traditional and customary practices and the cultural nature of landscapes Importantly it addresses now critical matters of cultural severance and largely unrecognized impacts on biodiversity and human societies and implications for conservation sustainability and local economies The book takes major case studies and perspectives from around the world to address contemporary issues and challenges from historical and ecological perspectives The book developed from major international conferences and collaborations over around fifteen years culminating The End of Tradition in Sheffield UK 2010 The chapters are from individuals who are both academic researchers and practitioners These ideas are now influencing bodies like the EU UNESCO and FAO with recognition by major organisations and stakeholders of the critical state of the environment consequent on cultural severance Environmental Indicators Robert H. Armon, Osmo Hänninen, 2015-01-05 Environmental indicators are the first line of warning against hazards caused by humans or nature catastrophes to prevent diseases and death of living organisms The present book covers a large variety of environmental indicators from physical chemistry through economical bioinformatics electromagnetic irradiation and health aspects all dealing with environmental pollution This volume has been intended to environmentalists engineers scientists and policy makers as well to anybody interested in the latest development in the indicator field Self-regulating ecosystem dynamics in future wilderness development driven by large herbivore-wildfire-vegetation interactions Kiowa Alraune Schulze, 2019-03-01 In the context of the rewilding Europe debate the German national strategy on biodiversity aims to dedicate two percent of the German state area to wilderness development until 2020 Many of these potential large wilderness reserves harbor open habitats that require protection according to the Flora Fauna Habitat directive of the European Union As forests prevail in potential natural vegetation research is required in future wilderness development in Central Europe to which extent wild large herbivores and natural disturbances may create semi open landscape patterns in the long term The spatially explicit process based ecosystem model

WoodPaM was used to simulate various potential future wilderness scenarios in order to analyze the long term interactions between wild intermediate foraging large herbivores natural wildfires and vegetation dynamics It required the integrative analysis of future wilderness dynamics in the context of a balanced representation of all relevant processes to reveal the emergence of the ecosystem property self regulation in wilderness landscapes as well as of novel landscape patterns in future wilderness areas Strategic Landscape Monitoring for the Nordic Countries Geoff Groom, Tim Reed, 2001

Protected landscapes and wild biodiversity Nigel Dudley, 2012 Grazing in Future Multi-scapes: From Thoughtscapes to Landscapes, Creating Health from the Ground Up Pablo Gregorini, Iain James Gordon, Carol Kerven, Fred Provenza, 2022-09-27 This Research Topic is hosted in partnership with the Grazing in Future Multi Scapes international workshop The workshop will be held online 30th May 5th June 2021 Throughout different landscapes of the world grazing herbivores fulfill essential roles in ecology agriculture economies and cultures including families farms and communities Not only do livestock provide food and wealth they also deliver ecosystem services through the roles they play in environmental composition structure and dynamics Grazing as a descriptive adjective locates herbivores within a spatial and temporal pastoral context where they naturally graze or are grazed by farmers ranchers shepherds etc In many cases however pastoralism with the single objective of maximizing animal production and or profit has transformed landscapes diminishing biodiversity reducing water and air quality accelerating loss of soil and plant biomass and displacing indigenous animals and people These degenerative landscape transformations have jeopardized present and future ecosystem and societal services breaking the natural integration of land water air health society and culture Land users policy makers and societies are calling for alternative approaches to pastoral systems a call for diversified adaptive and integrative agro ecological and food pastoral systems designs that operate across multiple scales and scapes e g thought social land food health wild scapes simultaneously There needs to be a paradigm shift in pastoral production systems and how grazing herbivores are managed grazed within them derived initially from a change in perception of how they provide wealth The thoughtscapes will include paradigm shifts where grazers move away from the actual archetype of pastoralism future landscapes are re imagined and regenerative and sustainable management paradigms are put in place to achieve these visions From this will come a change in collective thinking of how communities and cultures socialscapes perceive their relationships with pastoral lands The landscapes are the biotic and abiotic four dimensional domains or environments in need of nurture Landscapes are the tables where humans and herbivores gain their nourishment i e foodscapes Foodscapes and dietary perceptions dictate actions and reactions that are changing as developed countries grapple with diseases related to obesity and people starve in developing countries Societies are demanding healthscapes and nutraceutical foodscapes and paradoxically some are moving away from animal products While indigenous species of animals including humans wildscapes have been displaced from many of their lands by monotonic pastoralism multifunctional pastoral systems can be designed in view of dynamic multi scapes of the future The purpose of this Research Topic is to influence future mental and practical models of pastoralism in continually evolving multi scapes We seek a collection of papers that will cultivate such a shift in thinking towards future models of sustainable multipurpose pastoralism The contributions will be synthesized to establish how multifunctional pastoral systems can be re imagined and then designed in view of the integrative dynamics of sustainable future multi scapes

