Application of Vegetation Science to Grassland Husbandry W. Krause, 2013-11-11 WERNER KRAUSE INTRODUCTION GENERAL COMMENTS ON THIS VOLUME The subject Application of vegetation science to grassland husbandry is not limited by geographical boundaries It is proposed to cover this subject in an internationally applicable work of reference However to avoid omissions it would have to embrace all the diversity of grassland from the Arctic to the Equator The term application requires that the papers contained herein take into account both generally relevant scientific knowledge and the special needs of practical farming The latter are not satisfied solely by the laws of vegetation science the changing effects of the market politics the distribution of wealth and poverty highly developed technology and the continued use of archaic farming methods must all be considered To try to cover all this adequately in one volume of approximately 550 pages is a hopeless task The editor and the authors had to limit themselves to presenting a selection of problems and attempts to solve them with the aim that these examples should indicate how much vegetation science can contribute to grassland husbandry and the scope of this contribution is broadened by the references quoted The arrangement of the sections within this volume does not lend itself to specific suggestions for the management of individual systems However grassland husbandry can expect to obtain from this work an insight into some overall general relationships which could assist the adviser in the formulation of more specific improvement plans
