My Mother My Daughter Women Speak About Relating Across The Generations:

My Mother, My Daughter Elaine K. McEwan-Adkins, 1992 Mothers and Daughters Alice H. Deakins, Rebecca Bryant Lockridge, Helen M. Sterk, 2012-06-21 Family stories of the ties between mothers and daughters form the foundation of Mothers and Daughters Complicated Connections Across Cultures Nationally and internationally known feminist scholars frame analyze and explore mother daughter bonds in this collection of essays Cultures from around the world are mined for insights which reveal historical generational ethnic political religious and social class differences This book focuses on the tenacity of the connection between mothers and daughters impediments to a strong connection and practices of good communication Mothers and Daughters will interest those studying communication women's studies psychology sociology anthropology counseling and cultural studies Communication Among Grandmothers, Mothers, and Adult Daughters Michelle A. Miller-Day, 2004-09-22 This volume examines communication processes within the grandmother mother daughter relationship emphasizing an intergenerational perspective Using observations of and extensive interviews with six sets of middle income Caucasian female family members this book offers a heuristic account of intergenerational mother daughter relational communication Author Michelle Miller Day integrates and juxtaposes alternative experiences of social interaction situating readers in the world of grandmothers mothers adult daughters and granddaughters as they experience describe and analyze their family communication Miller Day incorporates aged mothers and younger mid life mothers and their adult daughters into the research to illustrate how this type of maternal relationship is experienced at different points in a woman's life With the inclusion of three generations of women Miller Day offers multigenerational perspectives on family and examines them for patterns of maternal interaction providing symbolic links across generational boundaries Communication Among Grandmothers Mothers and Adult Daughters enables readers to understand more completely the richly textured nature of maternal relationships It will be an invaluable resource for scholars and researchers in the areas of communication and relationships including family communication intergenerational communication women's studies family studies interpersonal communication and relationships as well as social workers psychologists and counselors who strive to understand family communication processes and their dynamics across generational lines Not My Mother's Sister Astrid Henry, 2004-09-07 No matter how wise a mother's advice is we listen to our peers At least that's writer Naomi Wolf's take on the differences between her generation of feminists the third wave and the feminists who came before her and developed in the late 60s and 70s the second wave In Not My Mother's Sister Astrid Henry agrees with Wolf that this has been the case with American feminism but says there are problems inherent in drawing generational lines Henry begins by examining texts written by women in the second wave and illustrates how that generation identified with yet also disassociated itself from its feminist foremothers Younger feminists now claim the movement as their own by distancing themselves from the past By focusing on feminism's debates about sexuality they are able to reject the so called victim feminism of Catherine MacKinnon

and Andrea Dworkin Rejecting the orthodoxies of the second wave younger feminists celebrate a woman's right to pleasure Henry asserts however that by ignoring diverse older voices the new generation has oversimplified generational conflict and has underestimated the contributions of earlier feminists to women's rights They have focused on issues relating to personal identity at the expense of collective political action Just as writers like Wolf Katie Roiphe and Rene Denfeld celebrate a new feminist hetero sexuality posited in generational terms queer and lesbian feminists of the third wave similarly distance themselves from those who came before Henry shows how 1970s lesbian feminism is represented in ways that are remarkably similar to the puritanical portrait of feminism offered by straight third wavers She concludes by examining the central role played by feminists of color in the development of third wave feminism Indeed the term third wave itself was coined by Rebecca Walker daughter of Alice Walker Not My Mother's Sister is an important contribution to the exchange of ideas among feminists of all ages and persuasions

Male Poets and the Agon of the Mother Hannah Baker

Saltmarsh, 2019-04-23 A thoughtful exploration of male poets' contributions to the literature of motherhood In the late 1950s the notion of a mother poem emerged during a confessional literary movement that freed poets to use personal psychosexual material about intimate topics such as parents' childhood failed marriages children infidelity and mental illness In Male Poets and the Agon of the Mother Hannah Baker Saltmarsh argues that male poets have contributed to what we think of as the literature of motherhood that confessional and postconfessional modes have been formative in the way male poets have grappled with the stories of their mothers and how those stories reflect on the writers and their artistic identities Through careful readings of formative elegies and homages written by male poets of this time Saltmarsh explores how they engaged with femininity and feminine voices in the 1950s and 60s and sheds light on the inheritance of confessional motifs of gender and language as demonstrated by postconfessional writers responding to the rich subject matter of motherhood within the contexts of history myth and literature A foreword is provided by Jo Gill professor of twentieth century and American literature in the Department of English and associate dean for education at the University of Exeter
