Narratives Of Nation In The South Pacific:

Narratives of Nation in the South Pacific Nicholas Thomas, 2005-06-27 It is striking that in many Pacific nations national narratives are subordinate to other fundamental historical imaginings such as those concerning local political dynasties and conversion to Christianity While leaders in Pacific states have frequently sought to legitimate new nations through local tradition and custom these constructions of identity frequently mask divisions arising from gender hierarchy and other social relationships These studies from Papua New Guinea Vanuatu Samoa and the Cook Islands add much to our knowledge of historical imaginings and contemporary culture in the Pacific but raise wider questions concerning the current transformation of national identities

At Home and in the Field Suzanne S. Finney, Mary Mostafanezhad, Guido Carlo Pigliascio, Forrest Wade Young, 2015-07-30 Crossing disciplinary boundaries At Home and in the Field is an anthology of twenty first century ethnographic research and writing about the global worlds of home and disjuncture in Asia and the Pacific Islands These stories reveal novel insights into the serendipitous nature of fieldwork Unique in its inclusion of homework ethnography that directly engages with issues and identities in which the ethnographer finds political solidarity and belonging in fields at home the anthology contributes to growing trends that complicate the distinction between insiders and outsiders The obligations that fieldwork engenders among researchers and local communities are exemplified by contributors who are often socially engaged with the peoples and places they work In its focus on Asia and the Pacific Islands the collection offers ethnographic updates on topics that range from ritual money burning in China to the militarization of Hawai i to the social role of text messages in identifying marriage partners in Vanuatu to the cultural power of robots in Japan Thought provoking sometimes humorous these cultural encounters will resonate with readers and provide valuable talking points for exploring the human diversity that makes the study of ourselves and each other simultaneously rewarding and challenging

Experiencing New Worlds Jürg Wassmann, Katharina Stockhaus, 2007 The many different localities of the Pacific region have a long history of transformation under both pre and post colonial conditions More recently rates of local transformation have increased tremendously under post colonial regimes The forces of globalization which rapidly distribute commodities images and political and moral concepts across the region have presented Pacific populations with an unprecedented need and opportunity to fashion new and expanded understandings of their cultural and individual identities This volume the first in a new series examines the forces of globalization at different levels as they manifest themselves and operate across cultural cognitive and biographical dimensions of human life in the Pacific While posing familiar questions it offers new answers through the integration of cultural and psychological methods The contributors draw on practice theory cognitive science and the anthropology of space and place while exploring the key analytical rubrics of human agency memory and landscape

Moving in Circles Jimu, Ignasio Malizani, 2016-02-22 Moving in Circles draws on Walter Rodney's treatise on underdevelopment Underdevelopment is to be associated with various factors contributing to the uncertainties that lack of progress begets regardless of its genesis Some of the indicators of this condition are pervasive poverty liquidation of productive assets and precarious livelihoods Uncertainty stands out as a cost as it is also a catalyst for low investment in agriculture low returns non agricultural activities inconsistent approach to planning and rule of law and more generally socio economic backwardness Development should in a broad sense entail meeting human needs actualization of local and domestic potential and liberation from uncertainty In the long term for development talk to be meaningful there is a need for progressive transformation of underlying structures improvement in productive capacity and general adherence to principles of good governance openness and transparency accountability and meaningful popular engagement The

What it Means to be a Herdsman Joachim Otto Habeck, 2005 In this book author Joachim Otto Habeck takes the reader to the tundra in the Far North of the Russian Federation describing and interpreting the practice of reindeer herding on the land His vivid account of the everyday life of Komi reindeer herders and their family members as they interact with their bosses the town the market and oil companies reveals both the reach of their agency and its limitations Through a meticulous analysis of each of these domains Habeck shows how public discourse about reindeer husbandry as a traditional life style derives from outside the Komi reindeer herding communities yet it has powerful effects on the local actors ability to frame their own existence He argues that the concept of tradition despite its many positive connotations places Komi reindeer herders in a golden cage which leaves no space for acknowledging their drive to innovation and flexibility

South Pacific Museums Chris Healy, Andrea Witcomb, 2006 South Pacific Museums Experiments in Culture is a collection of outstanding analyses of museums in the South Pacific written by cultural museum and architectural critics and historians A series of snapshots introduce the reader to key museums in the region and longer essays explore these museums in broad terms Over the last 50 years museums have been regarded by many scholars and cultural critics as archaic institutions far from the cutting edge of cultural innovation This judgement is being proved wrong across the globe with innovative museums staking out new territory Nowhere is this more striking than in the South Pacific where new and redeveloped institutions have included the Museum of New Zealand Te Papa Tongarewa the National Museum of Australia the Melbourne Museum the Australian Centre for the Moving Image the Museum of Sydney the Gab Titui Cultural Centre in the Torres Strait the Auckland Museum the Centre Culturel Tjibaou and the Vanuatu Cultural Centre South Pacific Museums make sense of these museums as part of the complex field of heritage where national economies meet global tourism cities brand themselves and indigeneity articulates with colonialism The effect is one of cultural experimentation Part One New Museums introduces three different museums in distinctive national contexts Te Papa the Centre Culturel Tjibaou and the National Museum of Australia Essays in this part grapple with the role of these museums in the nation at particular historical moments under specific political pressures Part Two New Knowledges documents practices and exhibitions at the point of tension between indigenous and non indigenous interests in the museum Part three New Experiences explores the ways in which museums in the South Pacific are producing that ineffable cultural phenomenon experience

