Nurse At The Cedars:

Nurse at The Cedars Peggy Gaddis, 1963 The Future of Nursing Institute of Medicine, Committee on the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Initiative on the Future of Nursing, at the Institute of Medicine, 2011-03-08 The Future of Nursing explores how nurses roles responsibilities and education should change significantly to meet the increased demand for care that will be created by health care reform and to advance improvements in America's increasingly complex health system. At more than 3 million in number, nurses make up the single largest segment of the health care work force. They also spend the greatest amount of time in delivering patient care as a profession. Nurses therefore have valuable insights and unique abilities to contribute as partners with other health care professionals in improving the quality and safety of care as envisioned in the Affordable Care Act. ACA enacted this year. Nurses should be fully engaged with other health professionals and assume leadership roles in redesigning care in the United States. To ensure its members are well prepared, the profession should institute residency training for nurses, increase the percentage of nurses who attain a bachelor's degree to 80 percent by 2020, and double the number who pursue doctorates. Furthermore, regulatory and institutional obstacles including limits on nurses' scope of practice should be removed so that the health system can reap the full benefit of nurses' training, skills, and knowledge in patient care. In this book, the Institute of Medicine makes recommendations for an action-oriented blueprint for the future of nursing.

Musings on a Lifetime Kathleen E. McCormick, 2018-10-17 I ONCE WENT TO A PALMIST TO HAVE MY PALMS READ. To my surprise, she said, "Your hands show two very different lives." She explained that one hand represented my life as it was supposed to be, and the other, as it would turn out. The palmist predicted that I would live a long life and would have a strong, positive character. As fate had it, one hand showed my life as it would have been if I had emigrated to America in 1901 and had grown up with my family on a Montana farm. The other hand showed great sacrifice and a stricter upbringing, like my childhood with my grandparents in turn-of-the-century Ireland. Separated from my family at two years old, I was grateful to be reunited with them over 50 years later. When we reach a certain age and have time to sit and dream, our thoughts slip back to times long ago, and events trivial at the time but of great importance in childhood, and so they remain as musings on a lifetime.