Biocultural Diversity in Europe Mauro Agnoletti,Francesca Emanuelli,2016-02-29 The book collects a selection of the papers presented at the meeting held in the context of the Joint Programme on the Links between Biological and Cultural Diversity JP BiCuD Recognizing the inextricable link between biological and cultural diversity the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization UNESCO and the Secretariat of the Convention on Biological Diversity SCBD joined forces and in 2010 launched the Joint Programme on the Links between Biological and Cultural Diversity JP BiCuD The first meeting for the implementation of the JP BiCuD was held in Florence Italy in April 2014 and produced the UNESCO sCBD Florence Declaration which highlights the concept of biocultural diversity The European rural territory is predominantly a biocultural multi functional landscape providing a crucial and effective space for integration of biological and cultural diversity suggesting the need to revise some of the current strategies for the assessment and management of biodiversity

The End of Tradition? Ian D. Rotherham,2014 The threats from global cultural change and abandonment of traditional landscape management increased in the last half of the twentieth century and ten years into the twenty first century show no signs of slowing down Their impacts on global biodiversity and on people disconnected from their traditional landscapes pose real and serious economic and social problems which need to be addressed now The End of Tradition conference held in Sheffield UK was organised by Ian D Rotherham and colleagues It addressed the fundamental issues of whether we can conserve the biodiversity of wonderful and iconic landscapes and reconnect people to their natural environment And if we can how can we do so and make them relevant for the twenty first century The book is in two parts Part 1 A History of Commons and Commons Management and Part 2 Commons Current Management and Problems

Creating Resilient Landscapes in an Era of Climate Change Amin Rastandeh,Meghann Jarchow,2022-12-30 This book delivers a realistic and feasible framework for creating resilient landscapes in an era of anthropogenic climate change From across six continents this book presents fifteen case studies of differing sociocultural economic and biophysical backgrounds that showcase opportunities and limitations for creating resilient landscapes throughout the world The potential to create socio ecological resilience is examined across a wide range of landscapes including agricultural island forest coastal and urban landscapes across sixteen countries Argentina Australia Brazil Denmark Finland Greece Guatemala Japan Mexico Norway Samoa South Africa the United States Turkey Uruguay and Vanuatu Chapters discuss current and future issues around creating a sustainable food system conserving biodiversity and climate change adaptation and resilience with green infrastructure nature based architecture green tech and ecosystem services as just a few of the approaches discussed The book emphasizes solution oriented approaches for an ecological hope that can support landscape resiliency in this chaotic era and the chapters consider the importance of envisioning an unpredictable future with numerous uncertainties In this context the key focus is on how we all can tackle the intertwined impacts of climate change biodiversity loss and large scale land cover conversion in urban and non urban landscapes with particular attention to the concept of landscape resiliency The volume provides that much needed link between theory and practice to deliver forward thinking practical solutions This book will be of great interest to students researchers practitioners and policymakers who are interested in the complex relationship between landscapes climate change biodiversity loss and land based conversion at local national and global scales Grassland: a global resource D.A. McGilloway,2023-08-28 The concept of grasslands as a global resource is not new Indeed many recognised authorities have been canvassing for a global approach to understanding managing and exploiting this resource for many years This is the first book that gathers together leading experts from around the world to outline our current understanding of this complex ecosystem the ways in which it can be enhanced and utilised and where the research challenges are for the future The following themes unite the book Efficient production from grassland Grassland and the environment Delivering the benefits from grassland The reader is given an in depth understanding of the biology of the system and how grasslands are crucial for soil stabilisation and water quality Secondly much attention is given to how grasslands offer the possibility of increasing food supply and income generation which is a hugely important but often ignored facet in today s climate of extensification and biodiversity Current advances in the grassland sciences have a proven potential to promote the economic development and environmental stability of regions nations and peoples particularly in some of the most resource limited areas of the world Approaches for achieving the most effective development and adoption of new technology are reviewed
