APAIS 1994: Australian public affairs information service , Embodied Injustice Mary Crossley,2022-08-25 Black people and people with disabilities in the United States are distinctively disadvantaged in their encounters with the health care system. These groups also share harsh histories of medical experimentation, eugenic sterilizations, and health care discrimination. Yet the similarities in inequities experienced by Black people and disabled people, and the harms endured by people who are both Black and disabled, have been largely unexplored. To fill this gap, Embodied Injustice uses an interdisciplinary approach, weaving health research with social science, critical approaches, and personal stories to portray the devastating effects of health injustice in America. Author Mary Crossley takes stock of the sometimes vexed relationship between racial justice and disability rights advocates and interrogates how higher disability prevalence among Black Americans reflects unjust social structures. By suggesting reforms to advance health equity for disabled people, Black people, and disabled Black people, this book lays a crucial foundation for intersectional cross-movement advocacy to advance health justice in America.

Legal Injustice Kevin Montgomery, 2015-10-22. When a poor Missouri hill farmer's wife leaves him and his three children for another man, the oldest son takes on the responsibility of helping his already overworked father raise his younger siblings at age ten. Battling the shame of small-town rumors, gossip, and poverty, the oldest son earns his family the respect of their townsmen through athletic and military heroism. As he grows older, only to see it torn apart by a spoiled rich kid who inherits most of the town from his wealthy grandfather. Out of boredom and greed, this spoiled young man devises a plan to seduce the whole county into growing massive amounts of marijuana to supply the most corrupt men in this country's underworld. Money will buy almost anything in a small, economically depressed town. The hill farmer's son, now a Vietnam War hero, fights to save what is left of both his family and his corrupt hometown. This young man and his brothers battle the most powerful and influential man in Missouri who has the law, the newspaper, and the citizens of the town in his back pocket, resulting in a massive man hunt and all-out war for this Vietnam War hero who uses his Special Forces skills to escape and evade law enforcement while spending the winter in a cave. In the spring, he finds true love in both the arms of the reporter sent to cover his story and in God. In his almost hopeless battle against overwhelming odds, he destroys the local dope industry only to find he has to put his trust in three special women by turning himself in and letting them do his fighting in court to ultimately bring justice home and have a chance at a normal life with his newfound love.
