Tragic Pleasures Elizabeth S. Belfiore,2014-07-14 Elizabeth Belfiore offers a striking new interpretation of Aristotle's Poetics by situating the work within the Aristotelian corpus and in the context of Greek culture in general In Aristotle's Rhetoric the Politics and the ethical psychological logical physical and biological works Belfiore finds extremely important but largely neglected sources for understanding the elliptical statements in the Poetics The author argues that these Aristotelian texts and those of other ancient writers call into question the traditional view that katharsis in the Poetics is a homeopathic process one in which pity and fear affect emotions like themselves She maintains instead that Aristotle considered katharsis to be an allopathic process in which pity and fear purge the soul of shameless antisocial and aggressive emotions While exploring katharsis Tragic Pleasures analyzes the closely related question of how the Poetics treats the issue of plot structure In fact Belfiore's wide ranging work eventually discusses every central concept in the Poetics including imitation pity and fear necessity and probability character and kinship relations Originally published in 1992 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its Cinematic Journeys in Latin America Richard Francaviglia, 2023-09-05 This book critically examines founding in 1905 how movies that feature real or imagined explorers and expeditions creatively feature the geography of Latin America It focuses on how locales are scripted into film plots and artistically depicted and demonstrates that place is as important as any character in a film especially in this genre Nineteen key films are analyzed Some like Aguirre the Wrath of God Fitzcarraldo The Other Conquest Embrace of the Serpent and The Lost City of Z are based on the exploits of real explorers Others are fictional including Apocalypto Indiana Jones and the Kingdom of the Crystal Skull and Dora and the Lost City of Gold The author also discusses the evolution of exploration discovery films including trends that will likely be found in forthcoming movies The Encyclopedia of Fantastic Film R.