Remembrance of Pacific Pasts Robert Borofsky, 2020-02-29 How does one describe the Pacific's pasts The easy confidence historians once had in writing about the region has disappeared in the turmoil surrounding today's politics of representation Earlier narratives that focused on what happened when are now accused of encouraging myths of progress Remembrance of Pacific Pasts takes a different course It acknowledges history's multiplicity and selectivity its inability to represent the past in its entirety as it really was and instead offers points of reference for thinking with and about the region's pasts It encourages readers to participate in the historical process by constructing alternative histories that draw on the volume's chapters The book's thirty-four contributions written by a range of authors spanning a variety of styles and disciplines are organized into four sections The first presents frames of reference for analyzing the problems poetics and politics involved in addressing the region's pasts today The second considers early Islander Western contact focusing on how each side sought to physically and symbolically control the other The third deals with the colonial dynamics of the region the tensions of empire that permeated imperial rule in the Pacific The fourth explores the region's postcolonial politics through a discussion of the varied ways independence and dependence overlap today Remembrance of Pacific Pasts includes many of the region's most distinguished authors such as Albert Wendt Greg Dening Epeli Hau'ofa Marshall Sahlins Patricia Grace and Nicholas Thomas In addition it features chapters by well-known writers from outside Pacific Studies Edward Said James Clifford Richard White and Gyan Prakash which help place the region's dynamics in comparative perspective By moving Pacific history beyond traditional empirical narratives to new ways for conversing about history by drawing on current debates surrounding the politics of representation to offer different ways for thinking about the region's pasts this work has relevance for students and scholars of history anthropology and cultural studies both within and beyond the region

Longitude and Empire Brian W.

Richardson,2010-10-01 Before Captain Cook's three voyages to Europe, the globe was uncertain and dangerous after it was comprehensible and ordered. Written as a conceptual field guide to the voyages, Longitude and Empire offers a significant rereading of both the expeditions and modern political philosophy. More than any other work, printed accounts of the voyages marked the shift from early modern to modern ways of looking at the world. The globe was no longer divided between Europeans and savages but populated instead by an almost overwhelming variety of national identities. Cook's voyages took the fragmented and obscure global descriptions available at the time and consolidated them into a single comprehensive textual vision. Locations became fixed on the map and the people, animals, plants, and artifacts associated with them were identified, collected, understood, and assimilated into a world order. This fascinating account offers a new understanding of Captain Cook's voyages and how they affected the European world view. Decolonisation and the Pacific

Tracey Banivanua Mar,2016-04-26 This book charts the previously untold story of decolonisation in the oceanic world of the Pacific. Australia and New Zealand, presenting it both as an indigenous and an international phenomenon. Tracey Banivanua Mar reveals how the inherent limits of decolonisation were laid bare by the historical peculiarities of colonialism in the region and demonstrates the way imperial powers conceived of decolonisation as a new form of imperialism. She shows how Indigenous peoples responded to these limits by developing rich intellectual, political, and cultural networks transcending colonial and national borders with localised traditions of protest and dialogue connected to the global ferment of the twentieth century. The individual stories told here shed new light on the forces that shaped twentieth-century global history and reconfigure the history of decolonisation, presenting it not as an historic event but as a fragile, contingent, and ongoing process continuing well into the postcolonial era. A Companion to Folklore Regina F. Bendix, Galit

Hasan-Rokem,2014-08-25 A Companion to Folklore contains an original and comprehensive set of essays from international experts in the field of folklore studies. This state-of-the-art collection uniquely displays the vitality of folklore research across the globe. The Companion covers four main areas: the first section engages with the practices and theoretical approaches developed to understand the phenomena of folklore; the second discusses the distinctive shapes that folklore studies have taken in different locations in time and space; the third examines the interaction of folklore with various media as well as folklore's commoditization. In the final section, on practice, essays offer insights into how folklorists work, what they do, and ways in which they have institutionalized their field. Throughout, contributors investigate the interplay of folklore and folkloristics in both academic and political arenas; they evaluate key issues in the folk life of communities from around the world, including China, post-communist Russia, post-colonial India, South America, Israel, and Japan. The result is a unique reflection and understanding of the profoundly different research histories and current perspectives on international research in the field.
